Introduction

Who is this book for?

Oxford Practice Grammar is for students of English at a middle or 'intermediate' level. This means students who are no longer beginners but who are not yet expert in English. The book is suitable for those studying for the Cambridge First Certificate in English. It can be used by students attending classes or by someone working alone.

What does the book consist of?

The book consists of 153 units, each on a grammatical topic. The units cover the main areas of English grammar. Special attention is given to those points which are often a problem for learners: the meaning of the different verb forms, the use of the passive, conditionals, prepositions and so on.

Many units contrast two or more different structures such as the present perfect and past simple (Units 14-15). There are also a number of review units. The emphasis through the whole book is on the meaning and use of the forms in situations. Most units start with a dialogue, or sometimes a text, which shows how the forms are used in a realistic context.

There are also 25 tests. These come after each group of units and cover the area of grammar dealt with in those units.

Each unit consists of an explanation of the grammar point followed by a number of exercises. Almost all units cover two pages. The explanations are on the left-hand page, and the exercises are on the right-hand page. There are a few four-page units, with two pages of explanation and two pages of exercises.

The examples used to illustrate the explanations are mostly in everyday conversational English, except when the structure is more typical of a formal or written style (e.g. Unit 75B).

There are also appendices on a number of other topics, including word formation, American English and irregular verbs.

What's new about this edition?

There have been many changes in both the content and design of the book.

- The number of units has been increased from 120 to 153. There are more two-page units and fewer four-page units.
- The 25 tests are a new feature. There is also a Starting test to help students find out what they need to study.
- There are many more dialogues and illustrations on the explanation pages. Many of the examples and situations are new.
- There are many new exercises and more different types of exercise.

The number of appendices has been increased from two to six.

This new edition features a group of characters whose lives are the basis for many of the situations in both the explanations and the exercises. (But you can still do the units in any order.)

How should the book be used?

There are various ways of using the book. If you know that you have problems with particular points of grammar, then you can start with the relevant units. The contents list and index will help you find what you want. Or you can do the Starting test (see page viii) and then use the results to decide which parts of the book to concentrate on. Or you can start at the beginning of the book and work through to the end, although the grammar topics are not ordered according to their level of difficulty.

When you study a unit, start with the explanation page and then go on to the exercises. Often you can study a part of the explanation and then do one of the exercises. The letter after each exercise title, e.g. (A), tells you which part of the explanation the exercise relates to. If you have made mistakes in your answers to the exercises, look back at the explanation.

Key to symbols

What about the tests?

There are 25 tests at intervals through the book. You can do a test after you have worked through a group of units. At the beginning of each test you are told which units are being tested.

The tests do two things. Firstly, they enable you to find out how well you have mastered the grammar. (If you get things wrong, you can go back to the relevant unit or part of a unit.) Secondly, the tests give you practice in handling exam-type questions. Many of the test questions are similar to those used in the Cambridge First Certificate Use of English Paper.

What's the best way to learn grammar?

It is usually more effective to look at examples of English rather than to read statements about it. The explanations of grammar in this book are descriptions of how English works; they are a guide to help you understand, not 'rules' to be memorized. The important thing is the language itself. If you are learning about the present perfect continuous, for example, it is helpful to memorize a sentence like We've been waiting here for twenty minutes and to imagine a situation at a bus stop like the one in Unit 16A. The explanation - that the action happens over a period of time lasting up to the present - is designed to help towards an understanding of the grammar point. It is not intended that you should write it down or memorize it.

Active learning will help you more than passive reading, so it is important to do the exercises and to check your answers.

Another way of actively learning grammar is to write down sentences you see or hear which contain examples of the grammar you are studying. You may come across such sentences in English books or newspapers, on television or on the Internet. You may meet English speakers. For example, someone may ask you How long have you been living here? Later you could note down this sentence as a useful example of the present perfect continuous. It is also a good idea to collect examples with a personal relevance like I've been learning English for three years. The symbol / (oblique stroke) between two words means that either word is possible. I may/might go means that / may go and I might go are both possible. In exercise questions this symbol is also used to separate words or phrases which need to be used in the answer.

Brackets () around a word or phrase mean that it can be left out. There's (some) milk in the fridge means that there are two possible sentences: There's some milk in the fridge and There's milk in the fridge.

The symbol \sim means that there is a change of speaker. In the example How are you? \sim I'm fine, thanks, the two sentences are spoken by different people.

The symbol > means that you can go to another place in the book for more information. > 7 means that you can find out more in Unit 7.

The symbol \blacktriangleright in an exercise means an example.

Starting test

This test will help you to find out which parts of the book you need to spend most time on. You don't have to do the whole test at once - you could do numbers 2 to 22 first to test your knowledge of verbs. Choose the correct answer - a), b), c) or d).

Some of the questions are quite difficult, so don't worry if you get them wrong. This book was written to help you get them right in future!

4 The present simple

B Positive forms

I/you/we/they get he/she/it gets

In the present simple we use the verb without an ending.

I get the lunch ready at one o'clock, usually.We always do our shopping at Greenway.Most children like ice-cream.You know the answer.

But in the third person singular (after he, she, it, your friend, etc), the verb ends in s or es. For spelling rules see page 370.

It gets busy at weekends. My husband thinks so, too. Sarah catches the early train. She faxes messages all over the world.

C Negatives and questions

NEGATIVE

I/you/we/they do not get OR don't get he/she/it does not get OR doesn't get

QUESTION

do I/we/you/they get?
does he/she/it get?

We use a form of do in negatives and questions (but see Unit 37). We use do and don't except in the third person singular, where we use does and doesn't.

We don't live far away. He doesn't want to go shopping. Do you live here? ~ Yes, 1 do. What does he want? ~ Money.

We do not add s to the verb in negatives and questions. NOT He-doesn't gets and NOT Does he gets?

David: Oh, I was helping Mike. We were repairing his car. It took ages. We were working on it all afternoon.

Melanie: It was raining. 1 hope you weren't doing it outside.

David: No, we were in the garage. So I didn't get wet. But I'm afraid I got oil all over my new trousers. Melanie: Why were you wearing your new trousers to repair a car? David: / don't know. I forgot I had them on.

It was raining at three o'clock means that at three o'clock we were in the middle of a period of rain. The rain began before three and stopped some time after three. We were working all afternoon means that the action went on for the whole period. David is stressing the length of time that the work went on.

We use the continuous with actions. We do not normally use it with state verbs (see Unit 7). For states we use the past simple.

1 didn't know where you were, NOT I wasn't knowing ...

A Introduction

A reporter is interviewing Mike and Harriet.
Reporter: *Mike and Harriet, tell me what you saw.*Harriet: *Well, when we were driving home last night, we saw a strange object in the sky.*Mike: As we were coming down the hill into town, it just suddenly appeared in front of us. We stopped the car and got out.
Harriet: It was a very clear night. The stars were twinkling. Mike: It was a spaceship. It seemed quite big. It had some strange writing on the side. And a light was flashing on the top. Harriet: As we were watching it, it suddenly flew away and disappeared.
PAST CONTINUOUS PAST SIMPLE
We use the past continuous for an action that we we use the past commons for an action that we were in the middle of. We were driving home.(We were in the middle of our journey.) *A light was flashing.*We do not normally use the past continuous for states. See Unit 7.

NOT The spaceship was seeming ... NOT *It was having writ*ing ... NOT I wasn't knowing ... We use the past simple for a complete action in the past. We drove home. (We finished our journey.) The spaceship flew away. We also use the past simple (not normally the continuous) for states. See Unit 7. The spaceship seemed quite big. It had writing on the side. I didn't know what it was.

B It happened as I was driving

We often use the past continuous and simple together when one (shorter) action comes in the middle of another (longer) one.

As we were driving down the hill, a strange object appeared in the sky. While Laura was sitting in the garden, it suddenly began to rain. You drove right past me when I was waiting for the bus.

The appearance of the strange object comes in the middle of the longer action, the drive down the hill. Shorter action: An object appeared.

In the three sentences above, the past continuous comes after as, while or when

(As we were driving ...). We can also use when before the past simple. We were driving down the hill when a strange object appeared in the sky. David was making lunch when the phone rang.

But we use two past simple verbs for one action after another. When we saw the spaceship, we stopped the car. (= We saw it and then we stopped.)

C The sun was shining

PAST CONTINUOUS

PAST SIMPLE

We often use the past continuous to describe the background. The sun was shining. The stars were twinkling.

We use the past simple for actions in a story,

We arrived at the beach. The aliens landed quietly.

16 The present perfect continuous

BUS

A Introduction

We use the present perfect continuous for an action (waiting). The action happens over a period of time (for twenty minutes). Here the period lasts up to the present - they are still waiting now.

B Form

The present perfect continuous is the present tense of have + been + an ing-form.

I/you/we/they have been waiting OR I/you/we/they've been waiting he/she/it has been waiting OR he/she/it's been waiting

NEGATIVE

QUESTION

I/you/we/they haven't been waiting he/she/it hasn't been waiting have I/you/we/they been waiting?

has he/she/it been waiting?

We've been waiting here for twenty minutes. We're going to be late for the film

We've been standing here for ages. It has been raining all day. Have you been waiting long? Our team hasn't been doing very well lately.

C Use

We use the present perfect continuous for an action over a period of time leading up to the present (see A). In these examples the action is still going on.

We've been waiting here for twenty minutes. (We're waiting now.)

Listen. That burglar alarm has been ringing since eight o'clock this morning. We must use the perfect in these situations.

NOT-We wait here for twenty minutes OR We're waiting here for twenty minutes.

We can use the present perfect continuous to talk about repeated actions up to now. Natasha has been playing the piano since she was four. We can also use it to talk about an action which ends just before the present. I've been swimming. That's why my hair is wet.

D For, since, how long and recently

We can use the present perfect continuous with for and since (see Unit 121). My sister has been staying with me for three weeks now. You've been playing on that computer since seven o'clock. We use how long in questions.

How long have you been waiting?

Note also recently and lately. These both mean 'in the last few days or weeks'. I haven't been feeling very well recently. What have you been doing lately?

17 Present perfect continuous or simple?

A I have been doing or I have done?

Mike has been repairing the car.

We use the present perfect continuous for an action happening over a period of time (see Unit 16). We are thinking of Mike doing the repair and getting oil on his hands.

Here are some more examples.

OVER A PERIOD (have been doing)

We've been touring Scotland. A strong wind has been blowing all day. Vicky is out of breath. She's been running. I've been writing an essay. I'm tired now.

We normally use the continuous form when we say how long.

Rachel has been playing music all day. I've been ironing shirts since ten o'clock. How long have you been learning to drive?

Mike has repaired the car.

We use the present perfect simple for a complete action (see Unit 11). We are thinking of the finished repair and the result of the repair - that the car is all right now.

COMPLETE (have done)

We've finished our tour of Scotland. The wind has blown a tree over. Vicky is here at last. She's run all the way. I've written an essay. I can hand it in now

B States and actions

We cannot normally use the continuous form with a state verb (see Unit 7). I've known the secret for a long time, NOT I've been knowing the secret. My parents have had this car for about ten years. We've never been very happy here, I'm afraid.

Live and work (= have a job) can be continuous or simple, with no difference in meaning. We've been living here since 1992. OR We've lived here since 1992.

18 The past perfect

A Introduction

IN THE CANTEEN AT WORK, MARK IS TELLING A COLLEAGUE ABOUT THE DREADFUL DAY HE HAD YESTERDAY.

I felt really tired when I took the train to work yesterday because Sarah and 1 had been to a party the evening before. We hadn't gone to bed until after one. I hadn't been on the train long when I had a bit of a shock. I suddenly realized that I'd left my wallet at home. Then I began to wonder. Had I left it in the office the day before? I just couldn't remember. I wanted to go back to bed. I felt awful.

The situation is in the past (I took the train ... I felt tired ...). When we talk about things before this past time, we use the past perfect.

Sarah and I had been to a party the evening before.

I'd left my wallet at home.

We are looking back from the situation of the train journey to the earlier actions - going to a party and leaving home without the wallet.

Here are some more examples of the past perfect. It was twenty to six. Most of the shops had just closed.
I went to the box office at lunch-time, but they had already sold all the tickets. By 1960 most of Britain's old colonies had become independent.

As well as actions, we can use the past perfect to talk about states. I felt better by the summer, but the doctor warned me not to do too much. I'd been very ill. The news came as no surprise to me. I'd known for some time that the factory was likely to close.

B Form

The past perfect is had + a past participle. He had enjoyed the party, OR He'd enjoyed the party. They hadn't gone to bed until late. Where had he put his wallet? For irregular past participles see page 383.

C Present perfect and past perfect

Compare these examples.

PRESENT PERFECT (before now)

My wallet isn't here. I've left it behind. The match is over. United have won. That man looks familiar. I've seen him somewhere before. PAST PERFECT (before then)

My wallet wasn't there. I'd left it behind. The match was over. United had won. The man looked familiar. I'd seen him somewhere before.

19 Review of the past simple, continuous and perfect

A Introduction

Read this true story. It happened some years ago.

A young man walked into a supermarket in Southampton and put a few items of food in a basket. He had chosen a time when not many people were shopping in the store. He found a checkout where no one else was waiting. When the cashier had checked the goods, the man gave her a £10 note. When she opened the till, the man quickly snatched all the money from it and ran out of the store before she realized what was happening. At the time the security guard was standing at the other end of the store. When staff checked the records in the till, they found that the thief had taken only £4.37. As he had left the £10 note behind, the operation had cost him £5.63.

B Comparison of tenses

We use the past simple to talk about the past (see Unit 8). He snatched the money and ran away. The past simple is used for the actions in the story, to tell us what happened next.

We use the past continuous (see Unit 9) for something around a past time or a past action.

At the time of the incident, not many people were shopping in the store.

The few customers were in the middle of doing their shopping.

We use the past perfect (see Unit 18) for things before a past situation. Staff found that the thief had taken only £4.37. The theft of the money happened before they found out how much.

C Past simple and past continuous

We often use these two forms together when a shorter action comes in the middle of a longer one (see Unit 10B).

/ was waiting at the checkout when I noticed a strange-looking man. Seeing the man came in the middle of the wait.

D Past simple and past perfect

When we use these two forms together, we use the past perfect for what happened earlier. A man walked into a supermarket. He had chosen a quiet time. The choice of the time came before the arrival in the supermarket.

In this example, one past action followed another.

He filled the basket and went to the checkout. We can also use either when ... had done, or after ... did/had done.

When he had filled the basket, he went to the checkout. After he had filled (OR After he filled) the basket, he went to the checkout. But when one short action comes straight after another, we use the past simple for both.

When she opened the till, he snatched all the money out of it.

Note the different meanings.

When I switched the TV on, the programme started. I was just in time. When I switched the TV on, the programme had started. I missed the beginning. We can use the past perfect or the past simple with before or until. There is no difference in meaning.

The man arrived at the store before it had opened/before it opened.

The chairman didnt speak until he had heard/until he heard all the arguments.

22 Introduction to the future

A Present, past and future

Read this paragraph from Rachel's letter to her aunt and uncle.

This is my last year at college, so I'll be leaving in June. And I've already got a job! In September I'm starting work at a bank in London. So I'll be free for most of the summer. I'm going to spend six weeks travelling around the US. My friend Vicky is coming with me. (She finishes college at the same time as me.) We're really looking forward to the trip. We might go to Canada too. Vicky has friends in Toronto.

When we talk about the present or the past, we use verb forms to say what is happening now, what happened yesterday, and so on. Vicky has friends in Toronto. We know about things in the present and in the past because they are already real. But talking about the future is more of a problem. There is no single form in English that we can always use for the future. There are many different ways of talking about the future, depending on how we see a future event. It may be something that is fairly sure to happen, but on the other hand it may be just a plan or an intention, or it may be something that you think will happen but you can't be sure about.

B Verb forms used for the future

Here are some examples of verb forms used to express the future.

Be going to	>24	I'm going to spend six weeks in the US. (an intention)
Will	>23 A	I'll be free for most of the summer, (neutral future)
Present continuous	>26A	I'm starting work in September, (an arrangement)
Present simple	> 26B	She finishes college at the same time, (a timetable)
Will be doing	> 28	I'll be leaving in June , (in the course of events)

Very often there is more than one possible form that could be used. She'll finish college in June. She finishes college in June. She's finishing college in June. She'll be finishing college in June. Rachel could use any of these in her letter.

C Will

We often use will as a neutral way of expressing the future, but it is not 'the future tense'. It is only one of the forms we can use. In some situations will is not the right word.

After college I'm going to travel around the US. Here Rachel is saying what she intends to do in the future. We cannot use will here.

D Being sure and unsure

We cannot always be sure about the future. To show that we are unsure we can use might or could (see Unit 46).

We might go to Canada. It could snow soon.

To show how sure or unsure we are, we often use phrases like I'm sure, definitely, I expect, I (don't) think and probably.

I'm sure it'll be all right. We're definitely going to be at the meeting. I expect everyone will be going home. Rachel will probably be late. I think I'm going to sneeze. I don't think Tom's coming tonight.

1 Present, past and future (A-B)

Rachel has received a letter from a friend of hers who left college last year. Find the sentences which refer to the future and write them below.

I'm really enjoying my work at the store. I'm learning lots about the job. Soon they're moving me to another store - in Birmingham. They told me about it last week. I'll be leaving here at the end of the month. I feel a bit sad about that. Luckily they'll find a flat for me.

The time is going very quickly. I've been here three months. The training programme finishes next summer. 1 like the work, and I want to stay with the company. They'll decide about that next year. I'm just hoping for the best.

Soon they're moving me to another store — in Birmingham.

23 Will and shall

A Will for the future

We use will to say what we know or think about the future. Will here has a neutral meaning. It does not express the idea that we have already decided to do something or that we are planning something.

B Will for instant decisions

We also use will for an instant decision, when we decide on something or agree to do it more or less at the moment of speaking.

I'm thirsty. I think I'll make some tea. NOT l make some-tea.

You've left your computer on. ~ Oh, I'll go and switch it off. We must celebrate. I know, we'll have a party.

I don't think I'll do any work tonight. I'm too tired.

We also use it to order things. I'll have the ham salad, please.

We also use will in offers and invitations (see Unit 51). Offer: I'll peel the potatoes. ~ Oh, thank you. Invitation: Will you come to lunch? ~ Yes, thank you. I'd love to. Promise: I'll pay you back next week.

C The form of will

The form is will or '11.

The cost will not be more than £50. I won't have time for a meal.

D Shall

We can use shall for the future, but only in the first person, after I or we. / will be/I shall be on holiday in August. We will know/We shall know the results soon. But NOT Everyone shall know the results seen.

I will and I shall have the same meaning here, but shall is a little formal. Both I will and I shall can be shortened to I'll, which is pronounced /ail/.

I'll be on holiday in August. (= I will OR I shall)

Shall has other meanings. We can use it in offers and suggestions (see Unit 51).Offer:Shall I pack up your shopping for you? ~ Oh, thank you.Suggestion:Shall we all go out together? ~ Good idea.We do not use shall in American English (see page 377).

25 Will and be going to 28 Will be doing 29 A Will have done 144 Will in conditionals

24 Be going to

A Intentions

We use be going to to talk about something we have decided to do (an intention). David intends to climb up the ladder.

Here are some more examples.

I'm going to watch the next programme. Emma is going to do an experiment this afternoon. Rachel and Vicky are going to spend six weeks in the State:.

We can use I'm not going to for a refusal. I'm sorry, but I'm not going to walk half a mile in the ram. (= 1 don't want to/I'm not willing to walk.)

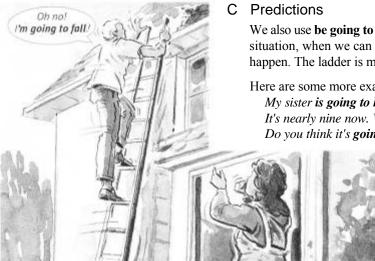

The present continuous can have a very similar meaning to be going to. We can often use either form (see Unit 26A). I'm going to visit my friend at the weekend.

I'm visiting my friend at the weekend. We do not use will here.

We can use be going to with the verb go (We're going to go out this evening), but the present continuous is more usual. We're going out this evening.

B Form

We use the present tense of be + going to + a verb. They're going to move house. Matthew is going to play squash. Vicky isn't going to have any lunch. We aren't going to complain. Is Daniel going to apply for the job? ~ / think he is. When are you going to pay this bill? ~ I don't know. I can't at the moment.

We also use be going to for a prediction based on the present situation, when we can see that something is going to happen. The ladder is moving, so David is going to fall.

Here are some more examples.

My sister is going to have a baby in March. It's nearly nine now. We're going to be late. Do you think it's going to rain?

	next Friday.
Aunt Joan:	Oh, really? Are you going to have a party?
Emma:	I'm going to have a meal in a restaurant with a few friends.
Aunt Joan:	That'll be nice.

WILL

Will has a neutral meaning. We use it to talk about facts in the future. I'll be twenty next Friday. The spacecraft will come down in the Pacific Ocean tomorrow morning.

BE GOING TO

We use be going to for an intention, something we have already decided to do. We're going to have a meal. Tom is going to sell his car.

Will does not express an intention.

It's her birthday. She's going to have a meal with her friends, NOT She'll have a meal. But we often use be going to for an intention and will for the details and comments. We're all going to have a meal. There'll be about ten of us. ~ Oh, that'll be nice.

As well as be going to, we can use the present continuous (see Unit 26A).

We're going to drive/We're driving down to the South of France. ~ That'll be a long journey. Yes, it'll take two days. We'll arrive on Sunday.

B Decisions and intentions

WILL

I think United will win the game. One day people will travel to Mars.

BE GOING TO

We use be going to for a prediction when we see from the present situation what is going to happen in the future. There isn't a cloud in the sky. It's going to be a lovely day. This bag isn't very strong. It's going to break.

It is often possible to use either form in a prediction. For example, we can also say I think United are going to win the game. Usually be going to is a little more informal and conversational than will.

26 Present tenses for the future

A The present continuous for arrangements

Tom:Are you doing anything this evening?Nick:Yes, I'm going to an ice hockey match.
The Tigers are playing the Kings.
I bought my ticket yesterday.

We use the present continuous for what someone has arranged to do in the future. Here Nick has arranged to go to the match. (He has bought a ticket.) Here are some more examples.

I'm meeting Harriet at six o'clock. David is coming round later on. We're having a party tomorrow. Sarah is going to Paris next week.

We also use the present continuous to talk about things happening now (see Unit 4).

Present: We're having a party at the moment.

Future: We're having a party tomorrow.

Here the phrase of time shows whether we mean the present or the future. But sometimes there is no phrase of time, as when Nick says The Tigers are playing the Kings. Here it is clear from Tom's question that the conversation is about a future event.

The present continuous for the future and be going to (Unit 24A) have similar meanings.

We're having a party next week. (We have made the arrangements.) We're going to have a party next week. (We intend / We have decided to have one.)

Often we can use either form.

I'm meeting/I'm going to meet Harriet at six o'clock.

B The present simple for a timetable

Mark: What time does your train leave tomorrow?

Sarah: Seven twenty-three in the morning.

It gets into Paris at eleven twenty-three.

We can use the present simple for the future when we are talking about a timetable, usually a public one such as a train timetable.

The train leaves at seven twenty-three tomorrow morning.

The match starts at half past seven.

Next Friday is the thirteenth.

I've got the tour details here. We spend three days in Rome. Compare the present simple for repeated actions (see Unit 6A). The train leaves at seven twenty-three every morning.

Be to and be about to

We use be to for a future event that is officially arranged. It is often used in news reports.
The Queen is to visit Portugal in November.
The Student Games are to take place in Melbourne next year.
We could also use the present continuous here.
The Queen is visiting Portugal in November.

We use be about to for the very near future.

