METHODOLOGY OF CRIMINOLOGICAL RESEARCH

(Monograph, second edition)

Pravni fakultet u Univerziteta u Beogradu, Edicija Crimen, knjiga n° 6, Beograd, 2013. pp. 271

SUMMARY

Work on this monograph edition gave the author an opportunity to complete its contents with many issues that were not analyzed in the first one, published in 2009. The monograph is now comprised of two basic parts and seven supplements. While keeping the basic structure of the text, the first part is enriched with new categories that contribute to the understanding of the methodology of studying in criminological sciences. The following concepts are explained: structural analysis, microethnological research, methodological individualism, narrative and Q analysis, meta-analysis, crime mapping and GIS, examination of risk and fear of victimization, theoretical sampling, guiding principles of criminological research and influence of political factors, fraud and mistake in science - to mention only some things of the new content.

The second part is also innovated, as the wider use of the Internet has led to the networking of scientific results, but also to a malpractice. Examples of copyright violations and plagiarism in the field of criminology are added, a more detailed explanation of how to write and publish a scientific paper and it is also pointed to new sources of knowledge and their use. New Appendix IV contains the translation of U.S. research questionnaire for fear and risk of crime, and the Annex VI applies to the evaluation of the results of scientific research.

Although many things have been changed, the basic structure and the key points of the first edition of the monograph are kept. In this respect, the author wants to emphasize that he has not modified one of his basic methodological attitudes: that the criteria for the classification of criminological methods should stay dependant upon the way of how research subject is approached (individualistic, globalistic and medium size) instead of the nature of the operated facts. Obviously, the author is not among the “modernists”, who adopt the classification of the quantitative and qualitative methods as the basic one. After all, those who still advocate for the principle of dichotomy “Q or Q” often freely admit that the same research techniques (interviews, measurement, etc.) can be used in qualitative and quantitative researches.

Special attention is paid to enrichment of the presentation with examples in which researchers have demonstrated the lucidity by approaching the problem of research in an original way. The aim was to encourage the young scientists to turn to some new topics and to try to conduct such researches, despite all the obstacles (primarily the so called “gatekeepers”). The author would be satisfied if young people could learn from this book what and how to research, how to write and publish collected facts and in the same way to avoid the pitfalls of counterfeiting, which has increased in the Serbian social sciences in recent years, especially with the introduction of quantification of the work results.

PREFACE	9
PART I – METODOLOGY OF CRIMINOLOGICAL RESEARCH
1. INTRODUCTIONARY REMARKS	13
2. SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH OF CRIMINALITY	16
2.1. Basic characteristics	16
2.2. Types of data	18
2.3. Research as a process.....	21
2.4. Method and object of research.....	27
2.5. Method and theory	29
2.5.1. About theories and their pluralism in criminology	30
2.5.2. Importance of theories for criminological research	32
2.5.2.1. Defining the research topic	33
2.5.2.2. Choosing a research strategy	34
2.5.2.3. Importance in other parts of research	37
2.6. Guidelines for criminologists
2.6.1. Scientific guidelines
2.6.3. Researching ethically.....	39
3. DIVISION OF CRIMINOLOGICAL METHODS.....	42
3.1. Some divisions in criminological literature.....	42
3.2. Division according to the approach used when dealing with the subject ...	44
3.3. Historic and comparative strategies	45
3.4. Prediction strategies	47
3.4.1. General remarks	47
3.4.2. Prediction of criminality.....	51
3.5. Criminological evaluation.....	52
4. METHODS FOR COLLECTING AND ANALYSING MATERIAL	59
4.1. Individual case studies.....	59
4.1.1. Clinical method; the prognosis of criminal behavior	60
4.1.2. Anamnestic methods; participant observation.....	63
4.1.3. Unobtrusive methods; analysis of documents and contents; meta-analysis; crime mapping	66
4.2. „Medium size“ methods.....	68
4.2.1. Sample	69

4.2.2. Inquiry.....	71
4.2.3. Experiment.....	74
4.3. Application of statistics in criminology.....	78
4.3.1. Application of statistical methods.....	78
4.3.1.1. Method of correlation.....	79
4.3.2. Statistical evidence of criminality.....	83
4.3.2.1. Data containing statistical evidence.....	83
4.3.2.2. History and comparative survey.....	84
4.3.2.3. Division of statistical evidence.....	88
4.3.2.4. Criticism of the statistical evidence.....	90
4.3.2.5. Dark figure of crime.....	93
4.3.2.6. Methods used to discover dark figure.....	95
4.3.2.7. Figure of exaggeration.....	102
4.3.3. Evaluation of statistics application in criminology.....	104
5. TRIANGULATION OF METHODS.....	107
Bibliography.....	110

PART II – WRITING A RESEARCH PAPER

1. INTRODUCTIONARY REMARKS.....	119
2. SCIENTIST AND SCIENTIFIC PAPER – IDEAL TYPES.....	122
3. COOSE A SUBJECT.....	128
4. DOCUMENTAL WORK.....	133
4.1. Collecting the data.....	133
4.2. Data procession.....	138
5. DOCUMENTAL BASIS OF PAPER.....	143
5.1. Citations and plagiarism.....	143
5.2. Notes in text.....	147
5.3. Bibliography.....	150
6. SCIENTIFIC LITERAL STYLE.....	154
7. PREPARING PAPER FOR PRINT.....	160
8. CONCLUSION.....	168
BIBLIOGRAPHY.....	170
APPENDIX I – CRIMINOLOGICAL RESEARCH – ONE EXAMPLE.....	171
APPENDIX II – CODE OF ETHICS FOR SERBIAN CRIMINOLOGISTS....	203
APPENDIX III – CASE STUDY – UN EXAMPLE.....	207

APPENDIX IV – METHOD FOR FEAR OF CRIME RESEARCH

APPENDIX V – CRIMINOLOGICAL LITERATURE..... 215

APPENDIX VI – EVALUATION OF SCIENTIFIC WORK
