Vincent Van Gogh's self-portraits

- He created them all between 1886 and 1889. In a letter, Van Gogh explained his motivation for portraying himself.
- I purposely bought a mirror good enough to enable me to work from my image in default of a model, because if I can manage to paint the colouring of my own head, which is not to be done without some difficulty, I shall likewise be able to paint the heads of other good souls, men and women.