The plane is at the end of the runway. It is about to take off. Do you want to say goodbye to our visitors? They're about to leave.

27 When I get there, before you leave, etc

A Introduction

Mark: Did I tell you I've got a meeting in Glasgow at nine o'clock tomorrow morning? I'm driving up there overnight. Sarah: You're going to drive all through the night?

> You're crazy. You'll be exhausted before you arrive. Why don't you take a train? Mark: I'll be OK. I'll need the car while I'm there. I have to visit some companies in the area. I can sleep when I get home.

Study these examples.

You'll be exhausted before you arrive, NOT before you'll arrive I'll need the car while I'm there, NOT while I'll be there I can sleep when I get home, NOT when I'll get home

Each of the sentences has a linking word of time, e.g. before, while or when. The sentences are about the future, about Mark's trip to Glasgow. But after the linking words we use the present simple (arrive, am, get), not will

We can start the sentence with a linking word. When I get home, I can sleep.

B Linking words

We use the present simple for the future after these linking words of time:

after, as, as soon as, before, by the time, until, when, while. I'm starting a job in sales after I finish college. As soon as you hear any news, will you let me know? I must get to the bank before it closes.

They'll have stopped serving meals by the time we get to the restaurant. We also use the present simple for the future after if (see Unit 144). If you come in late tonight, please don't make a noise.

C Present perfect

After a linking word of time, we can often use the present perfect for the future. I'm starting a job in sales after I've finished college. As soon as you've heard any news, will you let me know?

Compare after I finish college (see B). The meaning is the same.

But sometimes there is a difference in meaning between the present simple and the present perfect. When I see the report, I'll make some notes. (I'll do both at the same time.) When I've seen the report, I'll make some notes. (I'll see it and then make notes.)

D Present continuous

We can also use the present continuous for the future, especially after when and while. When I'm boating along the canal next week, I might be able to relax. Mark is going to listen to music while he's driving to Scotland.

28 Will be doing

A Introduction

Rachel: Would you like to come to our party tomorrow, Andrew? Andrew: Er, thanks for the invitation, but I've got lots of work at the moment. I'll be working all day tomorrow. Rachel: You won't be working on Saturday evening, surely. Come on, Andrew, take a break. We'll be starting at about ten o'clock.

We can use will be + an ing-form (the future continuous) to talk about future actions. There are two different uses.

B Will be doing for continuous actions

We use the future continuous for an action over a period of time. It means that at some time in the future we will be in the middle of an action.

Andrew can t go to the party. He'll be working all day tomorrow. I'll be out at three o'clock. I'll be playing golf. When the men leave the building, the police will be waiting for them. What will we be doing in ten years' time, I wonder?

Compare the past continuous (Unit 9), present continuous (Unit 4) and future continuous.Past:This time last week we were sitting on the beach.Present:At the moment we're sitting on the beach.Future:This time next week we'll be sitting on the beach.

Compare will do and will be doing in these sentences. The band will play when the President enters. (The President will enter and then the band will play.) The band will be playing when the President enters. (The band will start playing before the President enters.)

C Will be doing for single actions

We also use will be + an ing-form for an action which will happen in the course of events because it is part of a plan or part of a schedule of future events.

The party will be starting at ten o'clock, (part of the evening's events)

The ship will be sailing soon, (part of our journey)

More than one form is often possible. Will (Unit 23) or the present continuous (Unit 26A) often have a very similar meaning.

The visitors will be arriving/will arrive/are arriving later.

We often use the future continuous for something that will happen as part of a routine. I'll call in and see you tomorrow afternoon. I'll be passing your house. It's on my way home from work. Trevor and Laura will be cleaning the house tomorrow. They always do it on Sunday.

We can also use will be + an ing-form to ask about someone's plans.

Will you be going anywhere near a chemist's this morning? ~ Yes, why? ~ Could you get me some aspirin, please? ~ Yes, of course. How long will you be using this computer? ~ You can have it in a minute.

Here are some more examples.

/ like looking at these pictures, but I'll have had enough by lunch-time. Trevor and Laura will have lived here for four years next April.

This chess game is going to last ages. They won't have finished it until midnight.

Will you have read this book by the time it's due back to the library? ~ Yes. I'll have finished it by then. We often use the future perfect with expressions of time such as by lunch-time, until midnight, before then, by the time you have to take it back.

We can use be going to in the past tense to express an intention in the past. Trevor intended to put the shelves up yesterday. Often the intended action did not happen. In fact Trevor did not put the shelves up.

Here are some more examples.

/ was going to tidy the flat, but I didn't have time. Daniel wasn't going to spend any money, but he saw a jacket he just had to buy. The girls left early. They were going to catch the eight o'clock train. So you went to the airport without a ticket. Where were you going to fly to? The woman walked away just as I was going to speak to her. (just as = at the moment when)

We can also use was going to for a prediction in the past.

Would has a similar meaning (see Unit 134C).

/ knew something would go wrong with the plan.

31 The verb have

A Have and have got

Look at these examples.

HAVE

We have three cats. Emma has toothache. Daniel doesn't have a car. Do you have the address? ~ Yes, I do. HAVE GOT

We've got three cats. Vicky has got blue eyes. I haven't got any money. Have you got a ticket? ~ No, I haven't.

Here have and have got mean the same thing. We can normally use either form. But have got is more informal. Note that we do not use have got in short answers (No, / haven't.).

B Forms

	PRESENT TENSE
	have	have got
	I/you/we/they have	I/you/we/they have got OR I/you/we/they've got

We do not often use had got in the past tense.Tom had several jobs to do. We didn't have time to stop. Why did you have that funny hat on?

C The action verb have

Here are some examples of have as an action verb.
Mark has lunch around one. I have a shower every morning.
The children had a game of cards. We had a wonderful holiday.
Have expresses an action. Mark has lunch means that he eats lunch.

With the action verb have we cannot use got and we cannot use a short form. NOT Mark-has--got lunch-around-one and NOT I've a shower every morning.

The action verb have can also be continuous. Mark is having lunch now. We were having a conversation in English. What time are you having your driving lesson?

In negatives and questions in simple tenses, we use a form of do. We didn't have a very good time. We don't have parties very often. Where do you have lunch? How often does Vicky have strange dreams?

In English we often use expressions like have a talk instead of a verb like talk. Here are some examples, Shall we have a swim? 1 usually have a rest in the afternoon. I had a talk with Daniel. Trevor and Laura are having an argument.

32 Short forms, e.g. it's, don't

A The use of short forms

A short form like it's or don't stands for the full form it is or do not. We leave out one or more letters and we write an apostrophe (') instead. We use short forms in conversational English and in informal writing such as a letter to a friend. Short forms are sometimes called 'contracted forms'.

We cannot use a short form when the word is stressed, in a short answer for example.

Have you looked in this drawer? ~ Yes, I have, NOT Yes, I've But we can use n't in a short answer: No, I haven't.

B The most common short forms

Some verbs can have short forms when they come after I, you, etc.

VERB	SHORT FORMS
am	I'm are	you're, we're, they're is/has	he's, she's, it's have	I've, you've, we've, they've had/would	I'd, you'd, he'd, she'd, it'd, we'd, they'd will	I'll, you'll, he'll, she'll, it'll, we'll, they'll shall	I'll, we'll

A short form can also come after a noun. Vicky's lost her bank card. (Vicky has ...) The card'll be in here. (The card will...)

There are also some short forms with question words and with here, there or that.

who's, what's, where's, when's, how's, who'd, who'll, what'll here's, there's, that's, there'll, that'll, there'd, that'd

There is a negative short form n't which can come after some verbs.

aren't, isn't, wasn't, weren't, haven't, hasn't, hadn't, don't /daunt/, doesn't, didn't, won't (- will not), shan't (= shall not), can't, couldn't, mustn't, needn't, mightn't, shouldn't, wouldn't, daren't

Sometimes we can shorten either not or the verb. It is not funny. - * It isn't funny. OR It's not funny. You will not believe it. -> You won't believe it. OR You'll not believe it. But we cannot use n't after I. I am not sure. -> I'm not sure, NOT Lamn't sure.

C 's and 'd

's can be is or has, and 'd can be had or would.

She's short, and she's got fair hair. (She is short... she has got...) If I'd known, I'd have told you. (If I had known, 1 would have ...)

1 Short forms (B)

33 Emphatic do

B Emphatic forms

Often we can be emphatic by using a full form like is or have, rather than a short form such as's or 've (see Unit 32). We stress the word when we speak it.

Yes, it is late. It's half past one in the morning. My goodness you have done a lot of work. Well done. We can also stress modal verbs such as will and should.

You will write to me, won't you? You really should drive more carefully. We almost had an accident.

In the present simple we put do before the verb.

You're so right. I do agree with you. Your hair is much too long. You do need a haircut.

We do hope you can come to our barbecue. I'm getting fed up with those dogs. They do make such a » In the third person singular we use does.

The city centre does get crowded, doesn't it?

Emma says Matthew doesn't care about her, but he says he does care.

We do not add s to the verb.

It does look nice, NOT it does looks nice. In the past simple we use did.

We did enjoy the concert. It was really good. You shouldn't have forgotten. I did remind you. Vicky is quite sure that she did see a ghost.

We do not add ed to the verb.

We did enjoy it. NOT We did enjoyed it.

C The imperative with do

We can use do with an imperative for emphasis.

Do hurry up, or we'll be late. Oh, do be quiet. I'm trying to concentrate.

Here do makes the speaker sound more worried or annoyed. We use this structure only in an informal situation.

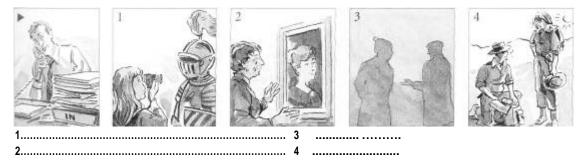

But we can also use do with an imperative in offers and invitations (see page 122).

Do have some more soup. Do take a seat, wont you? Here do sounds very polite.

► Yes, I will be late home.

1 Emphatic do (A-B)

Put in the emphatic forms of these sentences: / like my new portrait. I'm smiling. It's foggy today. Yes, I'll be late home. Yes, I remembered the water.

34 Yes/no questions

A Use

A yes/no question is one that we can answer with yes or no. Are you ready? ~ Yes, nearly/No, not quite. Has anyone seen my bag? ~ Yes, it's on the chair./No, I don't think so.

These questions are asking for information. For example, Daniel wants to know if Vicky is ready or not.

Sometimes yes/no questions have other uses, especially questions with modal verbs. For example, when Matthew says Shall we go then? he is making a suggestion, not asking for information. Here are some examples of the different uses.

	Making a suggestion: Shall we eat out
Requesting:	tonight?
	Can/Could you write the address
Offering:	down for me, please?
	Can I carry something for you? ~ No,
Inviting:	it's OK, thanks.
	Would you like to come to a party?-
Asking permission:	Yes, I'd love to.
	May I use your phone? ~ Yes, of COURSE

B Form

A yes/no question begins with an auxiliary verb. An auxiliary verb is a form of be or have or a modal verb e.g. can. The auxiliary verb comes before the subject.

AUXILIARY	SUBJECT
Is	it	raining?	STATEMENT: It is raining.
Has	David	got a car?
Can	Emma	drive?	QUESTION: Is it raining?

The main verb be also comes before the subject in a question.

Is it cold out there? Are you ready? Was it easy? If there is more than one auxiliary verb, only the first one comes before the subject.

Have you been working? Could we have done better?

In the present simple and past simple we use a form of do.

AUXILIARY	Y SUBJECT
Do Does	the buses Mark	run every day? play golf?	STATEMENT:	They (do) run every day.
Did	you	like the concert?	QUESTION:	Do they run every day?

A question cannot begin with an ordinary verb such as run, play or like. NOT Plays Mark golf? and NOT Liked your the concert?

The verb after the subject does not end in s or ed.

Not $D = M + L = -\frac{1}{2} \frac{1}{2} \frac{1$

NOT Does Mark plays golf? and NOT Did you liked the concert?

35 Short answers, e.g. Yes, it is.

A Answering yes or no

Look at the answers to these questions.

Is it raining? ~ Yes. Are we going to be late? ~ Yes, we are. Did you say something? ~ No. Did you finish the crossword? ~ No, I didn't. We can sometimes answer a question with a simple yes or no, but we often use a short answer like No, I didn't. We usually put a comma after yes or no.

We do not normally use a full sentence, but we can do if we want to add emphasis to the answer. Did you open my letter? ~ No, I didn't open your letter.

Sometimes, to be polite, we may need to add information.

Did you get the tickets? ~ No, I didn't. There wasn't time, I'm afraid. Sorry.

B Form

A positive short answer is yes + a pronoun + an auxiliary.

QUESTION Auxiliary		SHORT	ANSWER Pronoun	Auxiliary

Note that in the present simple and past simple we use a form of do. Do you like classical music? ~ Yes, I do. NOT VES ILIKE.

C Answering requests, suggestions, offers and invitations

To answer a request, suggestion, etc, we normally use a phrase like Yes, of course or Yes, please rather than a short answer. If we answer in the negative, we have to give some explanation.

Suggestion:	Shall we have a coffee? ~ Yes, OK. OR Sorry, I can't. I have to go.
Offer:	Can I give you a hand? ~ Yes, please. That's very kind of you. OR It's OK, thanks. I can manage
Invitation:	Would you like to come to the barbecue? ~ Yes, please. I'd love to. OR I'd love to, but I'll be away

40 Negative statements

Christopher Columbus

Christopher Columbus was a famous explorer. At one time people believed that he had 'discovered' America. We know now this isn't true. Columbus was not the first European to travel to the New World. We don't know who was, but the Vikings had sailed there around the year 1000, and probably others before them. In 1492 Columbus sailed to San Salvador in the Bahamas and to other islands, but he never reached the mainland of North America. He actually thought he was in Asia. He certainly didn't discover America.

We often use a negative statement to correct a mistaken idea, such as the idea that Christopher Columbus discovered America.

B Negative verb forms

	POSITIVE	NEGATIVE
be:	are dancing	are not dancing	OR	aren't have:	have seen	have not seen	OR	haven't seen
Moda verb:	must stay	must not stay	OR	mustn't stay

In a negative statement not or n't comes after the auxiliary verb.

The auxiliary verb is a form of be, have or a modal verb, e.g. must, can, could. The girls are not dancing. The modem isn't working properly. I haven't seen the new Disney film. David hasn't got a car. I mustn't stay long. You can't turn right here. I'm not feeling very awake today. We write n't without a space before it, e.g. isn't, haven't.

Not or n't also comes after the main verb be.

The photos are not ready yet It isn't very warm in here. If there is more than one auxiliary verb, we put not or n't after the first one. This plate hasn't been washed. You shouldn't have bothered.

In the present simple and past simple, we use a form of do.

	POSITIVE	NEGATIVE
Present simple:	work	do not work	OR don't work looks	does not look	OR doesn't look
Past simple:	enjoyed	did not enjoy	OR didn't enjoy

1 don't work on Saturdays, NOT I work not on Saturdays.
 This part of town doesn't look very nice. I'm afraid we didn't enjoy the day very much.

The verb after not or n't does not end in s or ed. NOT It doesn't looks very nice and NOT We dtdn't enjoyed-the-day.

C No and not

We can use no before a noun or an adjective + noun. The verb is positive.

No music is allowed after eleven, OR Music is not allowed after eleven.

There are no new houses in the village, OR There aren't any new houses in the village. We do not use no with a verb.

David hasn't got a car, has he? I shouldn't laugh, should I? You aren't ill, are you? The answer wasn't right, was it?

The pronoun (you, he, etc) refers to the subject of the sentence, e.g. you, David. In the present simple and past simple we use a form of do.

You live near here, don't you?	We don't have to pay, do we?
This coat looks nice, doesn't it?	The shower doesn't work, does it?
I turned right, didn't I?	Your horse didn't win, did it?

The answer yes means that the positive is true, and no means that the negative is true. Mark works for Zedco, doesn't he? ~ Yes, he does. (He works for Zedco.) Melanie doesn't eat meat, does she? ~ Fes, / think she does. (She eats meat.) Claire is married, isn't she? ~ No, of course she isn't. (She isn't married.) Andrew hasn't got many friends, has he? ~ No. (He hasn't got many friends.)

C Requests and suggestions

After a request with an imperative (e.g. Wait ...), we can use can you? or could you? Wait here a moment, can you? Give me an example, could you? We can also use You couldn't..., could you? or You haven't..., have you? for a request.

You couldn't help me, could you? You haven't got a pound, have you? After Don't... the tag is will you?: Don't make any noise, will you? After Let's ... we use shall we?: Let's sit in the garden, shall we?

4 Requests and suggestions (C)

What would you say in these situations? Write sentences with a question tag. Use the word in brackets. You want to look at a newspaper. Daniel might have one, so ask him. (haven't) You haven't got a newspaper, have you?

- 1 Suggest to Vicky that you both listen to some music. (Let's)
- 2 Warn David not to do anything silly. (Don't)
- 3 You need a train timetable. Emma might have one, so ask her. (haven't)
- 4 Ask Rachel to pass you the salt. (Pass)

43 So/Neither do I and I think so

A So and neither

Vicky: I'm hungry.

Rachel: So am 1.1 haven't eaten anything all day.

Daniel: Neither have I.1 didn't have time for breakfast.

We use so after a positive statement and neither after a negative one. I'm hungry. ~ So am I. (= And I'm hungry./I'm hungry, too.) / haven't eaten. ~ Neither have I. (= And I haven't eaten./I haven't eaten either.)

The structure is so/neither + an auxiliary + the subject.

The auxiliary is a form of be or have or a modal verb, e.g. can. We're really busy at work. ~ So are we. Tom has gone to the match. ~ And so has Nick.

David can't drive, and neither can Melanie. The subject comes at the end. NOT We're busy. ~ So we are. In the present simple and past simple we use a form of do.

/ love old cowboy films. ~ So do I. This phone doesn't work. ~ Neither does this one. United won, and so did Rangers.

We can use nor instead of neither. Emma isn't here tonight. Neither/Nor is Matthew.

B I think so, etc

Vicky:	It's 'Round the Corner' at half past seven, my favourite soap opera. Are we going to be back in time?
Daniel:	I think so. We haven't got far to go now.
Rachel:	We might miss the beginning.
Vicky:	Oh, I hope not. I want to know if Bernard really did stea
	the money.

Here I think so means I think we'll be back in time', and I hope not means T hope we don't miss the beginning'.

We can use so after be afraid, believe, expect, guess, hope, suppose and think.

Do you think you'll get the job? ~ Well, I hope so. Are you going on holiday this year? ~ Yes, I expect so. I don't know for sure if Henry is rich, but I should think so. But we cannot use so after Impay or he sure know or be sure.

There's been an accident. ~ Yes, I know, NOT / know-so. Are you sure you're doing the right thing? ~ Yes, I'm sure, NOT I-m-sure so.

There are two negative structures.

NEGATIVE + SO

Is it raining? ~ I don't think so. Are you going to the concert? ~ I don't expect so. With expect and think, we normally use the negative and so. POSITIVE + not

Is it raining? ~ I hope not. Have we won a prize? ~ I'm afraid not. With be afraid, guess and hope, we use the positive and not.

We can use believe and suppose in either structure. Will there be any seats left? ~ I don't suppose so. OR I suppose not.

So and neither (A)

Andrew has just met Jessica at a party. They are finding out that they have a lot in common. Put in the structures with so and neither.

Andrew: I haven't been to a party for ages.

- ? Jessica: Neither have 1.1 hate crowded rooms.
- ? Andrew: Yes, so do I. I'm not a party-goer, really.
- 1 Jessica: No,..... I can't make conversation.
- 3 Jessica: And.....I lead a pretty quiet life.
- 4 Andrew: Well,I haven't got many friends.
- 5 Jessica: And I would really like a good friend.
- 6 Andrew: Oh,

2 So and neither (A)

Look at the table and complete the sentences.

	Mark	Claire	Melanie	Emma
Music	1	х	х	1
Travel	1	1	Х	Х
Skiing	Х	/	1	х
Cooking	Х	Х	1	1

? Claire can ski, and so can Melanie.

? Mark isn't keen on cooking, and neither is Claire.

1 Melanie doesn't like travelling much, and

- 2 Mark has got lots of CDs, and
- 3 Emma can't ski, and
- 4 Claire isn't a music lover, and
- 5 Melanie cooks quite often, and
- 6 Mark travels quite a lot, and

3 I think so, etc (B)

Complete these short conversations. Put in structures with so or not and use the words in brackets.

?	Laura:	Does the library open on Saturdays? (think)
	Trevor:	Yes, / think so. But I'm not absolutely certain.
?	Harriet:	You can't go out for an evening meal wearing shorts, (guess)
	Mike:	! guess not. I'd better put some trousers on.

44 Ability: can, could and be able to

A Can and can't

Vicky: How many instruments can you play, Natasha?
Natasha: Three - the violin, the clarinet and the piano.
Vicky: That's terrific. You haven't got a piano here, though.
Natasha: No, but I can go to the music room in college and play the one in there.
Vicky: I'm not musical at all. I can't even sing.

We use can to say that something is possible: that someone has an ability (Natasha can play the piano) or an opportunity (She can go to the music room). Can is usually pronounced but sometimes we say . The negative is cannot or can't.

B Can and be able to

In the present tense, be able to is a little more formal and less usual than can.

Emma is good with computers. She can write/is able to write programs. But in some structures we always use be able to, not can. To-infinitive: It's nice to be able to go to the opera, (NOT to-can-go)

 After a modal verb:
 Melanie might be able to help us.

 Present perfect:
 It's been quiet today. I've been able to get some work done.

For the future we use can or will be able to but NOT will-can. If we earn some money, we can go/we'll be able to go on holiday next summer. I'm afraid I can't come/I won't be able to come to the disco on Friday. But to suggest a possible future action, we normally use can. Let's have lunch together. We can go to that new restaurant

Let's have lunch together. We can go to that new restaurant.

C Could and was/were able to

For ability or opportunity in the past, we use could or was/were able to. Natasha could play (OR was able to play) the piano when she was four. In those days we had a car, so we could travel (OR were able to travel) very easily.

To say that the ability or opportunity resulted in a particular action, something that really happened, we use was/were able to but not could.

The plane was able to take off at eleven o'clock, after the fog had lifted. Luckily Mark was able to get (OR succeeded in getting) the work done in time. The drivers were able to stop (OR managed to stop) before they crashed into each other.

Compare these two sentences.

The children could swim when they were quite young, (a past ability)

The children were able to swim across the river. (a past action)

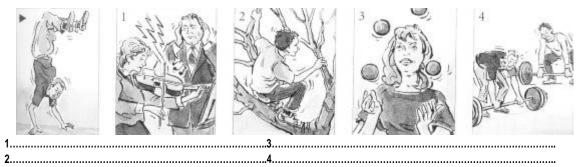

In negative sentences and questions, we can use either form. It was foggy, so the plane couldn't/wasn't able to take off. The pool was closed, so they couldn't/weren't able to have a swim. Could you/Were you able to describe the man to the police?

We normally use could (not was/were able to) with verbs of seeing etc, and with verbs of thinking. We could see the village in the distance. As soon as Harriet opened the door, she could smell gas. I couldn't understand what was happening.

► He can walk on his hands.

1 Can and can't (A)

Look at the pictures and say what they can or can't do. Use these words: climb trees, juggle, lift the weights, play the violin, walk on his hands

2 Can and be able to (B)

Harriet is visiting David, who hurt himself when he fell off a ladder. Complete the conversation using can or a form of be able to. Sometimes there is more than one possible answer.

Harriet: Hello, David. I'm sorry I haven't (►) been able to come (come) and see you before. I've been really busy lately. How are you?

3 Could and was/were able to (C)

- ▶ Which is closer to the meaning of the sentence 'Years ago I could run a marathon'?
 - a) I ran a marathon at one particular time in the past.
 - b) I was once fit enough to run a very long way.
- 1 Which of these sentences is correct?
 - I was ill, so I couldn't go to the party.
 - I was ill, so I wasn't able to go to the party.
 - a) Only the first one. b) Only the second one. c) Both of them.
- 2 Which is closer to the meaning of the sentence 'Sarah was able to leave work early yesterday'?a) Sarah left work early yesterday.
 - b) Sarah had the opportunity to leave work early yesterday, but we don't know if she took it.

4 Could and was/were able to (C)

Put in could or was/were able to. Sometimes either is possible. Use a negative if necessary.

- ▶ Suddenly all the lights went out. We couldn't see a thing.
- 1 The computer went wrong, but luckily Emma..... put it right again.
- 2 There was a big party last night. You..... hear the music half a mile away.
- 3 I learnt to read music as a child. I read it when I was five.
- 4 People heard warnings about the flood, and they..... move out in time.
- 5 The train was full. I find a seat anywhere.

45 Permission: can, may, could and be allowed to

A Asking permission

We use can, could or may to ask for permission. Can I use your pen? Could we borrow your ladder, please? ~ Well, I'm using it at the moment. May I see the letter? ~ Certainly. Could often sounds more polite than can. May is rather formal.

B Giving and refusing permission

To give permission we use can or may (but not could). You can wait in my office if you like. Could I borrow your calculator? ~ Of course you can. You may telephone from here, (a written notice) May is formal and is not often used in speech.

To refuse permission we use can't or may not (but not couldn't). Could we picnic here? ~ I'm sorry. I'm afraid you can't. Members may not bring more than two guests into the club. We can also use must not.

Luggage must not be left unattended.

C Talking about permission

We sometimes talk about rules made by someone else. To do this we use can, could and be allowed to.

We use can to talk about the present, and we use could for the past. Present: Each passenger can take one bag onto the plane. Past: In the 1920s you could drive without taking a test. We can also use be allowed to. Present: Passengers are allowed to take one bag onto the plane. Future: Will I be allowed to record the interview on tape? Past: We weren't allowed to look round the factory yesterday.

For a general permission in the past we use either could or was/were allowed to.

/ could always stay/1 was always allowed to stay up late as a child.

But to say that the permission resulted in a particular action, something that really happened, we use was/were allowed to (but not could).

I was allowed to leave work early yesterday.

We were allowed to go into the control room when we looked around the power station.

Compare these questions with may and be allowed to.

ASKING FOR PERMISSION

ASKING ABOUT PERMISSION

Are we allowed to take photos? (= What is the rule?)

May I take a photo of you? (= Will you allow it?)

1 Asking permission (A)

How would you ask for permission in these situations? Use Can I...?, Could I...? or May I...? and these verbs: borrow, join, look at, use ► You are at a friend's flat. You want to make a phone call. Can I use your phone?

- 1 You need a calculator. The person sitting next to you has got one.
- 2 You have gone into a cafe. Three people who you know from work are sitting at a table. You go over to the table.
- 3 You had to go to a lecture, but you were ill. Your friend went to the lecture and took notes. Next day you are well again and you see your friend.

2 Giving and refusing permission (B)

A policeman is telling you what the signs mean. What does he say? Use can and can't and these verbs: drop, go, have, park, play, smoke, turn

3 Be allowed to (C)

Put in the correct forms.

Rita: I hear you've moved into a new flat with a couple of friends.

Emma: Yes, it's a nice flat, but the landlady is really strict. (▶) We aren't allowed to do (we / not / allow / do) anything. It was my birthday last month, and

4 May I...? or Am I allowed to ...? (C)

Are you asking for permission, or are you asking what the rule is? Put in May I...? or Am I allowed to ...?

- ? May 1 use your computer?
- ? Am I allowed to smoke in this cinema?
- 1 cross the road here?
- 2ask you a personal question?
- 3 rollerblade in this park?
- 4 drive a car without insurance?
- 5read your magazine?

46 Possibility and certainty: may, might, could, must, etc

A May, might and could

Rachel: Whose bag is that?
Daniel: / don't know. It may belong to Maria's friend.
Vicky: It might be a bomb. It could explode at any moment.

We use may or might to say that something is possible or that it is quite likely. We can use them for the present or the future. It may/might be a bomb. (= Perhaps it is a bomb.) / may/might go to the disco tomorrow. (= Perhaps I will go to the disco.)

We can use could to say that something is possible. The story could be true, I suppose. (= Possibly it is true.) You could win a million pounds! (= Possibly you will win a million pounds.) Sometimes could means only a small possibility. It is possible (but not likely) that you will win a million pounds.

In some situations we can use may, might or could. It may/might/could rain later.

After may, might or could we can use a continuous form (be + an ing-form). That man may/might be watching us. (= Perhaps he is watching us.) Sarah may/might be working late tonight. (= Perhaps she will be working late.) I'm not sure where Matthew is. He could be playing squash. (= Possibly he is playing squash.)

B May, might and could in the negative

The negative forms are may not, might not/mightn't, and could not/couldn't.

MAY NOT AND MIGHT NOT

Something negative is possible. Daniel may not get the job. Tom might not be in. I mightn't finish the marathon tomorrow. (It is possible that I will not finish it.) COULDN'T

Something is impossible. Vicky is afraid of heights. She couldn't climb onto the roof. I'm completely unfit. I couldn't run a marathon. (It is impossible for me to run it.)

C Must and can't

MUST

We use must when we realize that something is certainly true.We use can't w impossible.She isn't answering the phone. She must be out. I had my keys a moment ago. They must be here somewhere.We haven't w Life can't be wheelchatAndrew isn't here. He must be working in the library.Nick can't be

CAN'T

We use can't when we realize that something is mpossible.
We haven't walked far. You can't be tired yet.
Life can't be easy when you have to spend it in a wheelchair.
Nick can't be touring Scotland. I saw him hat this morning.

4 Must, can't and might (A, C)

A reporter is interviewing Mrs Miles for a TV news programme.
Complete the conversation. Put in must, can't or might .
Mrs Miles: My name's Nora Miles, and I'm going to do	a parachute jump.
Reporter: Mrs Miles, you're seventy-three, and you're	going to jump out of an aeroplane.
You (▶) must be mad. You (1)	be serious.
Mrs Miles: It really (2)be wo	nderful to look down from the sky.
I've always wanted to try it.

I wouldn't take the risk.
Mrs Miles: Well, young man, your life (4) be much fun if you never take risks.
You ought to try it. You never know - you (5)	enjoy it.
Reporter: Enjoy it? You (6) be	e joking!

47 Necessity: must and have to

A Present, past and future

We use must and have to/has to to say that something is necessary. You'll be leaving college soon. You must think about your future. We're very busy at the office. I have to work on Saturday morning. Mark has to get the car repaired. There's something wrong with the brakes.

When we use the past, or the future with will, we need a form of have to. Emma had to go to the dentist yesterday, NOT She must go to-the dentist yesterday. That wasn't very good. We'll have to do better next time.
And in other structures we also use a form of have to, not must.
To-infinitive: / don't want to have to wait in a queue for ages.
After a modal verb: *Emma has toothache. She might have to go to the dentist.*Present perfect: Mark has had to drive all the way to Glasgow.

For negatives and questions with have to/has to and had to, we use a form of do. / don't have to work on Sundays. Why does Andrew have to study every evening? Did you have to pay for your second cup of coffee? ~ No, I didn't. I don't have to work means that it is not necessary for me to work (see Unit 48B).

B Must or have to?

Both must and have to express necessity, but we use them differently.

MUST

We use must when the speaker feels that something is necessary.

You must exercise. (I'm telling you.) We must be quiet. (I'm telling you.)

I/we must can also express a wish.

| must buy a newspaper. 1 want to see the racing results.

We must invite Claire. She's wonderful company.

HAVE TO

We use have to when the situation makes something necessary.

I have to exercise. (The doctor told me.) We have to be quiet. (That's the rule.)

1 have to buy a newspaper. The boss asked melt get one. We have to invite Trevor and Laura. They

48 Necessity: mustn't, needn't, etc

A Mustn't or needn't?

We use must to say that something is necessary (see Unit 47). You must be careful with those glasses. I must remember my key.

Now compare mustn't and needn't.

MUSTN'T

We use mustn't to say that something is a bad idea. You mustn't drop those glasses. They'll break.

I mustn't forget my key, or I won't get in. You mustn't wear your best clothes. You'll get them dirty.

NEEDN'T

We use needn't when something is not necessary,

You needn't wash those glasses. They're dean. We needn't make sandwiches. There's a cafe. You needn't wear your best clothes. You can wear what you like.

B Don't have to and don't need to

We can use don't have to and don't need to when something is not necessary.

The meaning is the same as needn't.

You don't have to / don't need to wash those glasses. They're clean. Mark doesn't have to /doesn't need to finish the report today. He can do it at the weekend. For American usage see page 379.

For the past we use didn't.

The food was free. We didn't have to pay/We didn't need to pay for it.

С Didn't need to or needn't have?

Daniel hadn't booked a seat, but luckily the train wasn't full. He didn't need to stand.

DIDN'T NEED TO

We use didn't need to when something was not necessary. Standing was not necessary because there were seats.

Mark didn't need to hurry. He had lots of time. He drove slowly along the motorway. We didn't need to go to the supermarket because we had plenty of food.

Trevor and Laura booked a table for dinner. But the restaurant was empty. They needn't have booked a table.

NEEDN'T HAVE

We use needn't have + a past participle for something we did which we now know was not necessary, e.g. booking a table.

Mark needn't have hurried. After driving at too speed, he arrived half an hour early. We needn't have gone to the supermarket. We already had a pizza for tonight.

Sometimes we can use didn't need to when the action happened, even though it was not Mark didn't need to hurry, but he drove at top speed. necessary. He likes driving fast.

Put in must, mustn't or needn't.

49 Should, ought to, had better and be supposed to

B Should and ought to

We use should and ought to to say what is the best thing or the right thing to do. There is no difference in meaning.

You're not very well. Perhaps you should see a doctor. Your uncle was very kind to me. I ought to write him a letter of thanks. People shouldn't break/oughtn't to break their promises. We can also use should and ought to in questions to ask for advice.

Where should I put this picture, do you think? It's a difficult problem. How ought we to deal with it?

After should or ought to we can use a continuous form (be + an ing-form). It s half past six already. I should be cooking the tea. Why are you sitting here doing nothing? You ought to be working.

C Had better

We use had better to say what is the best thing to do in a situation.

It's cold. The children had better wear their coats.

The neighbours are complaining. We'd better turn the music down.

My wife is waiting for me. I'd better not be late.

We could also use should or ought to in these examples, although had better is stronger. The speaker sees the action as necessary and expects that it will happen.

D Be supposed to

We use be supposed to when we are talking about the normal or correct way of doing things. The guests are supposed to buy flowers for the hostess. Look at these cars. This area is supposed to be kept clear of traffic. The bus driver needs to concentrate. You're not supposed to talk to him. How am I supposed to cook this? ~ It tells you on the packet.

We can use was/were supposed to for the past.

It's eleven o'clock. You were supposed to be here at ten thirty, you know.

Rachel:	You (1) worry so much, Vicky. Don't panic.
	You (2) to relax sometimes. You (3) take a break.
Vicky:	I know 1(4) panic, but I do. I can't help it.
Rachel:	Anyway, you're doing OK, aren't you? Your results have been good.
	You (5) be pleased. You (6) to invent problems for yourself.

2 Had better (C)

What would you say in these situations? Add a sentence with 'd better (not) and the words in brackets.

- ► Vicky doesn't feel well. She's got a headache. What might you say to her? (an aspirin) You'd better take an aspirin.

50 Asking people to do things

A Polite requests

We can use can or could in a request, when we ask someone to do something.
Can everyone be quiet for a minute, please?
Can you keep me informed'? ~ Yes, of course.
Could you lend me ten pounds until tomorrow? ~ Sorry, I haven't got ten pounds.
I wonder if you could explain something to me. ~ I'll try.
Could is often more polite than can.

In a request we can also use Do you mind ...? or Would you mind...? with an ing-form. Do you mind waiting a moment? ~ No, I can wait.

Would you mind sitting in the back? ~ No, not at all. We can also use Would you like to ...?

Would you like to lay the table for me? ~ Yes, of course. We do not use Do you like ...? for a request, NOT Do you like to Lie the table for me?

It is always worth taking the trouble to use one of these request forms in English. We do not normally say Lay the table for me. This can sound very abrupt and impolite without a phrase like Could you ...?

B The imperative

We can sometimes use the imperative form to tell someone what to do.

Bring another chair. Hurry up or we'll be late. We form the negative with don't.

Don't be silly. Don't make so much noise.

We can use an imperative when we are with friends in an informal situation. But we do not use it to a stranger or in a more formal situation.

Excuse me. Could you tell me the way to Oxford Street, please? NOT Tell-me-the way to Oxford Street-please.

Would you mind sending me a copy of your catalogue? NOT Send me a copy of your catalogue.

Even people in authority often avoid using the imperative to give orders. Instead they can use I want/I'd like you to ..., You must..., or a polite request form. Manager: / want you all to be at the meeting. Policeman: You must wait until you see the green light. Doctor: Could you lie down on the bed, please?

C Asking for things

We use Can I/we have...? and Could I/we have ...? when we ask someone to give us something. Can we have our room key, please? Could I have a receipt, please? We can also say

Could you give me a receipt, please?but we do not use the imperative.

NOT Give-me-a receipt.

When we ask for something in a shop or a cafe, we can simply name what we want, but we must say please A large white loaf, please. Two coffees, please.

We can also use I'd like ... or I'll have ...

I'd like a chicken sandwich, please. I'll have a coffee.

We can also use question forms with shall or can. Shall we pay you the money now? ~ Oh, there's no hurry. Can I get a taxi for you? ~ Yes, please.

To offer food or drink, we use would like. Would you like one of these chocolates? ~ Yes, please. Thank you. Would anyone like more coffee? ~ No, thanks.

We can also use Will/Won't you have ... ?
Will you have a biscuit? ~ Thank you.
Won't you have something to drink? ~ Not for me, thank you.

In informal speech we can use the imperative. Have a biscuit. ~ Thank you.

C Invitations

The words we use in invitations are similar to those we use in offers of food and drink (see B). To invite someone, we often use Would you like to ...? Would you like to have lunch with us? ~ Yes, I'd love to. Thank you.

Would like can have a verb with to after it, or an object with a noun. Would you like to stay the night. ~ Oh, that's very kind of you. Would you like a bed for the night? ~ Are you sure it's not too much trouble?

We can also use Will/Won't you ...? Will you join us for coffee? ~ Yes. Thanks. Won't you sit down?

In informal speech we can use the imperative. Come and have coffee with us. Please sit down.

- 5 You are writing to a friend. Invite her to visit you one weekend.

52 Will, would, shall and should

A Will and would for predictions

We can use will for a prediction (see Unit 25C). It's midnight, and Sarah is still working. She'll he tired tomorrow.

We're going to Cornwall for the weekend. ~ Thafll he nice. Wait a minute while I send this e-mail. It won't take long.

We use would for a past prediction or a prediction about a possible situation.

Past: At midnight Sarah was still working. She would be tired the next day.

Possible: How about going to Cornwall next weekend? ~ That would be nice. I wouldn't enjoy a camping holiday.

We can use shall instead of will, and should instead of would, but only in the first person, after I and we, I will/shall be twenty-five in June. We would/should like to meet your family. But NOT My friend-should-like ...

Shall and should are a little formal here.

B Would like

We can use would like, usually shortened to 'd like, when we ask for something. I'd like a brochure, please. We'd like to order our drinks first. This is a more polite way of saying / want a brochure, for example.

We also use would like in offers and invitations. Would you like a free gift? Would you like to visit the museum with us?

C Decisions and refusals

We can use will for an instant decision or for an offer. Decision: Tea or coffee? ~ I'll have coffee, please, (see Unit 23B) Offer: I'll wait for you if you like. ~ Oh, thanks. I won't be long.

We use won't and wouldn't for a refusal.

The strikers won't go back to work until they get a pay increase. The key went in the lock, but it wouldn't turn. I won't... is a strong refusal.

/ won't listen to any more of this nonsense.

D Shall and should

We use either shall or should to ask for advice. I'm in terrible trouble. What shall/should I do? We use should to say what is the best thing or the right thing to do. People should exercise regularly. You shouldn't spend all your money as soon as you've earned it.

53 It may/could/must have been, etc

A Introduction

Vicky, Emma and Matthew are at a club in town.

Vicky: Where's Daniel? He should have been here half an hour ago.

Emma: He may have got lost. It isn't easy to find this place.

Matthew: He could have forgotten all about it, I suppose.

Emma: He can't have forgotten. We were talking about it this morning.

Matthew: Well, something must have delayed him.

We can use a modal verb with the perfect (have + a past participle).

We use this structure to talk about possible past events.

B May have, might have and could have

We use these forms to say that possibly something happened in the past. He may have got lost. (= Perhaps he has got lost.) You might have left your keys at work. (= Perhaps you left them at work.) Someone could have stolen them.

(= It is possible that someone stole them.)

We also use could have for an opportunity that we didn't take or a possible result that didn't happen. We could have gone out somewhere, but we were too tired. You were very lucky. There could have been a terrible accident.

May not have, might not have and couldn't have Compare these different uses.

MAY/MIGHT NOT HAVE
Possibly something did not happen.
Daniel may not have caught the bus. I expect he missed it.
(Perhaps he didn't catch it.) 7 might not have locked the door.
(Perhaps I didn't lock it.)

COULDN T HAVE

It is impossible that something happened. Daniel couldn't have caught the bus. It doesn't run on Sundays. (It is impossible for him to have caught the bus.)

Must have and can't have

Must and can't are opposites.

MUST HAVE

My watch says it's only ten past two. It must have stopped.

I realize it is certainly true that my watch has stopped.

CAN T HAVE

You've only spent five minutes on that job. You can't have done it properly. I realize it is impossible that you did the job properly.

Should have and ought to have

We use these forms when someone didn't do the right thing. We didn't play very well We should have played better. I got lost. ~ Sorry. I ought to have drawn you a map. It was a lovely old building. They shouldn't have knocked it down.

29A Will have done 46 May, might, could, must, can't 48C Needn't have 49 Should, ought to 146 Would have

54 Passive verb forms

A Introduction

A passive verb is a form of be + a passive participle, e.g. is baked, was worn. Some participles are irregular (see page 383).

B Summary of verb tenses

The bread is being baked. The bread has been baked. The bread was baked yesterday. The bread was being baked. The bread had been baked.

We form negatives and questions in the same way as in active sentences. The bread isn't baked in a factory. The jacket hasn't been worn for years. Where is the bread baked? Has the jacket ever been worn by anyone else?

The future and modal verbs in the passive

We use be + a passive participle after will, be going to, can, must, have to, should, etc.
The gates will be dosed this evening. This rubbish should be thrown away. The machine has to be repaired. The news might be announced soon. Seats may not be reserved. How can the problem be solved?

	We are going to bake the bread.	The bread is going to be baked.
Modal verb:	We should bake the bread soon.	The bread should be baked soon.
	We ought to bake the bread.	The bread ought to be baked.

The passive with get

We sometimes use get in the passive instead of be.

Lots of postmen get bitten by dogs. I'm always getting chosen for the worst jobs. Last week Laura got moved to another department. Get is informal. We often use it for something happening by accident or unexpectedly.

In negatives and questions in the present simple and past simple, we use a form of do. The windows don't get cleaned very often. How did the painting get damaged?

We also use get in these expressions: get dressed/changed, get washed (= wash oneself), get engaged/married/divorced, get started (= start), get lost (= lose one's way). Emma and Matthew might get married. Without a map we soon got lost.

55 Active and passive (1)

A What is the sentence about?

Compare these two entries in an encyclopedia.

Alexander Graham Bell

A British inventor who went to live in Canada and then the USA. Bell invented the telephone.

Look at these two sentences.

ACTIVE

Bell invented the telephone.

Telephone

An apparatus with which people can talk to each other over long distances. The telephone was invented by Alexander Graham Bell.

PASSIVE

The telephone was invented by Bell.

The two sentences have the same meaning, but they are about different things. One sentence is about Bell, and the other is about the telephone. Each sentence begins with the subject. The subject is the starting-point of the sentence, the thing we are talking about. The new information about the subject comes at the end of the sentence.

We say Bell invented the telephone because we are talking about Bell, and the new information is that he invented the telephone.

When the subject is the person or thing doing the action (the agent), then we use an active verb.

ACTIVE

Bell invented the telephone. Subject and agent

The subject (Bell) is the agent.

We say The telephone was invented by Bell because we are talking about the telephone, and the new information is that it was invented by Bell.

When the subject is not the agent (is not doing the action), then we use a passive verb.

PASSIVE

The telephone was invented by Bell.

the thing that the action is directed at.

Subject Agent The subject (the telephone) is not the agent. It is

B The passive and by the police, in 1876, etc

In a passive sentence, when we want to say who or what did the action, we use by.

On our way home we were stopped by the police. The new hospital will be opened by the Queen. The paper was all blown away by the wind.

We can give other details about the action. For example, we can use a phrase saying when or where something happens.

The telephone was invented in 1876. The visitors will be driven to the airport. The concerts are usually held at the university.

Sometimes there is no phrase after the verb.

A new swimming-pool is being built. All the documents have been destroyed. For more details see Unit 56.

1 Active or passive verb? (A)

Choose the correct verb forms in this news report about a storm.

Millions of pounds' worth of damage (\blacktriangleright has eaused/has been caused by a storm which (1) swept/was swept across the north of England last night. The River Ribble (2) burst/was burst its banks after heavy rain. Many people (3) rescued/were rescued from the floods by fire-fighters, who (4) received/were received hundreds of calls for help. Wind speeds (5) reached/were reached ninety miles an hour in some places. Roads (6) blocked/were blocked by fallen trees, and electricity lines (7) brought/were brought down, leaving thousands of homes without electricity. 'Everything possible (8) is doing/is being done to get things back to normal,' a spokesman (9) said/was said.

2 By the police, etc (B)

In each of these sentences underline who or what is doing the action (the agent).

- 3 A policeman has been murdered by terrorists.

- 8 (Past simple: five people / see / the ghost) Did you hear about the ghost? It

56 Active and passive (2)

A The passive and the agent

In a passive sentence, we sometimes mention the agent (the person or thing doing the action). We use by with the agent.

The cheque must be signed by the manager.

The medals were presented by Nelson Mandela.

But we mention the agent only if it is important for the meaning of the sentence. Sometimes we do not mention it.

1 We do not mention the agent if it does not add any new information. All our money and passports were stolen. A man was arrested last night. We do not need to say that the money was stolen 'by a thief or that the man was arrested 'by the police'.

- 2 We do not mention the agent if it is not important. The streets are cleaned every day. Oil has been discovered at the North Pole. Who discovered the oil is less important than the fact that it is there.
- 3 It is sometimes difficult to say who the agent is. This kind of jacket is considered very fashionable these days. A number of attempts have been made to find the Loch Ness monster.

B Empty subjects (they, people, etc)

Compare these two sentences.

PASSIVE

They clean the streets every day.

The streets are cleaned every day.

The new and important information is how often the streets are cleaned. We are not interested in saying who cleans them. In the active sentence we can use the 'empty subject' they. We sometimes use a sentence with an empty subject instead of the passive, especially in conversation.

We can also use the empty subjects people, you, one and someone.

ACTIVEPASSIVEPeople use this footpath all the time.
You/One should check the details.This footpath is used all the time.
The details should be checked.
My purse was taken.

When do we use the passive?

We use the passive in both speech and writing, but it is more common in writing. We see it especially in textbooks and reports. We use it to describe activities in industry, science and technology, and also for official rules.

Bananas are exported to Europe. The liquid is heated to boiling point. Payment can be made at any post office. Cars left here will be towed away. In these situations, it is often not important to say who is doing the action, or it is difficult to say.

The passive is also often used in news reports. A number of political prisoners have been released.

Talks will be held in London next week.

i The passive and the agent (A)

Laura is writing to a friend. This is part of her letter.

Someone broke into our house at the weekend. The burglar took some jewellery. But luckily he didn't do any damage. A very nice young police officer interviewed me. Detectives found some fingerprints, and the police computer identified the burglar. Police have arrested a man and are questioning him. But they haven't found the jewellery.

Now complete the passive sentences in this conversation. Use a phrase with by only if it adds information. Laura: Our house (\triangleright) was broken into at the weekend

Melanie:	Oh no!
Laura:	Some jewellery (1)
	But luckily no damage (2)
Melanie:	Did the police come and see you?

► a Belgian called Etienne Lenoir / make / the first	The first motor car was made by a Belgian called Etienne Lenoir.
motor car	cuicu Eilenne Echon.
1. but / Lenoir / not produce / many cars / for sale	But Lenoir
2. a German called Karl Benz / start /	Commercial commercial production
3 people / now / see / Benz / as the father / of the	Benz motor car

Empty subjects (B)

 Melanie: Bicycles should be used for short journeys, (people) David: Yes, I agree.
 Emma: A new source of energy has been discovered, (someone)
- Vicky: Well, no one told me that
- 4 David: Eggs shouldn't be kept in a freezer, (you) Tom: Really? I didn't know
 5 Vicky: Why isn't litter put in the bin? (people)
- Emma: Exactly. Why don't

57 Special passive structures

A I was given ...

Look at these sentences.

Henry gave some flowers to Claire. Henry gave Claire some flowers. An active sentence with a verb like give can have two different structures (see Unit 3).

If we use a passive sentence, either some flowers or Claire can be the subject.

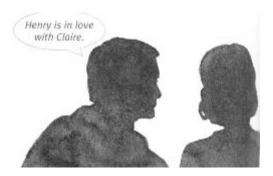

Some flowers were given to Claire. This is about the flowers, and it tells us who received them. Claire was given some flowers. This is about Claire, and it tells us what she received.

It is quite normal in English for a person to be the subject in a passive sentence like the one about Claire. Mike was sent tickets for the concert. My wife is paid more than 1 am. Andrew has been awarded a prize for his essay.

We can use the following verbs in this structure: allow, award, fed, give, grant, hand, leave (in a will), lend offer, owe, pay, promise, sell, send, show, teach

B It is said that..

It is said that Henry is in love with Claire. (= People say that Henry is in love with Claire.)

We can use the structure it + passive verb + clausewith verbs of reporting. We use this structure when we cannot say or do not need to say who the speaker is, for example in news reports.

It is thought that the company is planning a new advertising campaign. It was reported that the President had suffered a heart attack. It has been agreed that changes to the scheme are necessary.

Here are some verbs we can use in this structure: agree, allege, announce, assure, believe, consider, decide expect, explain, hope, know, report, say, suggest, suppose, think, understand

He is said to ...

We can also use subject + passive verb + to-infinitive. Henry is said to be in love with Claire.

This structure is also used in news reports.

United were expected to win. (= People expected that they would win.) The company is thought to be planning a new advertising campaign. (= Someone thinks that it is planning a new advertising campaign.) The President was reported to have suffered a heart attack. (= Someone reported that he had suffered a heart attack.)

We can use the following verbs in this structure: believe, expect, find, know, report, say, think, understand

We often use be supposed to for things that people say. / might watch this programme. It's supposed to be very funny.

1 I was given ... (A)

Zedco managers are writing a report saying how well the company looks after its employees. Write sentences from the notes. Put the important underlined information at the end of the sentence.

- ? people with initiative / they are given opportunities Opportunities are given to people with initiative.
- 1 special training / it is given to new employees
- 2 staff who perform well / they are given extra payments
- 3 company shares / they are offered to most employees
- 4 six weeks' holiday / this is allowed to all Zedco staff
- 5 women who leave to have children / they are paid a full salary

2 It is said that... (B)

Report these rumours. Instead of the active (e.g. People say ...) use the passive (e.g. It is said that...).

It is ▶ People say this.

The quiz champion Claude Jennings has lost his memory. It is said that the quiz champion Claude jenniiKS has lost his memory.

Everyone expects this.

The soap opera 'Round the Corner' will end next year.

2 Journalists suppose so.

The footballer Wayne Johnson is earning £10 million a year.

3 Lots of people believe this.

The Prime Minister and his wife have separated.

3 He is said to... (C)

Now report the rumours in Exercise 2 like this.

- ▶ The quiz champion Claude Jennings is said to have lost his memory.
- 1 The soap opera 'Round the Corner'.....

58 Have something done

A Introduction

Compare these situations.

Claire decorated the room. (She did the work herself.)

Claire had the room decorated. (A decorator did the work.)

We can use have in a passive structure. Claire had the room decorated means that she arranged for a decorator to do it for her as a professional service.

B Form

Look at these examples

	HAVE	SOMETHING	DONE
You should	have	your car	serviced	regularly.
Mark usually	has	his suits	cleaned	at Superclean
We	had	the television	repaired	only last year,
You've	had	your hair	cut.
Our neighbours are	having	a new garage	built.
Is Melanie	having	a new cooker	installed?

Note that we can use the perfect or the continuous (have had, are having).

In negatives and questions in simple tenses, we use a form of do. Mark doesn't have his suits cleaned at Fastclean. We didn't have new windows put in because it was too expensive. Do you have your car serviced regularly? Where did you have your hair cut?

C Get something done

We can also use get something done.

We must have another key made. OR We must get another key made. The sentences have the same meaning, but get is more informal than have.

Here are some more examples with get.

Laura got her shoes repaired. We're getting the carpet cleaned. Where did you get your hair cut? Do you get your heating checked every year?

D Have meaning 'experience'

We can use have in this structure with the meaning 'experience something', often something unpleasant. We had all our money stolen. The car had its mirror pulled off.

1 Have something done (A-B)

Look at the pictures and say what people are doing or what they did. Use these phrases: her photo, his windows, his car, her eyes, his hair Use these verbs: dean, cut, repair, take, test

- ► At the moment Trevor is having his hair cut.
- 1 Last week Mike
- 2 At the moment Melissa
 3 Yesterday David
- 4 At the moment Rachel

2 Have something done (A-B)

- Melanie is paying the man who has repaired her bicycle. Melanie has had her bicycle repaired.
- 1 David went to the hospital. A nurse bandaged his arm.
- 2 Daniel is going to the dentist. She's going to fill his tooth.
- 3 Laura is walking around town while her photos are being developed.

3 Get something done (C)

Look again at Exercise 2. The jobs are all done now. Complete the questions using get.

- ► Mike: Where did you get your bicycle repaired, Melanie ?
- 1 Harriet: Why
- 2 Emma: Where
- 3 Sarah: Where

4 Have meaning 'experience' (D)

Say what happened to these people.

- 1 Tom (whose car was stolen from outside his house)
- 2 Rita (whose rent was increased by ten per cent)
- 3 David (whose electricity has been cut off)

59 To be done and being done

Compare the active and passive.

PASSIVE

to-infinitive: / ought to meet Sarah at the airport. I hope to be met at the airport. ing-form: / insist on meeting you at the airport. I love being met at the airport. (I meet people.) (People meet me.)

Here are some more examples.

/ want to play volleyball. I hope to be chosen for the team.
The minister agreed to answer questions. He agreed to be interviewed on television.
Why did Tom keep making jokes about me? I don't enjoy being laughed at.
You say you remember telling me the news. But I certainly can't remember being told.

An ing-form sometimes comes after a preposition. The postman complained about being attacked by Nick's dog. Famous people get tired of being recognized everywhere they go.

B Active forms with a passive meaning

The active ing-form after need has a passive meaning. The bicycle needs oiling. (= The bicycle needs to be oiled.) The windows need cleaning. (= The windows need to be cleaned.) We cannot use the passive ing-form here. NOT The bicycle needs being oiled.

We sometimes use an active to-infinitive when we talk about a job to be done.
I've got some letters to write today. We've got this bill to pay.
Here we use the active (to write) because the subject of the sentence (I) is the person who has to do the job.
But if the subject is not a person, then we use the passive infinitive.
The letters are to be written today. The bill is to be paid without delay.
All this mess has to be cleared away. The goods have to be shipped.

We can use the structure be + to-infinitive to give an order. The matter is to be given top priority. You're not to drive too fast.

After the subject there, we can use either an active or a passive to-infinitive. There are some letters to write/to be written today. There's a bill to pay/to be paid.

62 Verb + active to-infinitive or ing-form 73 Preposition + active ing-form

i Passive forms (A)

You can get skin cancer from being in the sun too long. You aren't in favour of cutting down trees, are you? Sarah went to work in spite of not feeling well. We can't have a party without making a bit of noise.

We can use these prepositions before an ing-form: against, as a result of, as well as, besides, by, despite, for, from, how about, in favour of, in spite of, instead of, on, what about, without

We use what about/how about + ing-form to make a suggestion. How about giving us some help? We use for + ing-form to say what we use something for. This cloth is for cleaning the floor. We use by + ing-form to say how someone does something. The thief got in by breaking a window. We use on + ing-form to mean 'as soon as'. On hearing the news of David's accident, Melanie burst into tears. (= As soon as she heard the news,...)

C Linking word + ing-form

Here are some examples.

The man has been unemployed since leaving prison. You should always lock the door when leaving your room. Mark was listening to the car radio while sitting in a traffic jam.

We can use these linking words before an ing-form: after, although, before, since, when, while

A linking word + ing-form can sometimes be a little formal. We can say the same thing like this. I always have a shower after I've played tennis. Although she was hoping to get the job, Rachel wasn't really expecting to.

B See it happen

After some verbs we can use an object + an infinitive without to.

	VERB	OBJECT	INFINITIVE
Rachel	saw	David	fall	down the steps.
Vicky	heard	someone	close	the door.
Let's	watch	the parade	go	past.
We all	felt	the house	shake.

We can use this structure with these verbs: feel, hear, listen to, notice, see, watch

C See it happening

We can also use an ing-form after the object.

	VERB	OBJECT	ING-FORM
Rachel	saw	David	walking	with a stick.
Can you	hear	someone	playing	the piano?
We	found	Matthew	exercising	in the gym.
I could	feel	an insect	crawling	up my leg.

We can use this structure with these verbs: feel, find, hear, listen to, notice, see, smell, watch

D See it happen or see it happening?

SEE IT HAPPEN	SEE IT HAPPENING
We saw Trevor plant the tree.	We saw Trevor planting the tree.
(He planted the tree. We saw him do the	(He was planting the tree. We saw him in the whole job.)	middle of the job.)
/ watched Nick light a cigarette.	I watched Nick smoking a cigarette.
We noticed a young man sit down and order a	We noticed a young man sitting at the table meal.	eating a meal.

When we talk about a short action, it often does not matter which structure we use. They heard a car turn/turning the corner. I didn't see anyone leave/leaving any litter.

1 See it happen (B)

75 Some structures with the ing-form

A Two actions at the same time

All afternoon Claire lay in a hammock reading a magazine.

When two things are happening at the same time, we can use a main verb (lay) and an ing-form (reading). Here are some more examples.

We had to stand in a queue waiting for the bank to open. You can t sit watching television all day. All afternoon, Vicky lay on the sofa thinking about life.

We can also use this structure when one action comes in the middle of another. We use the ing-form for the longer action.

Matthew injured his knee doing gymnastics. (= He injured his knee while he was doing gymnastics.) I went to sleep listening to the radio.

B One action after another

When there are two short actions, one straight after the other, we can use an ing-form for the first action. Opening the bottle, Mike poured the drinks. (= He opened the bottle and then poured the drinks.) Turning right into Madison Avenue, the car drove north for two blocks.

We can also use the perfect ing-form. Having opened the bottle, Mike poured the drinks. (= After opening the bottle, Mike poured the drinks.)

If either of the actions is long, we must use the perfect. Having photocopied all the papers, Sarah put them back in the file. Having repaired the car, Tom took it out for a road test. NOT Repairing the car, Tom took it out for a road test.

These patterns are typical of written English. In spoken English, to talk about one action after another we use a sentence like this.

Tom repaired the car and then took it out for a road test.

C The ing-form saying why

We can use the ing-form to give a reason.

The fans queued for hours, hoping to get tickets. (= They queued for hours because they hoped to get tickets.) Being the youngest child, Natasha was her father's favourite. Not knowing the way, I had to ask for directions.

We can also use the perfect ing-form to give a reason. Having spent all his money, Daniel couldn't afford a new jacket. We decided not to travel, having heard the terrible weather forecast.

1 One action in the middle of another (A)

Say what accidents these people had. Use these phrases: lift weights, light a fire, open a tin, run, ski Put the verbs describing the longer action in the -ing form.

2 One action after another (B)

Look at these examples of agreement between the subject (e.g. the window) and the verb (e.g. is).

SINGULAR

The window is open. She was upset. It has been raining. The soup tastes good. This method doesn't work.

After a singular or an uncountable noun and after he, she or it, we use a singular verb.

B Everyone, something, every, all, etc

PLURAL

After all and a plural noun, we use a plural verb,

E An amount + a singular verb

A Introduction

Read this true story about an American tourist in Britain.

A man from California was spending a month in Britain. One day he booked into a hotel in Cheltenham, a nice old town in the West of England. Then he went out to look around the place. But the man didn't return to the hotel. He disappeared, leaving a suitcase full of clothes behind. The police were called in, but they were unable to find out what had happened to the missing tourist. It was a mystery. But two weeks later the man walked into the police station in Cheltenham. He explained that he was very sorry, but while walking around the town, he had got lost. He had also forgotten the name of the hotel he had booked into. So he had decided to continue with his tour of the country and had gone to visit a friend in Scotland before returning to pick up the case he had left behind.

A/an goes only with a singular noun. With a plural or an uncountable noun we use some. He left a case, (singular) He left some cases, (plural) He left some luggage, (uncountable)

The goes with both singular and plural nouns and with uncountable nouns.

He needed the case, (singular) He needed the cases, (plural) He needed the luggage, (uncountable)

B Use

When the story first mentions something, the noun has a or an.

A man booked into a hotel in Cheltenham.

These phrases are new information. We do not know which man or which hotel. But when the same thing is mentioned again, the noun has the.

The man didn't return to the hotel.

These phrases are old information. Now we know which man and which hotel - the ones already mentioned earlier in the story. We use the when it is clear which one we mean.

Has Melanie got a garden? (We do not know if there is one.) The train stopped at a station. (We don't know which station.) We took a taxi. We could hear a noise. I wrote the number on an envelope.

C A man/he and the man/someone

We use a/an + noun or someone/something when we aren't saying which one. A man/Someone booked into a hotel. He left a case/something behind. THE

Would you like to see the show?
(= the show we already mentioned)
Whose is the car outside?
('Outside' explains which car I mean.
/ was in bed when the phone rang.
{-- the phone in my house)

(We know she has one.)
Turn left here for the station.
(= the station in this town)
We went in the car. (= my/our car)
We could hear the noise of a party.
I wrote it on the back of an envelope.

We use the + noun or he/she/it when we know which one.

The man/He didn't return to the hotel. The case/It contained clothes.

91 This, that, these and those Introduction Im just having a look at this printout. These figures aren't very good.

We use this and these for things near the speaker (this printout here). This goes with a singular or uncountable noun, e.g. this report. These goes with a plural noun, e.g. these results.

We use that and those for things further away (that table there). That goes with a singular or uncountable noun, e.g. that furniture. Those goes with a plural noun, e.g. those curtains.

We can leave out the noun if the meaning is clear. I'm just having a look at this. That's nice, isn't it? Last month's figures were bad, but these are worse.

B Places and people

When we are in a place or a situation, we use this (not that) to refer to it. There's a wonderful view from this office, just come to the window. This party isn't much fun, is it? Shall we go home?

We can use this to introduce people and that to identify people. Jake, this is my friend Rita. That's Andrew over there. On the phone we can use this to say who we are and this or that to ask who the other person is. Hello? This is Laura speaking. Who's this/that, please?

C Time

This/these can mean 'near in time' and that/those 'further away in time'. I'm working as a tourist guide this summer. I'm pretty busy these days. Do you remember that summer we all went to Spain? Those were the days. I can't see you on the third of July. I'm on holiday that week.

- To refer back to something that has just happened or was just mentioned, we normally use that. What was that noise? ~ I didn't hear anything. Jessica is on a diet. That's why she doesn't want to eat out with us. I've lost my key. ~ Well, that's a silly thing to do.
- To refer forward to something that is just going to happen or something that we are going to say, we uset This next programme should be quite interesting. I don't like to say this, but I'm not happy with the service here.
 - 13 D this week, this year, etc

92 My, your, etc and mine, yours, etc

A Introduction

Mark: Why have you brought your work home? We're going out.
Sarah: /// do it later. Let's go now. Shall we take my car?
Mark: Well, I'd rather not take mine. I think there's something wrong with it.

My, mine, your, etc express possession and similar meanings. My car means the car belonging to me; your work means the work you are doing. My comes before a noun, e.g. my car. We use mine on its own.

	MY, YOUR, ETC	MINE, YOURS, ETC
First person singular:	It's my car.	It's mine.
Second person singular:	Here's your coat.	Here's yours.
Third person singular:	That's his room.	That's his.
	It's her money.	It's hers.
	The dog's got its food.
First person plural:	That's our table.	That's ours.
Second person plural:	Are these your tickets?	Are these yours?
Third person plural:	It's their camera.	It's theirs.

B Its and it's

We use its before a noun to express the idea of belonging. The street is around here somewhere, but I've forgotten its name.

It's is a short form of it is or it has. I think it's time to go. (= it is) It's got a lot colder today, hasn't it? (= it has)

C My, your with parts of the body and clothes

We normally use my, your, etc with parts of the body and with someone's clothes. Emma shook her head sadly, NOT Emma shook the head sadly. Someone came up behind me and grabbed my arm. You must take off your shoes before you enter a mosque. But we usually use the in the following structure with a prepositional phrase.

	VERB	PERSON	PREPOSITIONAL PHRASE
Someone	grabbed	me	by the arm.
The stone	hit	Mike	on the head.

D Own

We use own after my, your, etc to say that something belongs to us and to no one else. Rachel has got her own calculator. She doesn't borrow mine, NOT an own calculator I don't share any more. I've got a flat of my own. NOT of mine own

E A friend of mine

Look at these examples.

Tom is a friend of mine. (= one of my friends) NOT a friend of me Rachel came to the party with a cousin of hers. (= one of her cousins) I borrowed some magazines of yours. (= some of your magazines) Note also 's in this example: Rita is a friend of Melanie's.

1 My, your, etc and mine, yours, etc (A)

- Emma: Well, luckily he doesn't live far from the airport. He rang (3)..... parents, and they brought the passport over in (4).....car, just in time.
- Laura: You remembered (5)...... I hope.

Emma: Yes, I had (6)....., even though I'm usually the one who forgets things. Actually Rachel thought for a minute that she'd lost (7) Luckily it was in (8)..... suitcase. Anyway, in the end we had a marvellous time.

93 The possessive form and of

A Form

We use the possessive of a noun in phrases like the boy's name and Vicky's room. We form the possessive like this.

Singular noun:	':	s $boy \rightarrow boy's$	Vicky -> Vicky's
Plural noun ending in s:	'	$boys \longrightarrow boys'$	tourists ~> tourists'
Plural noun not ending in s:	's	$men \longrightarrow men's$	children —> children's

We can use the possessive form with another noun or on its own. I've met Rachel's family, but I haven't met Vicky's. (Vicky's - Vicky's family)

B The boy's name or the name of the boy?

Compare these structures.

THE POSSESSIVE FORM	PHRASE WITH OF
the boy's name	the name of the boy
the boys' names	the names of the boys
the men's names	the names of the men

Sometimes we can use either the possessive (the boy's name) or a phrase with of (the name of the boy), but often only one is possible. We normally use the possessive with people and animals.

my friend's house Claire's idea Daniel's brother our neighbour's garden the dog's owner the policemen's uniforms the women's changing room the Parkers' car

We normally use of with things, and not the possessive form. the side of the house NOT the house's side the result of the match NOT the match's result the day of the meeting NOT the meeting's day

But we use of with people when there is a long phrase. the house of one of our teachers at college the address of those people we met in Spain NOT those people who we met in Spain's address

We can use both structures for places and organizations. London's museums OR the museums of London the earth's atmosphere OR the atmosphere of the earth the company's future OR the future of the company the government's intentions OR the intentions of the government

C The possessive of time

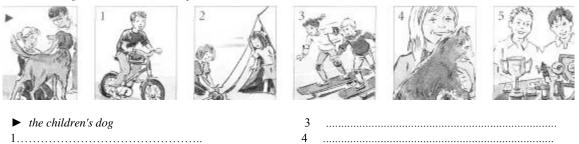

We can use the possessive to say 'when' or 'how long'. last week's concert today's TV programmes yesterday's news about a month's work a moment's silence ten minutes' walk

Note also:

in two months' time (two months from now) a week's wages (wages for a week)

The possessive form (A)

Write descriptions of the things in the photos. Use boy, girl and children and these words: bike, cat, dog, skateboards, tent, trophies

2 The possessive form (A)

2.....

3 The boy's name or the name of the boy? (B)

Ed Buckman writes detective stories. Here are the titles of some of his stories.

- Write the titles using either of or a possessive form (with s or s').
- ? the mistake / the policeman The Policeman's Mistake
- ? the bottom / the bottle The Bottom of the Bottle
- 1~ the gun / Mr Hillman
- $2 \ the \ smell \ / \ blood$
- 3 the car / the terrorist
- 4 the middle / the night
- 5 the death / someone important
- 6 the money / the gangsters

4 The possessive of time (C)

Rewrite the underlined phrases using a possessive form.

- ? The prices this year are even lower. This year's prices
- ? From here it's a drive of two hours. a two hours' drive
- 1 I read about it in the paper yesterday
- 2 I just want a rest for five minutes.
- 3 It's the special offer for this month.
- 4 I'll see you in a week.

94 Some and any

A Basic use

Some and any go before a plural or uncountable noun (see Unit 85A). *There was a bowl and some cornflakes on the table, but there wasn't any milk.*We can also use some and any without a noun. Trevor wanted some milk, but he couldn't find any.

We normally use some in positive sentences and any in negative sentences or ones with a negative meaning.

POSITIVE

NEGATIVE

There's some milk in the fridge.
I need some stamps. ~ There are some in the drawer.
I met some interesting people last night.
We'll have some fun at Disneyland.

I haven't got any stamps. Have you got any? I never meet any interesting people nowadays.

I haven't any milk. (= I have no milk.)

We won't have any fun without you.

We can also use any in a sentence with if.

If you have any problems, you can discuss them with your group leaders. I can answer any questions. (= If there are any questions,...)

In questions we can use either some or any, but any is more common. We don't know whether the answer will be yes or no. Have we got any butter? Will there be any food for the guests? Did you buy any clothes?

We normally use some in offers and requests to make them sound more positive. Would you like some coffee? Could you post some letters for me?

We can use some in questions when we think the answer might be yes. Did you buy some clothes? (Perhaps I know that you went out to buy some.)

B Someone, anything, etc

We choose between someone and anyone, something and anything, and somewhere and anywhere in the same way as between some and any.

Someone has spilt water everywhere.	Did anyone see what happened?
Would you like something to eat?	We haven't got anything to eat.
Let's go out somewhere.	Is there anywhere we can go?

C Another use of any

We can use any in a positive sentence to mean 'it doesn't matter which'. I'm free all day. Call any time you like.

Any student will be able to tell you where the college library is. You can buy these maps at any petrol station. They all have them.

We say any petrol station because all petrol stations have the maps. It doesn't matter which one you go to. They are all equally good.

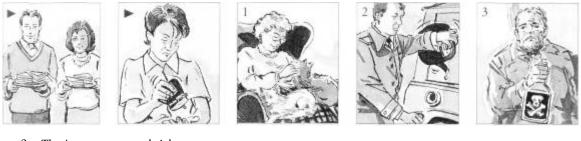

Look at these examples with anyone, anything and anywhere.

It's a very simple puzzle. Anyone could solve it. (= It doesn't matter who.) What shall we have for lunch? ~ Oh, anything. I don't mind. Where do we have to sit? ~ We can sit anywhere. It doesn't matter.

85A A/an and some 103 Everyone, something, etc

i Basic use (A)

Look at the pictures and say what people have or haven't got. Use some or any. Use these words: cats, money, petrol, poison, sandwiches

- ? They've got some sandwiches.
- ? She hasn't got any money.
- 1

2 Basic use (A)

We've had (3)..... great songs tonight, and I'll be here next week to play (4)..... more. Now here's (5)..... music from Express - 'I never have (6).....luck'.

3 Some, any, someone, anyone, etc (A-B)

95 A lot of, lots of, many, much, (a) few and (a) little

A Introduction

A lot of, lots of, many and much mean a large quantity. Ron Mason owns a chain of supermarkets. He's made a lot of money. A few and a little mean a small quantity. I'd better hurry. My bus goes in a few minutes.

Many and a few go before plural nouns. many places many problems a few people a few buildings Much and a little go before uncountable nouns much money much trouble a little sunshine a little food

A lot of and lots of go before both plural and uncountable nouns.

a lot of tourists lots of games

a lot of sugar lots of fun

We use these words without a noun if it is clear what we mean. I take photos, but not as many as I used to. At one time I took a lot. Note that we say a lot without of.

B A lot of, many and much

As a general rule, we use a lot of and lots of in positive statements and many and much in negatives and questions.

Positive:We get a lot of storms here.We get a lot of rain here.Negative:We don't get many storms here.We don't get much rain here.Questions:Do you get many storms here?Do you get much rain here?How many eggs do we need?How much salt do we put in?

We use many or much (not a lot of) after too, so and as.

There are too many cars. I've got so much work. I haven't got as much money as you.

In formal English, we can sometimes use many and much in a positive statement. Many students have financial problems. There is much enthusiasm for the idea. But this is less usual in conversation, where we normally use a lot of or lots of.

In informal English, you may hear a lot of in a negative or a question. I don't have many friends/a lot of friends. Do you eat much fruit/a lot of fruit?

C Few and little with and without a

With a the meaning is positive.	Without a the meaning is negative.
A few customers have come into the shop. It has	Few customers have come into the shop. It has been fairly busy.	been quiet.
Vicky has made a little progress and so is feeling	Vicky has made little progress and so is not quite pleased.	feeling very pleased.
A few customers ~ some customers, a small	few customers - not many customers number of customers
A little progress = some progress, a small amount	Little progress = not much progress of progress

Few and little (without a) can be rather formal. In informal speech we can use these structures. Not many customers have come in. Vicky hasn't made much progress. Only a few customers have come in. Vicky has made only a little progress.

96 All, half, most, some, no and none

A All, most and some

We can use all, most and some before a plural or an uncountable noun.

All plants need water. All matter is made up of atoms.

Most people would like more money. Some food makes me ill.

All plants means 'all plants in general/in the world'. Most people means 'most people in this country/in the world'. Some food means 'some food but not all food'. Here some is pronounced /sA.m/.

B All of, half of, most of and some of Laura: Why do you keep all of these clothes? You never wear most of them. You've had some of your jackets for ten years. Why don't you throw them all out? This one is completely out of fashion. Trevor: Well, I thought if I waited long enough, it might come back into fashion.

All of these clothes has a specific meaning. Laura is talking about Trevor's clothes, not about clothes in general.

We can use all (of), half (of), most of and some of. Have all (of) the plants died? ~ No, not all of them. Most of the people who live around here are students. I've spent most of my money already. Half {of) the audience left before the end of the film. Some of that food from the party was all right, but I threw some of it away.

We can leave out of after all or half, but not before a pronoun. all of these clothes on all the clothes BUT all of them NOT all them half of our group OR half our group BUT half of us NOT half us. We can also use all in mid position (see Unit 113B) or after a pronoun. These cups are all dirty. I'll have to clean them all. The guests have all gone now. I think they all enjoyed themselves.

We can use most and some on their own. The band sang a few songs. Most were old ones, but some were new.

C All meaning 'everything' or 'the only thing'

We can use all with a clause to mean 'everything' or 'the only thing'. Tell me all you know. All I did was ask a simple question. Here you know and I did are clauses. We do not normally use all without the clause. Tell me everything, NOT Tell-me-all.

D No and none

We use no with a noun.

We've rung all the hotels, and there are no rooms available. I'm afraid I've got no money. (= I haven't got any money.)

We use none with of or on its own.

None of my friends will be at the party. Look at these clothes. None of them are in fashion now. I wanted some cake, but there was none left, NOT There-was no left.

97 Every, each, whole, both, either and neither

EACH

A Every and each

We use every and each before a singular noun to talk about a whole group. The police questioned every person/each person in the building. Every room/Each room has a number. In many contexts either word is possible, but there is a difference in meaning.

EVERY

Every person means 'all the people', 'everyone'.

Every guest watched as the President came in. I go for a walk every day. Every means three or more, usually a large number. There were cars parked along every street in town. (= all the streets)

Each person means all the people seen as individuals, one by one.
Each guest (in turn) shook hands with him.
Each day seemed to pass very slowly.
Each is more usual with smaller groups and can mean only two.
There were cars parked along each side of the street. (= both sides)

We can use each (but not every) on its own or with of. There are six flats. Each has its own entrance, NOT Every has... Each of the six flats has its own entrance, NOT Every of the ...
We can also say Each one/Every one has its own entrance.

We can also use each in mid position (see Unit 113B) or after a pronoun. We've each got our own desk. They gave us each a desk.

Compare every and all before day, morning, week, etc. I travel every day. (= Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday,...) I was travelling all day. (= from morning till evening)

B Whole

We use whole before a singular noun. It means 'all' or 'complete'. The baby cried the whole time. (= all the time) I've spent my whole life waiting for this moment. (= all my life) We'll need a whole loaf to make sandwiches for everyone.

C Both, either and neither

We use both, either and neither for two things.

I've got two bicycles. Both of them are quite old. I've given up cycling, so I don't ride either of them any more. Neither of them is in very good condition, I'm afraid.

Both means 'the one and the other'. We can use it in the following structures. We had two letters this morning, and both letters/both the letters/both of the letters/both of them are bills We can also use both in mid position (see Unit 113B) or after a pronoun.

The letters are both bills. I've opened them both.

Either means 'the one or the other', and neither means 'not the one or the other'. I haven't met either twin/either of the twins/either of them. Neither shoe fits/Neither of the shoes fit(s)/'Neither of them fit(s).

We can use both, either and neither on their own. The store has two lifts, and both are out of order/neither is working.

Complete the dialogue. Put in every or each. Sometimes both are possible.

Laura: Isn't that rather expensive?

Here, she = Rachel. It means a thing, an action, a situation or an idea. Here, it = the time. They/them is the plural of he, she and it and means people or things.

100 Reflexive pronouns

B Form

A Introduction

Myself is a reflexive pronoun. In the sentence I've cut myself, the words I and myself mean the same thing. Myself refers back to the subject, I.

SINGULAR myself PLURAL ourselves yourself yourselves himself/herself/itself themselves rself/itself

Compare yourself and yourselves.

FIRST

Emma, you can dry yourself on this towel.

Vicky and Rachel, you can dry yourselves on these towels.

C The use of reflexive pronouns

A Emphatic pronouns

Trevor and Laura are decorating their living-room themselves.

An emphatic pronoun is a word like myself, yourself. It has the same form as a reflexive pronoun (see Unit 100B).

Here the emphatic pronoun means 'without help'. Trevor and Laura are decorating the room without help from anyone else. Compare They're having the room wallpapered (by a decorator) (see Unit 58A).

Here are some more examples.

I built this boat myself. My sister designs all these clothes herself. Are you doing all the painting yourselves? When we say these sentences, we stress self or selves.

Now look at these examples.

The manager himself welcomed us to the hotel.

(= The manager welcomed us, not someone else.)

Although she is very rich, the Queen herself never carries any money.

The house itself is small, but the garden is enormous.

Of course the children have been to the zoo. You yourself took them there last year.

Here the emphatic pronoun comes after the noun or pronoun it relates to.

B Each other

Look at this example.

Andrew and Jessica help each other with their work. This means that Andrew helps Jessica, and Jessica helps Andrew. Here are some more examples.

Mark and Alan aren't really friends. They don't like each other much.

I'm still in touch with Kirsty. We write to each other.

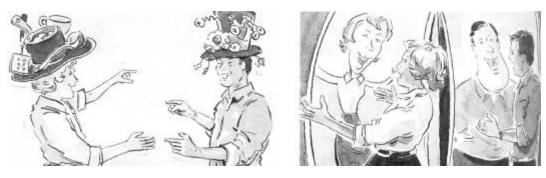

One another has the same meaning.

We send each other/one another Christmas cards every year.

We can also use the possessive form each other's.

Tom and Mark wrote down each other's phone numbers. This means that Tom wrote down Mark's number, and Mark wrote down Tom's number.

Compare each other and themselves.

They're laughing at each other.

They're laughing at themselves.

102 The pronoun one/ones

Introduction

Trevor: Here's that bottle of mineral water you wanted. Laura: Oh, no, you've got a small one. I wanted a big one. Trevor: They didn't have any big ones at the shop on the corner. Laura: That shop never has what I want. Why didn't you go to the one in the High Street?

Here a small one means 'a small bottle', big ones means 'big bottles', and the one in the High Street means 'the shop in the High Street'. We use one for a singular noun and ones for a plural noun. We use one and ones to avoid repeating a noun.

We cannot use one or ones with an uncountable noun, e.g. water. There was no hot water. I had to wash in cold.

B Structures with one/ones

Sometimes we can either put in one/ones or leave it out. These bowls are nice. What about this (one)? We can do this after this, that, these and those; after each or another; after which; or after a superlative, e.g. easiest.

I don't like these sweaters. I prefer those (ones) over there. I tried all three numbers, and each (one) was engaged. The product is available in all these colours. Which (one) would you like? The last question is the most difficult (one).

Sometimes we cannot leave out one/ones.

We cannot leave out one/ones after the or every or after an adjective. The film wasn't as good as the one we saw last week. I rang all the numbers, and every one was engaged. I'd like a box of tissues. A small one, please. I threw away my old trainers and bought some new ones.

C A small one and one

We can say a small one, a red one, etc but NOT a one.

I've been looking for a coat, but I can't find a nice one. I've been looking for a coat, but I can't find one. Here we use one instead of a coat. Here are some more examples.

We decided to take a taxi. Luckily there was one waiting. If you want a ticket, I can get one for you.

Now look at these examples with one, some, it and them.

/ haven't got a passport, but I'll need one.	(one = a passport)
/ haven't got any stamps, but I'll need some.	(some = some stamps)
I've got my passport. They sent it last week.	(it = the passport)

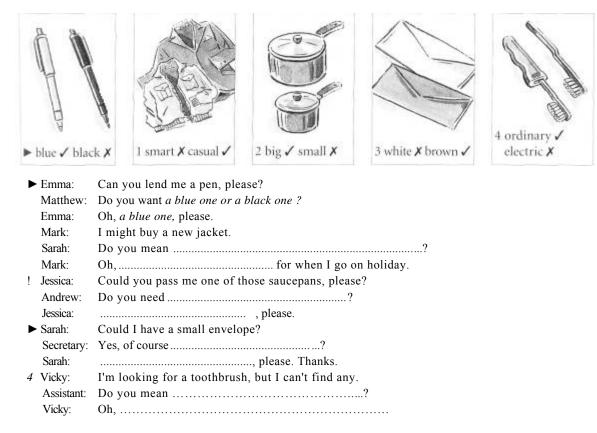

I've got the stamps. I put them in the drawer, (them = the stamps)

One and some/any are like a, but it and they/them are like the. We use one and some/any when we arent saying which, and we use it and they/them to be specific (when we know which).

everyone!everybody = all the peopleeverything = all the thingseverywhere = (in) all the placessomeone/somebody = a personsomething = a thingsomewhere — (in) a placeno one/nobody = no personno thing /'nA0irj/ = no thingsnowhere = (in) no places

Could you do something for me, please?

We can also use words with any in a positive sentence.

In these sentences anyone means 'it doesn't matter who', and anywhere means 'it doesn't matter where'. For more details about any see Unit 94C.

C Singular and plural

We use a singular verb after everyone, something, anything, etc.

Everywhere was very crowded. No one knows how to start the motor. After words with one or body, we normally use they/them/their, even though the verb is singular.

Everyone is having their lunch. Nobody wants to have their coffee yet. We can also use he, she, him, her, his, etc with someone/somebody when we know the person's sex.

D Other structures

After everyone, something, etc we can use an adjective.

Let's go somewhere nice. Is there anything interesting in that magazine? We can also use else.

We always play Scrabble. Let's play something else. {= a different game) Henry wore a suit, but everyone else had jeans on. (= all the other people)

Words ending in one and body have a possessive form (with 's). Someone's cat is on our roof. I need to be informed about everybody's plans.

104 Adjectives

A Introduction

Henry and Claire are having dinner in a quiet restaurant. It's a warm evening. The food is delicious. Henry is feeling romantic.

An adjective is a word like quiet, warm, delicious, romantic. The word quiet describes the restaurant. It tells us what the restaurant is like.

B Word order

There are two places where we can use an adjective: before a noun {a quiet restaurant) and after a linking verb (feeling romantic).

BEFORE A NOUN

Claire's got a new car. It was a dark night. This is good coffee. AFTER A LINKING VERB

Claire's car is new. It was getting dark. This coffee tastes good. Some linking verbs are: appear, be, become, feel, get, look, seem, smell, stay, taste

We can use two or more adjectives together (see Unit 105). It's a quiet little restaurant. Mike was wearing a dirty old coat.

We can put a word like very or quite before an adjective. It was a very dark night. Henry was feeling quite romantic. Very and quite are adverbs of degree (see Unit 115).

c Adjectives used in one position only

We can use most adjectives in both positions - before a noun or after a linking verb. But a few adjectives can go in one position but not in the other.

Here are some examples of adjectives which can only go before a noun. Be careful crossing the main road. The only problem is I've got no money. Chess is an indoor game. The former footballer now trains young players.

Some more examples are: chief (= main), elder (= older), eldest (= oldest), inner, outdoor, outer, principal (= main), upper

Here are some examples of adjectives which can only go after a linking verb. At last the baby is asleep. Emma's two brothers are very alike. I'm really pleased to see you. Vicky looked ill, I thought.

Some more examples are: afraid, alone, ashamed, awake, alive, content (= happy), fine (= in good health), glad, unwell, well

You can eat your meals at the hotel, where the food tastes marvellous. Or you can of course try some of the excellent local restaurants.

B Adjectives and nouns

We sometimes use two nouns together (see Unit 82). a glass door a computer program

Here we use glass like an adjective, to describe the door. When we use another adjective as well (e.g. heavy), it comes before both the nouns. a heavy glass door a useful computer program

108 Adjective or adverb? (1)

A Introduction

Vicky: / like that song that Natasha sang. Rachel: Yes, it's a nice song. And she sang it nicely, too.

An adjective (nice) describes a noun (song).	An adverb (nicely) describes a verb (sang).
The man had a quiet voice.	The man spoke quietly.
Claire wears expensive clothes.	Claire dresses expensively.
The runners made a slow start.	They started the race slowly.
	We do NOT say She sang it nice.

We can use adverbs in other ways. An adverb like really or very can be combined with an adjective (hot) o another adverb (carefully) (see Unit 115).

It was really hot in the sun. Andrew checked his work very carefully. An adverb like fortunately or perhaps says something about the whole situation. Fortunately nothing was stolen. Perhaps Sarah is working late.

B The ly ending

We form many adverbs from an adjective + ly. For example politely, quickly, safely. But there are some special spelling rules.

- 1 We do not leave out e, e.g. nice —> nicely Exceptions are true —> truly, whole —> wholly.
- 2 y—> ily after a consonant, e.g. easy —> easily, lucky —> luckily Also angrily, happily, heavily, etc.
- 3 le —> ly, e.g. possible —> possibly Also comfortably, probably, reasonably, sensibly, terribly, etc.
- 4 ic —. ically, e.g. dramatic —> dramatically Also automatically, scientifically, etc. (Exception: publicly)

C Looked nice and looked carefully

Compare these two structures.

LINKING VERB + ADJECTIVE	ACTION VERB + ADVERB
Tom was hungry.	Paul ate hungrily.
The children seemed happy.	The children played happily.
My soup has got cold.	The man stared coldly at us.
An adjective can come after a linking verb such as	We use an adverb when the verb means that be (see Unit 104B).	something happens.

Some verbs like look, taste and appear can be either linking verbs or action verbs.

LINKING VERB + ADJECTIVE	ACTION VERB + ADVERB
Mike looked angry.	He looked carefully at the signature.
The medicine tasted awful.	Emma tasted the drink nervously.
The man appeared (to he) drunk.	A waiter appeared suddenly.

109 Adjective or adverb? (2)

The ending ly is the normal adverb ending (see Unit 108). But a few adjectives also end in ly. Melanie was very friendly. It was a lively party. We had a lovely time.

Some more examples are: elderly, likely, lonely, silly, ugly

The words are adjectives, not adverbs (NOT She-spoke to us friendly). And we cannot add ly. There is no such word as friendlily. But we can say in a friendly way/manner. She spoke to us in a friendly way. If we need to use an adverb, we often choose another word of similar meaning.

It was lovely. Everything went beautifully.

B Hard, fast, etc

Compare these sentences.

ADJECTIVE	ADVERB
We did some hard work.	We worked hard.
I came on the fast train.	The train went quite fast.

We can use these words both as adjectives and as adverbs:

110 Comparative and superlative forms

We form the comparative and superlative of short adjectives (e.g. cheap) and long adjectives (e.g. expensive) in different ways.

	COMPARATIVE	SUPERLATIVE
Short word, e.g. cheap:	cheaper	(the) cheapest
Long word, e.g. expensive:	more expensive	(the) most expensive

For less and least, see Unit 112A.

There are some less expensive ones here, look.

B Short and long adjectives

One-syllable adjectives (e.g. small, nice) usually have the er, est ending. Your hi-fi is smaller. Emma needs a bigger computer. This is the nicest colour. This room is the warmest.
But we use more, most before words ending in ed. Everyone was pleased at the results, but Vicky was the most pleased.

We also use more, most with three-syllable adjectives (e.g. ex-cit-ing) and with longer ones. The film was more exciting than the book. This dress is more elegant. We did the most interesting project. This machine is the most reliable.

Some two-syllable adjectives have er, est, and some have more, most. Look at this information.

TWO-SYLLABLE ADJECTIVES

- 1 Words ending in a consonant + y have er, est, e.g. happy * happier, happiest. Examples are: busy, dirty, easy, funny, happy, heavy, lovely, lucky, pretty, silly, tidy
- 2 Some words have er, est OR more, most, e.g. narrow ► narrower, narrowest OR more narrow, most namt Examples are: clever, common, cruel, gentle, narrow, pleasant, polite, quiet, simple, stupid, tired
- 3 The following words have more, most, e.g. useful * more useful, most useful.
 - a Words ending in ful or less, e.g. careful, helpful, useful; hopeless
 - b Words ending in ing or ed, e.g. boring, willing; annoyed, surprised
 - c Many others, e.g. afraid, certain, correct, eager, exact, famous, foolish, frequent, modern, nervous, normal, recent

C Spelling

There are some special spelling rules for the er and est endings.

- 1 e -> er, est, e.g. nice ~> nicer, nicest, large ~> larger, largest. Also brave, fine, safe, etc
- 2 y-> ier, iest after a consonant, e.g. happy -> happier, happiest. Also lovely, lucky, pretty, etc
- 3 Words ending in a single vowel letter + single consonant letter -> double the consonant e.g. hot -> hotter, hottest, big -> bigger, biggest. Also fit, sad, thin, wet, etc (but w does not change, e.g. new -> newer)

For more details, see page 371.

D The comparison of adverbs

Some adverbs have the same form as an adjective, e.g. early, fast, hard, high, late, long, near. They form the comparative and superlative with er, est.

Can't you run faster than that? Andrew works the hardest. Note also the spelling of earlier and earliest.

Many adverbs are an adjective + ly, e.g. carefully, easily, nicely, slowly.

They form the comparative and superlative with more, most. We could do this more easily with a computer. Of all the players it was Matthew who planned his tactics the most carefully.

In informal English we use cheaper, cheapest, louder, loudest, quicker, quickest and slower, slowest rather than more cheaply, the most loudly, etc. Melanie reacted the quickest. You should drive slower in fog.

Note the forms sooner, soonest and more often, most often. Try to get home sooner. I must exercise more often.

E Irregular forms

Good, well, bad, badly and far have irregular forms.

ADJECTIVE/ADVERB	COMPARATIVE	SUPERLATIVE
good/well	better	best
bad/badly	worse	worst
far	farther/further	farthest/furthest

You've got the best handwriting. How much further are we going?

We can use elder, eldest + noun instead of older, oldest, but only for people in the same family. My elder/older sister got married last year.

F Comparing quantities

We use more, most and their opposites less and least to compare quantities. I haven't got many books. You've got more than I have. The Hotel Bristol has the most rooms. Trevor spends less on clothes than Laura does. Emma made the least mistakes.

111 Comparative and superlative patterns (1)

A Introduction

There are a number of different sentence patterns with comparative and superlative forms, e.g. older than me, the sweetest man in the world.

B The comparative and than

We often use a phrase with than after a comparative. This restaurant is nicer than the Pizza House. I had a bigger meal than you. The steak is more expensive than the fish.

C The superlative

We normally use the before a superlative.

The quickest way is along this path. The last question is the most difficult. Note the pattern with one of.

Michael Jackson is one of the most famous pop singers ever.

After a superlative we can use in or of. We use in with places and with groups of people, e.g. team.It's the most expensive hotel in Oxford.Who is the best player in the team?This question is the most difficult of all.August is the wettest month of the year.

We often use a clause after a superlative. That was the most delicious meal (that) I've ever eaten. Melanie is the nicest person you could meet.

D As... as

We use as ... as to say that things are equal or unequal. Our house is as big as yours. They're the same size, NOT It is so big as yours. It's warmer today. It isn't as cold as yesterday.

In a negative sentence we can also use so ... as, but this is less common than as ... as. This flat isn't as big as/so big as our old one.

Here are some more examples of as ... as.

The chair is as expensive as the table. We cant do crosswords as quickly as you do. I don't earn as much money as I'd like.

Note also the same as.

The result of the match was the same as last year.

E Than me/than I am

Compare than me and than I am. Both are correct, and they have the same meaning.

You're twenty years older than me. Harriet's husband isn't as tall as her. After than or as, a personal pronoun on its own has the object form, e.g. me. You're twenty years older than I am. Her husband isn't as tall as she is. But if the pronoun has a verb after it, then we us the subject form, e.g. I.

1 The comparative and than (B)

Comment on these situations. Write sentences with a comparative and than. Use these adjectives: big, expensive, long, old, popular, strong, tall

- ? The film lasts two and a half hours, but the videotape is only two hours long. The film is longer than the videotape.
- ? The water-colour is £85, and the oil-painting is £100. The oil-painting is more expensive than the water-colour.
- 1 The church was built in 1878 and the library in 1925.
- 2 Daniel can lift 90 kilos, but Matthew can lift 120 kilos.
- 3 Mike is 1.7 metres tall, but Harriet is 1.8 metres.
- 4 Andrew hasn't many friends. Claire has lots of friends.
- 5 Mark's car has room for five people, but Sarah's has room for only four.

2 The superlative (C)

Write sentences from the notes. Use the superlative form of the adjective.

- Melanie / kind person /1 know
 Melanie is the kindest person I know.
- 1 Friday / busy day / week of the week.
- 2 the Metropole / nice hotel / town
- 3 this watch / one / cheap / you can buy
- 4 this Beatles album / good / they ever made
- 5 Alan / successful salesman / company

3 As... as (D)

Use the notes and add sentences with isn't as ... as.

	a car / a motor bike / expensive
	Why don't you buy a motor bike? A motor bike isn't as expensive as a car.
1	metal / plastic / strong
	I don't like these plastic screws
2	the armchair / the stool / comfortable
	Oh, don't sit there
3	surfing / swimming / exciting
	I prefer surfing to swimming.
4	the post / e-mail / quick
	A letter will take two days

4 Than me/than I am (E)

Choose the correct pronoun.

- Tom: Why is Luke in our basketball team and not me? Aren't I as good as (▶) he/him? Is he taller than (1) I/me? Is he a better player than (2) I am/me am?
- Nick: I don't know. I can't understand why I'm in the team. You and Luke are both better than (3) I/me.
- Tom: Carl's in the team too, but I've scored a lot more points than (4) he has/him has.

112 Comparative and superlative patterns (2)

A Less and least

Less and least are the opposites of more and most. We use less and least with both long and short words. A bus is less expensive than a taxi.

(= A bus is cheaper than a taxi./A bus isn't as expensive as a taxi.) I feel better today, less tired. I'm the least musical person in the world, I'm afraid. We go out less often these days. You should do less work. You do too much.

B Much faster

We can put a word or phrase (e.g. much, far, a bit) before a comparative to say how much faster, cheaper, etc something is. Look at these examples.

It's much faster by tube. A bus is far cheaper than a taxi. This bed is a bit more comfortable. Business is rather better this year. I got up a little later than usual. This month's figures are slightly less good. I'll need a lot more water. A computer will do it much more efficiently. Before a comparative we can use much, a lot, far; rather; slightly, a bit, a little.

We can also use no and any. No has a negative meaning. Your second throw at the basket was no nearer than your first.

We can use any in negatives and questions and with if. Your second throw wasn't any nearer than your first. Are you sleeping any better since you've been taking the pills? If we leave any later than seven, we'll get caught in the rush hour.

C Faster and faster

We use expressions like faster and faster and more and more expensive to say that something is increasing all the time.

The caravan was rolling faster and faster down the hill.

The queue was getting longer and longer.

Prices go up and up. Everything gets more and more expensive.

The crowd are becoming more and more excited.

The country is rapidly losing its workers, as more and more people are emigrating.

The form depends on whether the comparative is with er (e.g. louder) or with more (e.g. more expensive (see Unit 110B).

We can also use less and less for something decreasing. As each new problem arose, we felt less and less enthusiastic.

D The faster, the better

We use this pattern to say that a change in one thing goes with a change in another. Look at these example-There's no time to lose. The faster you drive, the better. The higher the price, the more reliable the product.

The more the customer complained, the ruder and more unpleasant the manager became. The sooner we leave, the sooner we'll get there. Are you looking for a cheap holiday? ~ Yes, the cheaper the better.

113 Adverbs and word order

A Where do adverbs go?

There are three places in the sentences where an adverb can go. They are called front position (at the beginning of a sentence), mid position (see B) and end position (at the end of a sentence). (But for adverbs of degree see Unit 115.)

FRONT		MID		END
Then	the ship	slowly	sailed	away.
Outside	it was	obviously	raining	hard.

B Mid position

Mid position means close to the verb. Here are some examples of adverbs in mid position.

	AUXILIARY	ADVERB	AUXILIARY	MAIN VfcRB
The visitors	are	just		leaving.
Andrew	has	always		liked	Jessica.
We	don't	often		go	out in the evening.
You	should	never		take	unnecessary risks.
The pictures	have	definitely	been	stolen.
Ι		really		hate	housework.
You		probably		left	the bag on the bus.

The adverb comes after the first auxiliary, e.g. are, has, don't. If there is no auxiliary, then the adverb comes before the main verb, e.g. hate, left.

Note the word order in questions.

Has Andrew always liked Jessica? Do you often go out in the evening?

When the verb be is on its own, the adverb usually comes after it. The boss is usually in a bad temper. You're certainly a lot better today.

When there is stress on the main verb be or on the auxiliary, then the adverb usually comes before it. You certainly are a lot better today. I really have made a mess, haven't I?

C Verb and object

An adverb does not usually go between the verb and the direct object. We put it in end position, after the object.

	VERB	OBJECT	ADVERB
Tom	ate	his breakfast	quickly.	NOT Tom ate quickly his' breakfast.
We	played	volleyball	yesterday,	NOT We played yesterday volleyball.
Ι	like	classical music	very much,	NOT Hike very much classical music .

But an adverb can go before a long object.

Detectives examined carefully the contents of the dead man's pockets.

D Adverbs of manner

An adverb of manner tells us how something happens, e.g. noisily, quickly. It usually goes in end position, but an adverb which ends in ly can sometimes go in mid position. We asked permission politely. We politely asked permission.

E Adverbs of place and time

Adverbs and adverbial phrases of place and time usually go in end position. *Is there a phone box nearby? People didn't have cars then. We're meeting by the entrance. Trevor wasn't very well last week. Did you have a nice time in New York? I'll see you before very long.*Sometimes they can go in front position.

We're really busy this week. Last week we had nothing to do.

Some short adverbs of time can also go in mid position. I'll soon find out. The train is now approaching Swindon. For yet, still and already see Unit 114.

F Adverbs of frequency

An adverb of frequency tells us 'how often'. It usually goes in mid position (see B). Mark is always in such a hurry. I sometimes feel depressed.

I've often thought about getting married. Do you usually work so late? Normally, usually, often, sometimes and occasionally can also go in front or end position.

Normally Sarah goes by train. 1 feel depressed sometimes.

Phrases like every day, once a week or most evenings go in front or end position.
Every day we go logging. Rachel has a driving lesson three times a week. There's a news summary every hour. We watch television most evenings.

G Sentence adverbs

A sentence adverb is a word or phrase like certainly, perhaps, luckily, of course. It says something about the situation described in the sentence. The adverb can go in front, mid or end position. Sometimes we put a comma after or before the adverb, especially in front or end position.

Fortunately, the weather stayed fine. Maybe you'll win a free holiday.

We'll probably have to queue for tickets. Rachel was late, of course. In a negative sentence, probably and certainly come before won't, didn't, etc.

We probably won't get there in time. I certainly didn't expect a present!

Also usually goes in mid position, but too and as well go in end position. Melanie bakes lovely cakes. She also makes bread./She makes bread, too/as well.

H End position

There can be more than one adverb or adverbial phrase in end position. Usually a single-word adverb (e.g. safely) comes before a phrase (e.g. on a small airfield).

They landed safely on a small airfield. I always eat here at lunch-time.

When there is a close link in meaning between a verb and an adverb, then that adverb goes next to the verb. For example, with verbs of movement like go, come and move, a phrase of place comes before time.

I usually go to bed early. Tom came here yesterday. My parents moved to London in 1993.

But often two adverbial phrases can go in either order. The concert was held at the arts centre last night. The concert was held last night at the arts centre.

114 Yet, still and already

Yet means that we are expecting something. (It's the time to book a holiday.) Still means 'going on longer than expected'. (It's late to be thinking about a holiday.) Already means 'sooner than expected'. (It's early to have had a holiday.)

B Yet

Yet usually goes at the end of a negative statement or a question. Vicky has got a present, but she hasn't opened it yet. Wait a minute. I'm not ready yet. Have they sent you your cheque yet? ~ No, not yet. I should get it next week.

C Still and already

In a positive statement, still and already usually go in mid position (see Unit 113B). Sarah isn't home yet. She's still at work. We wrote a month ago, and we're still waiting for a reply. I've only been at work an hour, and I'm already exhausted. There's no need to tell me. I already know.

We can also use still in a negative statement. It goes before haven't, can't, etc. It's nearly lunch-time, and you still haven't opened your mail. My friend is sixteen, and she still can't swim. Compare these sentences. The meanings are similar.

Rita hasn't booked a holiday yet. Rita still hasn't booked a holiday. Still is stronger than yet. It often expresses surprise that the situation has gone on for so long.

In a question still and already usually go after the subject. Are you still waiting after all this time? Has Tom already been on holiday?

D No longer and any longer/any more

No longer means that something is finished. It goes in mid position (see Unit 113B). You can't buy these bikes now. They no longer make them. I used to belong to the sports club, but I'm no longer a member.

No longer can be a little formal. In informal speech we use not... any longer or not... anymore. They don't make these bikes any longer/any more. Rita has moved. She doesn't live here any longer/any more. Any longer/any more comes at the end.

12A Yet and already with the present perfect

1 Yet, still and already (A)

115 Adverbs of degree, e.g. very, quite

Laura is a bit tired. She's been working all morning.

Mark is quite tired. He's been working all day.

Sarah is very tired. She's had to work late at the office.

An adverb of degree makes the meaning weaker or stronger. Here are some more examples.

SMALL DECREE (weaker) a little late slightly complicated MEDIUM DEGREE fairly unusual pretty good rather nice LARGE DEGREE (stronger) absolutely sure really ill completely mad extremely cold

B Very cold, quite quickly, etc

An adverb of degree (e.g. very) goes before an adjective (e.g. cold) or an adverb (e.g. quickly).

ADVERB + ADJECTIVE It's very cold today. Rita looked rather upset. This dress is absolutely marvellous. ADVERB + ADVERB

The time passed quite quickly. We go on holiday fairly soon. United played extremely well.

Before a comparative we can use a bit, a little, a lot, far, much, rather and slightly. See also Unit 112B. I'm feeling a lot better today. These new trains go much faster.

C Really hurting, quite enjoys, etc

Some adverbs of degree can describe a verb.

They usually go in mid position (close to the verb — see Unit 113B).

My foot is really hurting. Laura quite enjoys shopping. I rather like this cake. Some adverbs of degree go at the end ol a sentence when they describe a verb. They are a bit, a little, a lot, awfully, much and terribly.

Mark travels a lot. I'll open the window a little. The animals suffer terribly.

Absolutely, completely and totally can go in mid position or at the end. We completely lost our way/We lost our way completely. I'm afraid I totally disagree./I'm afraid I disagree totally.

D Much

Now look at these sentences.

Positive: I like this town very much, NOT Hike this town much Negative: / don't like this town very much, OR I don't like this town much. In a positive statement we use very much. In a negative statement we can use either very much or much.

116 Quite and rather

A Quite meaning 'fairly'

Quite usually means 'fairly' or 'a medium amount' (see Unit 115A). I jeel quite hungry now. Repairing the machine is quite difficult. The talk was quite interesting. We were quite surprised at the result.
(But see D for another meaning of quite.)

B Stress with quite

In speech, whether we stress quite or the adjective makes a difference to the meaning.

If we stress quite, it means 'fairly but not very'. The meaning is negative. The exhibition was quite good, but I've seen better ones. I get up quite early, but not as early as you do. If we stress the adjective, the meaning is positive (but not as positive as very). The exhibition was quite good. I enjoyed looking round it. I got up quite early. I had a lot of jobs to do.

C Quite or rather?

When we make a favourable comment, we usually say quite, not rather. The book was quite interesting. It's quite warm now. It was quite nice walking through the park.

In unfavourable comments, we usually say rather, but quite is possible. The book was rather boring/quite boring. It was rather awkward/quite awkward taking my suitcase on the underground.

Rather in a favourable comment means 'to a surprising or unusual degree'. It's rather warm for October. (It isn't usually so warm.) / didn't know David can cook. He's rather good at it. I expect Tom's jokes were awful. ~ Actually they were rather funny.

We can use rather with a comparative but not quite. The meal took rather longer than we expected.

We can use the adverb ago to talk about a past time measured from the present. Six months ago means six months before now. I passed my driving test six months ago. NOT since six months Vicky wrote to the company weeks ago. David first met Melanie a long time ago.

Have you seen Emma? ~ Yes, just a few minutes ago. We put ago after the phrase of time, NOT ago-six months

D Before with the past perfect

127 Phrasal verbs (1)

A Introduction

A phrasal verb is a verb + adverb, e.g. come in, sit down, take off. There are very many phrasal verbs in English.

Here are some adverbs which are used in phrasal verbs: about, along, around, away, back, behind, by, down, forward, in, off, on, out, over, round, through, up

Some of these words can also be prepositions. For prepositional verbs see Unit 126.

B Understanding phrasal verbs

Some phrasal verbs are easy to understand.

Tom asked Melanie to come in. The man in front turned round and stared at me. The meanings are clear if you know the words come, in, turn and round.

But many phrasal verbs are idiomatic. The verb + adverb has a special meaning. Fortunately the plan came off. (= succeeded) Why did you turn down such a good offer? (= refuse) I can't make out if it's a man or a woman over there. (= see clearly)

Sometimes a phrasal verb has the same meaning as a one-word verb.

find out - discover	leave out — omit	send out — distribute
go back = return	make up = invent (a story)	throw away = discard
$go \ on = \text{continue}$	put off — postpone	turn up — arrive

The phrasal verb is usually more informal than the one-word verb.

C Word order with phrasal verbs

When a phrasal verb has an object, the object can go either before or after the adverb.

	VERB	OBJECT	ADVERB		VERB	ADVERB	OBJECT
Melanie	took	her coat	off.	OR Melanie	took	off	her coat.
Ι	wrote	the number	down.	OR I	wrote	down	the number.
Who	let	the cat	out?	OR Who	let	out	the cat?

A long object goes after the adverb.

The gang have carried out a number of bank raids in the last few months. Why don't you try on that dress in the window?

A pronoun (e.g. it, them) always goes before the adverb.

Melanie felt hot in her coat, so she took it off. NOT She too off it. There have been a number of raids. The police know who carried them out. NOT The police know who caried out them.

132 Direct speech and reported speech

Direct speech

Look at these examples of direct speech.

Trevor: I'm tired.

Wasn't it Greta Garbo who said, 7 want to be alone'?

'But I don't love you, Henry,' replied Claire.

We can show that words are direct speech by putting them in quotation marks ("). See page 373. Sometimes the words are put after the speaker's name, in the script of a play or film, for example. In a picture we can put the words in a speech bubble.

supermarket owner Ron Mason have announced that they are getting married next month. Melissa is sure they will be happy together, she told reporters.

B Reported speech

In reported speech we give the meaning of what was said rather than The actress Melissa Livingstone and the exact words.

Trevor says he's tired.

Wasn't it Greta Garbo who said that she wanted to be alone?

Claire replied that she didn't love Henry.

In reported speech we often change the actual words, e.g. 'I'm tired' -> he's tired. Sometimes the verb tense changes, e.g. / want -> she wanted (see Unit 134).

In reporting we use verbs such as announce, answer, explain, mention, promise, reply, say, suggest, tell. warn. The most common of these are say and tell (see C). We can also report thoughts. We think the meal was expensive. Nick knew Rita wanted to be with someone else.

When we report statements, we often use that, but we can sometimes leave it out. You promised (that) you wouldn't be late. Sarah was saying (that) there's a problem.

C Tell or say?

TELI

We use tell if we want to mention the hearer (the person spoken to).

Sarah's boss told her she could leave early. NOT -Sarah's boss told she could leave early. Daniel tells me he's ready. We use tell without an indirect object (e.g. her, me) only in the expressions tell a story, tell the truth and tell a lie.

SAY

When we do not mention the hearer, we use say.

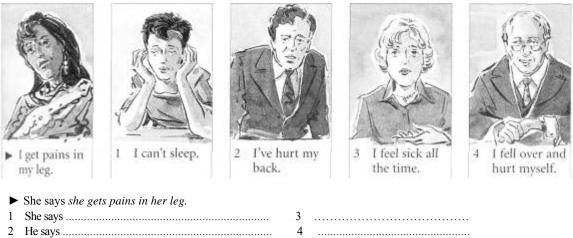

Sarah's boss said she could leave early. NOT Sarah's boss said her she could leave early. Daniel says he's ready.

We sometimes use to after say, especially when the words are not reported.

The boss wanted to say something to Sarah. What did Matthew say to you?

1 Reported speech (B)

Why are these people at the doctor's? What do they say is wrong with them?

Reported speech (B)

Who said what? Match the words to the people and report what they said. If you can't match them, look at the answers at the bottom of the page.

Mrs Thatcher
Stokeley Carmichael
Galileo
Shakespeare
George Orwell
a) 'All the world's a stage.'
b) 'Black is beautiful'
c) 'Big Brother is watching you.'
d) 'There is no such thing as society.'
e) 'The earth moves round the sun.'

▶ Mrs Thatcher said that there is no such thing as society.

Tell or say? (C)

Put in tell or say.

- ? All the experts say the earth is getting warmer.
- ? Did you tell Mark and Sarah how to find our house?
- 1 The Sales Manager is going to..... everyone about the meeting.

133 Reported speech: person, place and time

A Introduction

It's Friday afternoon. David is at Tom's flat. Tom has decided to have a party for all his friends.

A few minutes later Nick has arrived at the flat. Now David is reporting what Tom said. So instead of Tom's words I'm having, David says he's having.

The next day David is talking to Harriet. Now David is in a different place from where Tom first told him about the party. So instead of here, he says at his flat. And a day has passed since he first heard about it. It is now the day of the party. So instead of tomorrow evening, David says this evening.

B Changes in reported speech

Changes from direct speech to reported speech depend on changes in the situation. We may have to make changes when we are reporting something another person has said, or when we report it in a different place or at a different time. Here are some typical changes.

Person	1 my	he/she his/her
Place:	here	there, at the flat
Time:	now	then, at the time
	today	that day, on Monday, etc
	yesterday	the day before, the previous day tomorrow	the next/following day, on Saturday, etc
	this week	that week
	last week an	the week before, the previous week hour ago	an hour before/earlier

1 Changes in reported speech (A-B)

Read what each person says and then complete the sentences.

- ► Vicky: Daniel told me on Friday that he'd had a job interview the previous day. Daniel had a job interview on Thursday.
- 1 Trevor: Laura tells me I need a haircut.
 - needs a haircut.
- 2 Claire: My brother told me in 1997 that he expected to become Manager the following year. Claire's brother expected that he would become Manager in
- 3 Alice: I wanted to see Mark in April, but he said he was very busy that month. Mark was very busy in
- 4 Harriet: I saw Nick last week. He said he'd given up smoking the week before. Nick gave up smoking ago.

2 Changes of person (A-B)

Put in the missing words.

3 Changes of place and time (A-B)

Put in here, that day, the day before, the next day, the week before. ►

Rachel (a week ago): I'm taking my driving test tomorrow.

	You (today):	When I saw Rachel, she said she was taking her driving test the next day
1	Emma (two days ago):	I've only had this new computer since yesterday.
	You (today):	Emma said she'd only had the new computer since
2	Matthew (a week ago):	I'm meeting a friend at the station later today.
	You (today):	Matthew said he was meeting a friend at the station later
3	Mark (in the street):	I'll see you in the office.
	You (in the office):	Mark said he would see me
4	Sarah (a month ago):	The conference was last week.
	You (today):	Sarah told me the conference had taken place

134 Reported speech: the tense change

A When do we change the tense?

After a past-tense verb (e.g. said), there is often a tense change. 'It really is cold today.' —> Vicky said it was cold.

If the statement is still up to date when we report it, then we have a choice. We can either leave the tense the same, or we can change it.

You said you like/liked chocolate. Claire told me her father owns/owned a racehorse. Sarah said she's going/she was going to Rome in April. We can say that Sarah is going to Rome because it is still true that she will go there.

If the statement is no longer up to date, then we change the tense. Claire once told me that her father owned a racehorse. (He may no longer own one.) Sarah said she was going to Rome in April (Now it is May.) Now Sarah's trip is over, so it is no longer true that she is going to Rome.

We usually change the tense if we think the statement is untrue or may be untrue. You said you liked chocolate, but you aren't eating any. The Prime Minister claimed that the government had made the right decision.

B Is -> was, like -> liked, etc

Look at these examples of the tense change.

DIRECT SPEECH	REPORTED SPEECH
Andrew is working.'	Jessica said Andrew was working.
'The windows aren't locked.'	Mark told me the windows weren't locked.
'I've fixed the shelves.'	Trevor said he'd fixed the shelves.
'Ifs been raining.'	We noticed it had been raining.
'We've got plenty of time.'	Rachel insisted they had plenty of time.
'We like the flat.'	The'couple said they liked the flat.

If the verb phrase is more than one word (e.g. is working), then the first word changes, e.g. is workings* was working, have fixed had fixed, don't know ~* didn't know. If the verb is already in the past tense, then it can stay the same or change to the past perfect.

'We came by car.'They said they came/they had come by car.'Sorry. I wasn't listening!/ admitted I wasn't listening/hadn't been listening. If the verb is past perfect, it stays the same.

'My money had run out' Daniel said his money had run out.

C Modal verbs: can \rightarrow could, etc

Can, may and will change to could, might and would.

'You can sit over there.'	The steward said we could sit here.
'I may go to Bali again.'	Claire said she might go to Bali again.
' I'll help if you like.'	Tom said he would help.

Could, might, ought to, should and would stay the same. But must can change to have to.

'Sarah would love a holiday.'	Mark thought Sarah would love a holiday.
'I must finish this report.'	Sarah said she must finish/had to finish the report.

In a reported question the subject comes before the verb, as in a statement. Guy asked Melissa when she started acting. NOT Guy asked Melissa when did she start acting. Someone was wondering if the taxi has arrived yet. NOT Someone was wondering if has the taxi arrived yet.

Asking for information

To ask politely for information, we sometimes use a reported question after a phrase like Could you tell me ... ? or Do you know ... ?

Could you tell me what time the concert starts? Do you know if there's a public phone in the building? Have you any idea how much a taxi would cost? Note the word order a taxi would cost (see C).

The tense change: is \longrightarrow was, etc

In reported speech there are often changes to the tense, to pronouns and so on. This depends on changes to the situation since the words were spoken. For details see Units 133 and 134. Here are some examples of the tense change.

'Whafs the problem?' 'How	We asked what the problem was.

137 Relative clauses with who, which and that

A Introduction

Emma:/ saw Natalie the other day.Melanie:Natalie? The girl who plays the piano?Emma:No, that's Natasha. Natalie is the student who dropped out of college, the one who never did any studying. She's working in Davidson's now, the shop that sells very expensive clothes.

The relative clauses in this conversation identify which person or thing we are talking about. The clause who plays the piano tells us which girl Melanie means. The clause that sells very expensive clothes tells us which shop Emma means.

Sometimes we can use an adjective or a phrase to identify someone or something.Adjective:the tall girlthe new studentthe red carPhrase:the man in the suitthe shop on the cornerthe woman with red hairBut when we need a longer explanation, we can use a relative clause.Relative clause:the woman who gets up earlythe car that broke down

B Who, which and that

The relative pronouns who, which and that go after the noun and at the beginning of the relative clause.

Who refers to people.

Nick is the man who owns that enormous dog. I don't like people who tell jokes all the time. The little girl who sat next to me on the coach ate sweets the whole way. Sarah is pretty annoyed with the person who stole her mobile phone. We can also use that, but it is less usual.

Jake is the man that plays the guitar. The woman that lived here before us is a romantic novelist.

That and which refer to things. That is more usual than which, especially in conversation. The car that won the race looked very futuristic, didn't it? They've recaptured all the animals that escaped from the zoo. The children saw the actual spacecraft that landed on the moon.

Which can be a little formal.

There are several restaurants which do Sunday lunches. Is Zedco the company which was taken over last year?

We do not use another pronoun like he or it with the relative pronoun. NOT the man whohe owns that enormouts dog NOT the actual spacecraft that it landed on the moon

In all these sentences who, which and that are the subject of the relative clause. For who, which and that as object, see Units f 38 and f 39.

1 Identifying (A)

Look at the information and identify which one is meant.

Use the shortest way of identifying where possible, e.g. the tall boy, not the boy who is tall.

the tall boy

the man with a beard

the woman who plays golf

- ? the boy (he is tall)
- ? the man (he has a beard)
- ? the woman (she plays golf)
- 1 the young man (he is at the door)
- 2 the man (he plays his stereo at night)
- 3 the woman (she is very thin)
- 4 the girl (she has green eyes)
- 5 the young woman (she is in the office)
- 6 the man (he drives a taxi)
- 7 the young man (he is smart)
- 8 the student (she failed all her exams)

2 Who, which and that (B)

Complete the conversation. Put in who, which or that. There is always more than one possible answer. Emma: Shall we have something to eat?

Matthew: Yes, but not here. I don't like cafes (►) that don't have chairs. I'm not one of those people (►) who can eat standing up.

Emma: There's another restaurant over there.

 Matthew:
 It looks expensive, one of those places (1).....charge very high prices. The only customers (2)...... can afford to eat there are business executives (3)...... get their expenses paid. Anyway, I can't see a menu. I'm not going into a restaurant (4)...... doesn't display a menu.

 Emma:
 We just passed a cafe (5)...... does snacks.

- Matthew: Oh, I didn't like the look of that.
- Emma: You're one of those people (6)are never satisfied, aren't you?

3 Relative clauses (A-B)

Combine the information to make news items. Make the sentence in brackets into a relative clause with who or which. Start each sentence with the, e.g. The man ...

- A man has gone to prison. (He shot two policemen.) The man who shot two policemen has gone to prison.
- 1 A bomb caused a lot of damage. (It went off this morning.)
- 2 A scientist has won the Nobel Prize. (He discovered a new planet.)

138 The relative pronoun as object

A Subject and object

Harriet is showing David her holiday photos.

Harriet: That's an old castle that we visited on holiday. And those are some people we met, a couple who were staying at the campsite.

David: Mm. They look very friendly.

A relative pronoun such as who or that can be the subject of a relative clause.

Harriet talked to a couple who were staying at the camp-site. (Theyi were staying at the camp-site.)

The postcard that came this morning was from Harriet. (

It came this morning.)

A relative pronoun can also be the object of a relative clause. Mike and Harriet are visiting a woman who they met on holiday.

(They met her on holiday.)

The old castle that we visited was really interesting.

(We visited it.)

We do not use another pronoun like her or it with the relative pronoun. NOT a woman who they met her NOT the old castle that we visited it

B Leaving out the relative pronoun

We can leave out the relative pronoun when it is the object of the relative clause. We do this especially in spoken English. Compare these examples.

WITH OBJECT PRONOUN	WITHOUT OBJECT PRONOUN
The man who Vicky saw at the concert is Sarah's	The man Vicky saw at the concert is Sarah's boss.	boss.
That's an old castle that we visited.	That's an old castle we visited.

Here are some more examples of relative clauses without an object pronoun. We don't know the name of the person the police are questioning. The cakes Melanie baked were delicious. That jacket you're wearing is falling to pieces, Mike.

Remember that we cannot leave out a pronoun when it is the subject of a relative clause. The man who spoke to Vicky is Sarah's boss.

C Who and whom

In formal English, whom is sometimes used when the object of the relative clause is a person. The person who/whom the police were questioning has now been released. But in conversation whom is not very common.

i Subject and object (A)

Comment on the conversations. Add a sentence with who or that as the subject of the underlined part.

- ► She's Tom's new girlfriend. ~ Who is? ~ That girl. She just said hello. That's right. The girl who just said hello is Tom's new girlfriend.

- 3 Greenway Supermarket. You can trust it.
- 4 'Cool' magazine. Young people read it.
- 5 Jupiter chocolates. You'll love them.

3 Leaving out the relative pronoun (B)

Look carefully at these sentences. Are they correct without a relative pronoun? Where you see *, you may need to put in who, which or that. Write the sentences and put in a pronoun only if you have to.

- ? The man * paid for the meal was a friend of Tom's. The man who paid for the meal was a friend of Tom's.
- ? The meeting * Mark had to attend went on for three hours. The meeting Mark had to attend went on for three hours.

139 Prepositions in relative clauses

Introduction

A relative pronoun (e.g. that) can be the object of a preposition (e.g. for).

This is the bus that I've been waiting for.

I've been waiting for the bus.

The restaurant that we normally go to is closed today.

We normally go to the restaurant.

In informal spoken English we normally put the preposition at the end of the relative clause. Compare the word order.

STATEMENT

I've been waiting for the bus. We go to the restaurant.

RELATIVE CLAUSE the bus that I've been waiting for the restaurant that we go to

We do not use another pronoun like it or her after the preposition. NOT the restaurant that we go to it NOT someone who / work with her

B Leaving out the pronoun

We often leave out the relative pronoun when it is the object of a preposition.

WITH OBJECT PRONOUN

The bus that I'm waiting for is late. Is this the article which you were interested in? That's the man who I was talking about. WITHOUT OBJECT PRONOUN

The bus I'm waiting for is late. Is this the article you were interested in? That's the man I was talking about.

Here are some more examples of relative clauses without an object pronoun. / cant remember the name of the hotel we stayed at. This is the colour we've finally decided on. The shop I got my stereo from has lots of bargains.

C A preposition at the beginning

These examples are typical of formal English.

Was that the restaurant to which you normally go?

Electronics is a subject about which I know very little.

The Sales Manager is the person from whom I obtained the figures. Here the preposition comes at the beginning of the relative clause, before which or whom.

We cannot put a preposition before that or who.

a subject (that) I know little about NOT a subject about that I know little the person (who) I got the figures from NOT the person from who I got the figures

138C Whom

1 A preposition at the end (A-B)

140 Relative structures with whose, what and it

A Whose

Vicky: What I'd really like is a job in television. Daniel: The other day I met a man whose sister works in television. Vicky: Who? What's her name? Daniel: Oh, I don't know. She's the woman whose car Tom crashed into.

Here whose sister means his sister (the sister of the man Daniel met), and whose car means her car (the car belonging to the woman). Here are some more examples.

Someone whose bicycle had been stolen was reporting it to the police.

Wayne Johnson is the man whose goal won the game for United.

We use whose mainly with people, e.g. someone, the man. But sometimes it goes with other nouns. Which is the European country whose economy is growing the fastest? Round the corner was a building whose windows were all broken. Melanie was looking after a dog whose leg had been broken in an accident.

B What

We use the relative pronoun what without a noun in front of it. The shop didn't have what I wanted. (= the thing that I wanted) What we saw gave us quite a shock. (= the thing that we saw)

We can also use what to give emphasis to a word or phrase, to make it more important. Compare these examples.

NEUTRAL

Rachel's stereo kept me awake. Vicky is looking for a job in television. I want to make a fresh start. They booked a holiday together.

EMPHATIC

What kept me awake was Rachel's stereo. What Vicky is looking for is a job in television. What I want to do is make a fresh start. What they did was book a holiday together.

C It

We also use it + be + a relative clause to give emphasis.

UTRAL	EMPHATIC
Tom had an accident.	It was Tom who had an accident (not David).
The computer gives me a headache.	It's the computer that gives me a headache.
I'm eating chocolate cake.	It's chocolate cake (that) I'm eating.
Mike's uncle died on Thursday.	It was on Thursday that Mike's uncle died.

We must put in a pronoun when it is the subject of the relative clause (e.g. who had an accident). If it is the object (e.g. that I'm eating), then we can leave it out (see Unit 138B).

1 Who or whose? (A)

You are reading a crime story. One of these people has murdered the industrialist Colin Howard. Look at the detective's notes and write a sentence about each person. Use a relative clause with who or whose.

141 The use of relative clauses

A Introduction

There are two kinds of relative clause. Compare this conversation and newspaper report.

Laura: Art Golding has died. Trevor: Who? Laura: You know. The film star who played the ship's captain in 'Iceberg'. Trevor: / don't think I've seen that. Laura: Yes, you have. It's the film we saw on TV the other night.

The clauses in this conversation identify which film star and which film Laura means. They are called identifying clauses.

ART GOLDING DIES

The actor Art Golding, who starred in films such as 'Tornado' and 'Iceberg', has died after a long illness. He was seventy-eight. Art Golding's most famous role was as the scientist in the film 'Supernova', which broke all box-office records.

The clauses in this report add information about Art Golding and about 'Supernova'. They are called adding clauses, or sometimes non-identifying clauses.

ADDING

Jake, who lives next door to Melanie, is rather strange. The Wye (which flows through Hereford) is a beautiful river.

This famous picture - which was damaged during the war - is worth thousands of pounds.

These clauses add extra information about something which is already identified. The clause who lives next door to Melanie adds information about Jake. But we can say the sentence on its own without the relative clause. Jake is rather strange makes sense because the name Jake identifies who we are talking about.

An adding clause has commas around it. Instead of commas, we can use brackets () or dashes —. If the adding clause is at the end of the sentence, we need only one comma or dash. That's Jake, who lives next door.

Adding clauses can be rather formal. We use them mainly in writing. They are common in news reports. In speech we often use two short sentences. Jake lives next door to Melanie. He's rather strange.

B Identifying clauses and adding clauses

IDENTIFYING

The man who lives next door to Melanie is rather strange. The river which flows through Hereford is the Wye. The picture which was damaged is worth thousands of pounds.

These clauses identify which thing the speaker is talking about. The clause who lives next door to Melanie tells us which man. The clause which flows through Hereford tells us which river. Without the relative clause the sentence would be incomplete. The man is rather strange makes sense only if we know which man.

An identifying clause does not have commas around it.

Most relative clauses are identifying. We use them both in speech and in writing.

1 Adding clauses (A)

Match the parts and write sentences with an adding clause. Use who or which.

1 2 3	The Grand Canyon Nelson Mandela John Lennon The Titanic Queen Victoria	He was in prison for 27 years. He was killed in 1980. It is 140 million miles away. It is over 200 miles long. It sank in 1912.	He was one of the Beatles. He became President of South Africa. It is one of the wonders of the world. It is known as the red planet. It stood for 28 years.

5 6	Mars The Berlin Wall	It was built in 1961. She came to the throne in 1837.	It was supposed to be unsinkable. She ruled over the British Empire.

- 1 2 3
- 2 Identifying or adding? (B)

Read the news article and then say what each relative clause does. Does it tell us which one, or does it add information?

The play (\blacktriangleright) that the students put on last week was Oscar Wilde's 'The Importance of Being Earnest' (\blacktriangleright) which was written in 1895. The college theatre, (1) which holds over 400 people, was unfortunately only half full for the Friday evening performance. However, the people (2) who bothered to attend must have been glad they did. Lucy Kellett, (3) who played Lady Bracknell, was magnificent. Unfortunately the young man (4) who played lohn Worthing forgot his lines twice, but that did not spoil the evening, (5) which was a great success.

?	It tells us which play.

?	It adds information about 'The Importance of Being Earnest'.

3 Commas in relative clauses (B)

Put in the relative clauses. You may also need to put in one or two commas.

- ? (that Claire drives) This car is a lot cheaper than the one that Claire drives
- ? (who has twins) Olivia, who has twins, often needs a babysitter.
- 2 (who has a bad temper) Henry.....shouted at the waiter.
- 3 (which Tom supports) The teamis United.
- 4 (who is afraid of heights) We all climbed up except Vicky
- 6 (she bought the sofa from) Sarah can't remember the name of the shop.....

142 Relative pronouns and relative adverbs

A Pronouns in identifying and adding clauses

There are two kinds of relative clause: identifying and adding (see Unit 141). Look at the pronouns in these examples.

IDENTIFYING

I'm sure I know the person who served us. The pop singer whom Guy invited onto his chat show never turned up. The woman whose flat was burgled spent the night at a friend's house. Towns which/that attract tourists are usually crowded in the summer. In an identifying clause we can use who, whom,

ADDING

Natalie, who served us, is a friend of Emma's. Arlene Black, whom Guy invited onto his chat show, never turned up. Natasha, whose flat was burgled, spent the night at a friend's house. Oxford, which attracts many tourists, is often crowded in the summer. In an adding clause we can use who, whom, whose or which. We do NOT use that.

B Leaving out the pronoun whose, which or that.

Sometimes we can leave the pronoun out of an identifying clause (see Unit 138B).

The woman (who) you met yesterday works in advertising.

Have you seen the book (that) I was reading?

Laura couldn't find the box (that) she kept her photos in.

C The relative adverbs where, when and why

Look at these examples.

This is the place where the accident happened. Do you remember the day when we moved the piano upstairs? The reason why Nick came was that he wanted to see Rita. We can leave out when or why, or we can use that. Do you remember the day (that) we moved the piano upstairs? The reason (that) Nick came was that he wanted to see Rita.

There are also adding clauses with where and when. We went to the Riverside Restaurant, where I once had lunch with Henry. Mark likes to travel at night, when the roads are quiet.

D A special use of which

In an adding clause, we can use which relating to a whole sentence, not just to a noun. It rained all night, which was good for the garden. Here which means 'the fact that it rained all night'.

Here are some more examples.

David helped me clear up, which was very kind of him. Sarah had to work late again, which annoyed Mark. Tom pushed Nick into the swimming-pool, which seemed to amuse everyone.

We cannot leave the pronoun out of an adding clause.

Sarah, whom you met yesterday, works in advertising. That book 'Brighton Rock', which I was reading, is really good.

Laura had a wooden box, in which she kept her photos OR which she kept her photos in.

1 Who, whom, whose, which, where and why (A, C)

Complete this advertisement. Put in who, whom, whose, which, where or why.

The town of Keswick, (\triangleright) which lies at the heart of the Lake District, is the perfect place for a holiday, and the Derwent Hotel, (1)..... overlooks the town, is the perfect place to stay. Robin and Wendy Jackson, (2)..... bought this small hotel three years ago, have already won an excellent reputation. Robin, (3)..... cooking is one of the reasons (4)..... the Derwent is so popular, was once Young Chef of the Year. The comfort of the guests, (5)..... the owners treat almost as members of the family, always comes first. Peter Ustinov, (6)..... has so much wonderful scenery and (8)..... the poet Wordsworth lived, will not disappoint you.

2 Identifying clauses and adding clauses (A-C)

Put in the relative clauses. Sometimes there is more than one possible answer.

►	Someone knows all about it - the se	cretary.
	The person who knows all about it	is the secretary.
1	Zedco has 10,000 employees. It's an	n international company.

143 Relative clauses: participle and to-infinitive

A Relative clauses with a participle

Read this news report about an accident.

Several people were injured this morning when a lorry carrying concrete pipes overturned in the centre of town and hit two cars. Ambulances called to the scene took a long time to get through the rush hour traffic. The accident happened in Alfred Road, where road repairs are under way. People who saw the accident say that the lorry hit the cars after it swerved to avoid a pile of stones left in the road. The traffic chaos caused by the accident has meant long delays for people travelling to work.

Carrying concrete pipes, called to the scene, etc are relative clauses: they relate to a noun. Carrying concrete pipes tells us something about a lorry.

We can form these clauses with an active participle, e.g. carrying, or a passive participle, e.g. called. The participles can refer to the present or the past.

ACTIVE

There are delays this morning for people travelling to work.

(= people who are travelling to work) A lorry carrying concrete pipes has overturned. (= a lorry which was carrying pipes) the path leading to the church (= the path which leads/led to the church)

The active participle means the same as a pronoun + a continuous verb, e.g. which is/was carrying, or a pronoun + a simple verb, e.g. which leads/led.

But we do NOT use the active participle for a single action in the past.

The police want to interview people who saw the accident.

NOT people-seeing-the-accident

B Relative clauses with a to-infinitive

Look at this structure with the to-infinitive.

New Zealand was the first country to give women the vote. (= the first country which gave women the vote) Melanie was the only person to write a letter of thanks. (= the only person who wrote a letter of thanks)

Here are some more examples.

The guest on our show is the youngest golfer to win the Open.

Emma Thompson is the most famous actress to appear on stage here. We can use a to-infinitive with these words: first, second, etc; next and last; only; and superlatives, e.g. youngest, most famous.

We can leave out the noun (except after only) if the meaning is clear. The captain was the last to leave the sinking ship.

PASSIVE

/ have a message for people delayed by the traffic chaos.

(= people who are being delayed) We noticed a pile of stones left in the road. (= stones which had been left there) food sold in supermarkets (= food which is/was sold in supermarkets)

The passive participle means the same as a pronoun + a passive verb, e.g. which is/was sold.

doesn't rain,	we	'II be having a picnic.
don't practise my golf,	Ι	won't get any better.
	miss it, doesn't rain,	miss it, there doesn't rain, we

The verb in the if-clause (e.g. hurry) is in the present simple, not the future. NOT If we'll hurry, we'll catch the bus. But we can use will in the if-clause when we make a request.

If you'll just wait a moment, I'll find someone to help you. (- Please wait a moment...)

We can use the present continuous (e.g. are doing) or the present perfect (e.g. have done) in the if-clause. If we're expecting visitors, the flat will need a good clean. If you've finished with the computer, I'll put it away.

The main clause often has will. But we can use other modal verbs (e.g. can). If you haven't got a television, you can't watch it, can you? If Henry jogs regularly, he might lose weight. If Matthew is going to a job interview, he should wear a tie.

The if-clause usually comes first, but it can come after the main clause. If I hear any news, I'll phone you./I'll phone you if I hear any news.

C More uses of type 1

We can use type 1 conditionals in offers and suggestions.

If you need a ticket, I can get you one. If you feel like seeing the sights, we can take a bus tour. We can also use them in warnings and threats.

If you go on like this, you'll make yourself ill. If you don't apologize, I'll never speak to you again.

D If you heat water, it boils

We sometimes use the present simple in both clauses.

If you heat water, it boils. If Daniel has any money, he spends it.

If you press this switch, the computer comes on.

This means that one thing always follows automatically from another.

Pressing the switch always results in the computer coming on.

1 Type 1 (A-C)

Read the conversation and then choose the correct forms.

- Rachel: Have you heard about the pop festival?
- Vicky: Yes, it's/it'll be good if Express are playing. They're a great band.
- Rachel: Will you be able to go, Nick?
- Nick: If (1) I ask/I'll ask my boss, he'll give me some time off work, I expect.
- Vicky: How are we going to get there?
- Rachel: Well, if (2) there are/there'll be enough people, we can hire a minibus.
- Vicky: I won't be going if (3) it's/it'll be too expensive.
- Rachel: It (4) isn't costing/won't cost much if we all (5) share/will share the cost.
- Nick: If (6) I see/I'll see the others later on tonight, (7) I ask/I'll ask them if they want to go.

2 Type l (A-C)

- Comment on the situations. Use if+ the present tense + will/can.
- ? It might rain. If it does, everyone can eat inside. If it rains, everyone can eat inside.
- ? The children mustn't go near Nick's dog. It'll bite them. If the children go near Nick's dog, it'll bite them.
- 1 Rachel might fail her driving test. But she can take it again.
- 2 United might lose. If they do, Tom will be upset.
- 3 The office may be closed. In that case Mark won't be able to get in.
- 4 Nick may arrive a bit early. If he does, he can help Tom to get things ready.
- 5 The party might go on all night. If it does, no one will want to do any work tomorrow.
- 6 Emma may miss the train. But she can get the next one.
- 7 Is Matthew going to enter the race? He'll probably win it.

Present simple in both clauses (D)

Match the sentences and join them with if

You lose your credit card. I can't sleep. ► You get promoted. You get a warning letter. 1 2 I drink coffee late at night. You have to ring the bank. Your salary goes up. 3 You don't pay the bill. 4 I try to run fast. The alarm goes off. 5 Someone enters the building. I get out of breath. ▶ If you lose your credit card, you have to ring the bank. 1 2 3 4 5

145 Conditionals (2)

A Introduction

Rachel: Would you like some cake, Jessica?
Jessica: No thanks. If I ate cake, I'd get fat.
Rachel: But it's delicious.
Jessica: It looks delicious. Ifl had your figure, I'd eat the whole lot.
I ate cake and / had your figure are imaginary or unreal situations.
Jessica isn't going to eat the cake, and she hasn't got a figure like Rachel's.

B Type 2: If I ate cake, I'd get fat

IF-CLAUSE		MA	IN CLAUSE
if	Past simple		would
///	ate cake,	Ι	'd get fat.
If l	had your figure,	Ι	'd eat the whole lot.
If we	didn't have a car,	we	'd find it difficult to get about.
If Rachel	got up earlier,	she	wouldn't always be late.

Note the past simple (e.g. ate). We do not use would in the if-clause. NOT If I'd-ea^eake. But we can use would in the if-clause when we make a request.

If you'd like to come this way, the doctor will see you now. (= Please come this way ...)

As well as the past simple we can use the past continuous (e.g. was doing) in the if-clause. If Rachel was playing her stereo, it wouldn't be so quiet in here. In a type 2 if-clause we sometimes use were instead of was, especially in the clause if I were you. If Rachel were playing her stereo, it wouldn't be so quiet in here. If I were you, I'd ask a lawyer for some advice.

The main clause often has would. We can also use could or might. If we had a calculator, we could work this out a lot quicker. If Rachel worked harder, she might do even better at her studies.

The if-clause usually comes first, but it can come after the main clause. If I knew, I'd tell you./I'd tell you if I knew.

C Type 1 and type 2

Compare these examples.

Type 1: If you have a lie-down, you'll feel better, (see Unit 144B) Type 2: Ifl had a million pounds, I'd probably buy a yacht.

The present tense (have) refers to a possible future action, something which may or may not happen. The past tense (had) refers to something unreal. If I had a million pounds means that I haven't really got a million pounds, but I am imagining that I have. Compare these examples.

Type 1: If we take the car, we'll have to pay for parking.

Type 2: If we took the car, we'd have to pay for parking.

Here both sentences refer to a possible future action. But in the type 2 conditional, the action is less probable. If we took the car may mean that we have decided not to take it.

We can use type 2 conditionals in offers and suggestions.

If you needed a ticket, I could get you one.

If you felt like seeing the sights, we could take a bus tour. Type 2 is less direct than type 1 (Unit 144C). The speaker is less sure that you want to see the sights.

Type 2 (A-B)

Comment on these situations. Use a type 2 conditional with would or could.

	51
►	Andrew is such a boring person because he works all the time.
	You know, if Andrew didn't work all the time, he wouldn't be such a boring person.

	cared for me, (1) (you / not / play) basketball on my birthday.
Matthew:	What's the difference? If (2) (we / go) out on Thursday, it'll be just the same. If (3)(I / not / play), I'd be letting the team down.
Emma:	Yes, I suppose (4)(it / be) a disaster if you missed one game. Well, if (5) (you / think) more of your friends than you do of me, you can forget the whole thing.
Matthew:	I just don't understand you sometimes, Emma.
Emma:	If (6)(you / think) about it, you'd understand. And 1 think
	(7)(it / be) better if we forgot all about my birthday.
Matthew:	Don't be silly, Emma. If you get into one of your bad moods,
	(8)(it / not / do) any good.
Emma:	If you were interested in my feelings, (9) (I / not / get) into a bad mood.

The room isn't tidy.

We might be late tonight.

Type 1 and type 2 (C)

What does the if-clause mean? Write a sentence with isn't or might.

- ? If this room was tidy, I could find things.
- ? If we're late tonight, we can get a taxi.
- 1 If the phone was working, I could call you.
- 2 If it rains, can you bring the washing in?
- 3 If Mike was here, he'd know what to do.
- 4 If this spoon was silver, it would be worth a lot.
- 5 If Sarah calls, can you say I'll ring back?

146 Conditionals (3)

A Introduction

David:	How was your camping holiday?
Mike:	Well, it would have been all right
	if it hadn't rained all the time.
Harriet:	If we'd gone two weeks earlier, we'd have had better weather.

If it hadn't rained and if we'd gone two weeks earlier are imaginary situations in the past. It did rain, and they didn't go two weeks earlier.

B Type 3: If we had gone earlier, we would have had better weather

IF-CLAUSE	MAIN CLAUSE
if	Past perfect		would have
If we	'd gone earlier,	we	'd have had better weather.
If Matthew	had phoned her,	Emma	wouldn't have been so annoyed.
If you	hadn't made that mistake,	уои	'd have passed your test.
If David	had been more careful,	he	wouldn't have fallen.

Note the verb in the past perfect (e.g. had been). We do not use would in the if-clause. NOT If David would have been more careful, he would have-fallen.

The main clause often has would have. We can also use could have or might have. If I'd had my mobile yesterday, I could have contacted you. We just caught the train. If we'd stopped to buy a paper, we might have missed it.

The short form 'd can be either had or would. If you'd rung me, I'd have come to see you. (= If you had rung me, I would have come to see you.)

C The use of type 3

We use type 3 conditionals to talk about things in the past happening differently from the way they really happened. This sometimes means criticizing people or pointing out their mistakes.

If you'd been a bit more careful, you wouldn't have cut yourself.

If Matthew had set his alarm clock, he wouldn't have overslept.

We can also use this structure to express regret about the past.

If I hadn't fallen ill and missed the interview, I might have got the job.

D Type 2 and type 3

Compare these examples.

Type 2: If you planned things properly, you wouldn't get into a mess. (You don't plan.) Type 3: If you had planned things properly, you wouldn't have got into a mess. (You didn't plan.) We can mix types 2 and 3.

If you had planned things at the start, we wouldn't be in this mess now. If you hadn't left all these dirty dishes, the place would look a bit tidier. If Matthew was more sensible, he would have worn a suit to the interview. If I didn't have all this work to do, I would have gone out for the day.

1 Type 3 (A-C)

Comp	lete the conversation. Put in the correct form	of the verb. Use the past per	fect or would have.
Nick:	United didn't play very well today.
Tom:	We were awful. But if Hacker (►) had taken	n (take) that easy chance, (\blacktriangleright) we would have won (we / win).
Nick:	We didn't deserve to win. It (1)	(be) pretty	unfair if Rangers
	(2)(lose).
Tom:	Hacker was dreadful. My grandmother (3)		(score) if
	(4) (she / be) in t	that position.
Nick:	And if Burley (5)	(not / be) asleep, he (6)
	(not / give) a goal away.
Tom:	If Johnson (7)	. (not / be) injured when we	needed him most,
	(8)(it/be) dif	fferent.
Nick:	Yes, (9)(we / be	eat) them if (10)	(he / be) fit.

2 Type 3 (A-C)

Comment on each situation using a type 3 conditional with if. Use would have, could have or might have.

- ? In a bookshop yesterday Daniel saw a book he really wanted. The only problem was that he didn't have any money. Daniel would have bought the book if he had had any money.
- ? Rita often goes to concerts at the town hall, although not to every one. There was one on Saturday, but she didn't know about it. Rita might have gone to the concert if she had known about it.
- 1 On Sunday the guests had to have their lunch inside. Unfortunately it wasn't warm enough to have it outside
- 2 There was a bomb scare last Tuesday. Sarah wanted to fly to Rome, but she wasn't able to. The airport was closed.....
- 3 Laura has only met Nick once, and it's possible she wouldn't recognize him. He passed her yesterday, but he had a crash-helmet on.....
- 4 Sarah has been quite busy, and she hasn't watered her plants for some time. As a result, they've died.
- 5 Nick likes ice hockey, but he didn't have a ticket to the game last week, so unfortunately he wasn't able to get in

3 Type 2 and type 3 (D)

Complete the conversations. Put in the correct form of the verb. Use the past simple, the past perfect, would, or would have.

►	Mike:	You look tired.
	Harriet:	Well, if you hadn't woken (you / not / wake) me up in the middle of the night,
		I wouldn't be (I / not be) so tired.
1	Rita:	Is Trevor a practical person?
	Laura:	Trevor? No, he isn't. If (he / be) practical,
		(he / put) those shelves up a bit quicker. It took him ages.
2	Tom:	Why are you sitting in the dark?
	David:	Let's just say that if (I / pay) my electricity bill last month,
		(I / not be) in the dark now.
3	Matthew:	Why are you so angry with me? All I did yesterday was play basketball.
	Emma:	If(you / love) me,
		(you / not / leave) me here all alone on my birthday.

147 Review of conditionals

A Types 1, 2 and 3

There are three main types of conditional. Study the examples.

Type 1: if... the present simple ... will/can/might, etc

If we win today, we'll go to the top of the league. (We may win, or we may not.) Type 2: if ... the past simple ... would/could/might

If Johnson was in the team, I'd feel more confident. (Johnson isn't in the team.) Type 3: if ... the past perfect ... would have/could have/might have

If Johnson had played, we'd have won. (Johnson didn't play.)

Here are some more examples with different verb forms.

Type 1 If I'm going shopping, I'll need some money.

If the disco has finished, we might be able to get some sleep. You should stay in bed if you feel unwell. Type 2

If I didn't like this pudding, I wouldn't eat it. If the video recorder was working, we could watch a film. The alarm might go off if we tried to get in through a window. Type 3 If we'd dropped the piano, it would have been a disaster.

If Vicky had come to the theme park with us last week, she might have enjoyed it. We could have given you a lift if we'd known you were coming this way.

B Other conditional sentences

As well as the three main types, there are other types of conditional sentence. For example, we can use two present-tense verbs (see Unit 144D). If you ring this number, no one answers.

We can also use a present-tense verb and an imperative. If you need any help, just ask. If you drink, don't drive.

We can use be going to.

If it's going to rain, I'd better take an umbrella. If they try to cut down the trees, there's going to be a big protest.

We can mix types 2 and 3 (see Unit 146D).

If Matthew had booked a table, we wouldn't be standing here in a queue. If you needed help, you should have asked me.

1 Types 1, 2 and 3 (A)

Match the sentences and join them with if. Say what type they are.

		nt to bed earlier.	I'll try to follow them.
		twins had worn different clothes.	You might not be warm enough.
		tell me what the instructions say.	I wouldn't have bought it.
	-	le used public transport.	I wouldn't sleep.
		don't wear a sweater.	There'd be less pollution.

3	Conditi	onals (A-B)

What might you say in these situations? Use a conditional sentence.

- ► You think Emma should book a seat on the train. The alternative is having to stand. If Emma doesn't book a seat on the train, she'll have to stand.
- 1 You didn't know how unpopular lason was when you invited him to your party.
- 2 Warn your friend not to put too many tins into the plastic bag or it'll break.
- 3 You haven't got a pen, so you can't write down the address.
- 4 You should have started your project earlier. You're so far behind now.
- 5 Your friend might need some help. If so, tell her to give you a ring.
- 6 The automatic result of the door opening is the fan coming on.

148 If, when, unless and in case

Present simple for the future

Look at these examples.

You'll be tired tomorrow if you stay up late. Tell me when the water boils. I won't do anything unless you agree. Write the name down in case you forget it. We use the present simple for the future after linking words such as if, when, unless and in case (see also Units 27 and 144B).

B If or when?

If you hear any news, can you ring me immediately?
(You might hear some news.) I'll probably go for a walk later on if it stays fine. (It might stay fine.)

We use if for something that we think might happen.

We use if (not when) for something impossible or imaginary.

If I were you, I'd refuse.

We can use either if or when in contexts where they mean 'every time'.

If you run, you use up energy.

C If and unless

If... not means the same as unless.

/ can't see if I don't wear glasses.
The doctor will be here if she isn't called to an emergency.
If you can't pay your bills, you'll have to leave.
I wouldn't say that if I didn't believe it.

D In case

Look at these examples.

Take a sandwich with you in case you get hungry.
I'd better reserve a seat today in case the train is full tomorrow.
Laura took two photos in case one of them didn't come out.
We use in case to talk about doing something to avoid a possible problem later on.
(For American English, see page 381.)

Compare if and in case.

I'll bring in the washing if it rains. (= I'll bring it in at the time it starts raining.)

I'll bring in the washing in case it rains. (= I'll bring it in now because it might rain later.)

very time'.

When you hear some news, can you ring me

(You will hear some news.) I'll make myself

(I will get home tonight.) We use when for immediately?

tonight.

an omelette when I get home something that we know will happen.

When you run, you use up energy.

I can't see unless I wear glasses. The doctor will be here unless she's called to an emergency.

Unless you can pay your bills, you'll have to leave. I wouldn't say that unless I believed it.

1 If or when? (B)

Look at the information in brackets and complete the sentences using if or when and a verb in the present simple.

- ? (I may see Tom tonight.) If I see Tom, I'll tell him the news.
- ? (Melanie is coming soon.) When Melanie comes, can you let her in, please?
- 1 (The alarm will ring soon.)..... we all have to leave the building.
- 3 (This film finishes at ten.)

2 If and unless (C)

Complete the sentences using unless and the information in brackets.

- Melanie: Oh, that's no problem.
- Jake: Oh, thanks. (2)..... you could do that, I'd be really grateful. I'll leave a message on his answerphone. And (3)..... he doesn't get the message, I'll put a note on the door, just to make sure. He'll see it (4) he comes.

149 Wish and if only

We can use I wish or if only to express a wish. Jessica wishes she was slimmer. If only is stronger and more emphatic than wish.

We can use a clause with if only on its own, or we can add another clause. If only I wasn't so fat. If only I wasn't so fat, I would be able to get into these trousers.

B Wish... would

Look at these examples.

/ wish you would put those shelves up soon.

We can use were instead of was (see also Unit 145B). If only I were taller, I might be better at basketball.

something to happen, or to stop happening.

We cannot use would in these sentences, but we can use could. / wish I could sing (but I can't). I feel so helpless. If only I could speak the language.

Compare wish with would and with the past. I wish something exciting would happen. (I wish for an action in the future.) I wish my life was more interesting. (My life isn't interesting.)

D Wish ... the past perfect

We use wish and if only with the past perfect to express a wish about the past. / wish you had told me about the dance. I would have gone. I wish I'd got up earlier. I'm behind with everything today. I wish you hadn't lost that photo. It was a really good one. If only David had been a bit more careful, he'd have been all right.

We do not use would have for the past, but we can use could have. / wish I could have been at the wedding, but I was in New York.

Wish ... would (B)

150 But, although and in spite of

A Introduction

This is a news report about Zedco.

This year's figures show that Zedco has become profitable and is now doing well in spite of its recent problems. Although Chief Executive Barry Douglas has not been in charge for long, there has already been a dramatic upturn. Even though there have been very few job losses at the company, Douglas has managed to reduce costs. Nothing is certain of course, but Zedco can now look forward to a brighter future.

The linking words in spite of, although, etc express the idea of a contrast. For example, there is a contrast between Zedco's profits now and its recent problems.

B But and although

We can join two sentences with but.

The cafe was crowded, but we found a table. Nick has a car, but he doesn't often drive it. We can also use although.

Although the cafe was crowded, we found a table. Although Nick has a car, he doesn't often drive it. The clause with although can come at the end.

We found a table, although the cafe was crowded.

C Though and even though

Though is informal. It means the same as although. Though/Although I liked the sweater, I decided not to buy it. We can also use though at the end of a sentence. / liked the sweater. I decided not to buy it, though.

Even though is stronger, more emphatic than although.Matthew looked quite fresh, even though he'd been playing squash.Even though you dislike Jessica, you should try to be nice to her.

D In spite of and despite

We use in spite of before a noun or before the ing-form of a verb. Kitty wanted to report on the war in spite of the danger. Mark went on working in spite of feeling unwell. We use despite in exactly the same way as in spite of and with the same meaning.
She wanted to go despite the danger. He went on working despite feeling unwell.

E In spite of and although

IN SPITE OF	ALTHOUGH
I'm no better in spite of the pills/in spite of taking the pills.	I'm no better, although I've taken the pills.
Laura wants to fly in spite of her fear/in spite of feeling afraid. NOT in spite of she feels afraid	Laura wants to fly, although she feels afraid.

We can use in spite of the fact (that) in the same way as although. I'm no better in spite of the fact that I've taken the pills.

Appendix v. Word formation

A Introduction

Look at these examples. Lots of people believe that God exists. Lots of people believe in the existence of God. Exist is a verb and existence is a noun. The word existence has two parts:

Exist is a verb and existence is a noun. The word existence has two parts: exist and ence. We call ence a 'suffix'. We add it to end of the verb exist to form a noun.

We can also use suffixes to form verbs, adjectives and adverbs.

The system is being modernized. (= made modern) I grew up in an industrial town. (= a town where there is a lot of industry) The man was behaving strangely. (= in a strange way)

There are many different suffixes, such as ence, ize, al, ly, tion and ment. Some of them can be used to form many different words. For example, there are a lot of nouns ending in tion: action, education, explanation, information, instruction, etc. There are no exact rules about which suffix you can add to which word. Adding a suffix can also involve other changes to the form of a word. industry —> industrial repeat —> repetition science —> scientist.

Now look at these examples.

They're going to play the match on Wednesday.

They're going to replay the match on Wednesday.

We can add re to the beginning of the verb play. We call re a 'prefix'. A prefix adds something to the meaning of a word. The verb replay means 'play again'. We can also add prefixes to nouns and adjectives. See G and H.

B Noun suffixes

ment	the prospects for employment reach an agreement
ion/tion/sion	take part in a discussion increase steel production ask for permission

Appendix 2: The spelling of endings

A Plural nouns

We add s to a noun to form the plural. $a \, car \longrightarrow two \, cars$ a name —> some names

- After s, sh, ch and x we add es /iz/. 1 $glass \longrightarrow glasses$ dish —> dishes match —> matches $box \rightarrow boxes$
- 2 A few nouns ending in o have es. heroes potatoes tomatoes But most have s discos kilos photos pianos radios stereos studios z.oos
- 3 When a noun ends in a consonant + y, the y changes to ies. story -> stories We do penny —> pennies not change y after a vowel. day -> days journey -> journeys

B The present simple s ending

In the third person singular, a present simple verb ends in s. (See Unit 5B.) I know —> he knows $I work \longrightarrow she works$

- After s, sh, ch and x we add es /iz/. 1 wash —> washes $pass \rightarrow passes$ catch —> catches $mix \longrightarrow mixes$
- Some verbs ending in o have es. 2 $do \longrightarrow does$ $go \longrightarrow goes$
- 3 When a verb ends in a consonant + y, the y changes to ies. copy —> copies We hurry --> hurries do not change y after a vowel. stay -> stays $enjoy \longrightarrow enjoys$

C The ed ending

Most verbs have ed in the past tense. (See Unit 8B.) Most past participles also end in ed. (See Unit 1 IB.) look --> looked call -> called

- 1 If the verb ends in e, we add d. $hope \longrightarrow hoped$ save ->saved
- 2 When a verb ends in a consonant + y, the y changes to ied. hurry —> hurried

 $copy \longrightarrow copied$

3 Sometimes we double a final consonant. This happens when a one-syllable verb ends with one vowel and one consonant, e.g. beg, plan. plan —> planned For $beg \longrightarrow begged$ more details about doubling, see G.

D The ing-form

We normally leave out e when we add ing 1 to a verb drive —> driving take —> taking But we keep a double e before ing. see —> seeing agree -> agreeing

- 2 When a verb ends in ie, it changes to ying. $die \longrightarrow dying$ $lie \longrightarrow lying$ But y does not change. hurry —> hurrying
- 3 Sometimes we double a final consonant. This happens when a one-syllable verb ends with one vowel and one consonant, e.g. win, put. win —> winning put --> putting For more details about doubling, see G.

E Adverbs

We form many adverbs from an adjective + ly. $calm \longrightarrow calmly$ $slow \longrightarrow slowly$

- We do not leave out e before ly. 1 safe —> safely strange --> strangely But there are a few exceptions. $due \longrightarrow duly$ true —> truly whole -> wholly
- 2 When an adjective ends in a consonant + y, the y changes to ily. angry —> angrily $happy \longrightarrow happily An$ exception is shy --> shyly.

- When an adjective ends in a consonant + le, the 3 e changes to y. sensible —> sensibly probable —> probably
- 4 When an adjective ends in ic, we add ally. automatic --> automatically romantic --> romantically But there is one exception. public —> publicly

F The comparison of adjectives

We form the comparative and superlative of short adjectives with er and est. See Unit 110. $old \rightarrow older$, oldest quick —> quicker, quickest

- 1 If the adjective ends in e, we add r and st. late -> later, latest fine --> finer, finest
- 2 When an adjective ends in a consonant + y, the y changes to ier or iest. heavy -> heavier, heaviest
 - lucky —> luckier, luckiest
- 3 Sometimes we double a final consonant. This happens when a one-syllable adjective ends with one vowel and one consonant, e.g. big, flat. big —> bigger, biggest flat —> flatter, flattest For more details about doubling, see G.

G The doubling of consonants

1 When we add ed, ing, er or est to a word, we sometimes double a final consonant. This happens when a one-syllable word ends with one vowel and one consonant, e.g. stop, get, thin, sad.

stop -> stopped get -> getting thin -> thinner sad -> saddest

2 We do not double y, w or x.

 $play \longrightarrow played$ $new \longrightarrow newest$ $fax \longrightarrow faxing$

We do not double when there are two consonants. $ask \rightarrow asking short \rightarrow shortest$

rich —> richer

And we do not double when there are two vowels.

seem —> seemed shout—> shouting fair —> fairest 3 The rule about doubling is also true for words of more than one syllable (e.g. permit = per + mit), but only if the last syllable is stressed. per'mit —> per'mitted prefer —> preferring

We do not usually double a consonant when the syllable is unstressed.

'open —> opened 'enter—> entering An exception is that in British English 1 is usually doubled, even if the syllable is unstressed.

travel ~> travelled (US: traveled)

Appendix 3: Punctuation

A Full stop (.), question mark (?) and exclamation mark (!)

A sentence ends with one of these punctuation marks.

Full stop:	It's cold today.	The office was closed.	Please be careful
Question mark:	Who's that?	Did you see the show?	Could you wait, please?
Exclamation mark:	Oh, no! I don't	believe it!

In the US a full stop is called a 'period'.

B Semi-colon (;)

We can use a semi-colon between two separate statements which are linked in meaning. *Melanie is a very kind person; she visits David in hospital every day.*We could also use a full stop here.

C Colon (:)

We can use a colon before an explanation or before a list. Vicky felt nervous: she hated the dark. There wasn't much in the fridge: a couple of sausages, some butter, half a bottle of milk.

D Dash (-)

A dash is rather informal. It is sometimes used instead of a colon or a semi-colon. I'm having a great time - there's lots to do here. Vicky felt nervous - she hated the dark.

E Comma (,)

We often use a comma when we link two statements with and, but or or.

Daniel was tired, and his feet were hurting. It's a really good camera, but I can't afford it. Note the two subjects in each sentence: Daniel... his feet and It... I. When there is only one subject, we do not use a comma.

Daniel sat down and took his shoes off.

We can also use a comma when a sentence has a linking word like when or although. When the office is busy, Sarah has to work late. For commas with relative clauses, see Unit 141.

Sometimes a comma can separate off an adverb or a phrase.

Sarah, unfortunately, has to work late. On busy days, Sarah has to work late. Here the commas separate off on busy days and unfortunately.

The rules about commas are not very exact. In general, commas are more likely around longer phrases. With a short phrase there is often no comma. On busy days Sarah has to work late. Sometimes she has to work late.

It is less usual to separate off something at the end of the sentence.

Sarah has to work late when the office is busy. She stayed late to get the work done. We do not usually put a comma before to expressing purpose.

We also use commas in a list of more than two. The last two are linked by and, often without a comma. I went out with Rachel, Vicky, Emma and Matthew.

F Quotation marks (")

We put direct speech in quotation marks.

Laura said, 'You haven't put those shelves up yet.' 'I haven't had time,' replied Trevor. We normally use a comma to separate the direct speech from the rest of the sentence. The comma comes before the quotation mark. Quotation marks are also called 'quotes' or 'inverted commas'.

Double quotation marks are sometimes used. Laura said, "You haven't put those shelves up yet."

We can put quotation marks around titles.

Do you watch that American comedy series called 'Roseanne'? We often use quotation marks when we mention a word or phrase. What does 'punctuation' mean? Rap music is also called 'hip hop'.

G Hyphen (-)

We sometimes use hyphens in these structures.

Compound noun: eating ice-cream Compound expression before a noun: an oven-ready meal Noun formed from a phrasal verb: ready for take-off Noun + ing-form: interested in rock-climbing Before the last word of a compound number: a hundred and twenty-six people After some prefixes: anti-aircraft guns Letter + noun: sending an e-mail

The rules about hyphens are not very exact. For example, you may see a compound noun written as phonecard, phone-card or phone card. Hyphens are not very frequent in British English, and they are used even less in American English. If you are unsure, it is usually safer to write two separate words.

H Apostrophe (')

Look at these examples.

Today we're going for a drive in the country. Everyone is looking at Nick's car. We use an apostrophe (') in short forms, when there is a missing letter, e.g. we're (= we are). See Unit 32. We also use an apostrophe with s to form the possessive of a noun, e.g. Nick's car. See Unit 93.

I Capital letters

There are two capital letters (big letters) in this sentence.

The boss said I could leave early. We use a capital letter at the beginning of a sentence and for the word I.

We also use a capital letter to begin the names of people, places, companies, etc.

Mark and Sarah New Orleans the High Street Somerset House General Motors This includes the names of books, films, magazines, etc. All the important words start with a capital letter. The Spy Who Loved Me Four Weddings and a Funeral Newsweek

We also use a capital letter for days of the week, months of the year, holidays and festivals, historical times, nationalities and most abbreviations.

Monday August Easter the New Year the Industrial Revolution

some Italian wine the UN (= the United Nations)

Appendix 5: American English

The differences between British and American English are mainly matters of pronunciation and vocabulary. There are also a few spelling differences such as British centre and colour and American center and color. There are some grammatical differences. Although they are not very great, those points that are most relevant to learners of English are explained here.

A Seem, look, etc

Compare these examples.

BRITISH

In British English there can be a noun (e.g. pilot) after appear, feel, look, seem and sound. She seemed (to be) a good pilot.

It looks (to be) a lovely evening.

I felt a fool.

B Present perfect and past simple (Units 11-15)

The British use the present perfect for recent actions, and especially with just, already and yet. Bob has washed the dishes, look.

We've already eaten our lunch.

I've just seen Elaine.

Have you corrected your work yet?

The British normally use the present perfect with ever and never, not the past simple.

Have you ever played cricket?

The child has never seen snow before.

C Shall (Unit 23D)

The British use will for the future, but they can also use shall in the first person. I will/I shall be here tomorrow. We will/We shall contact you.

AMERICAN

Americans do not say She seemed a good pilot. They use to be or like after these verbs. She seemed to be a good pilot. OR She seemed like a good pilot. It looks to be a lovely evening. OR It looks like a lovely evening. I felt like a fool.

Americans can use either the present perfect or the past simple in these sentences.

Bob has washed the dishes, look. OR Bob washed the dishes, look. We've already eaten our lunch. OR We already ate our lunch. I've just seen Elaine. OR I just saw Elaine. Have you corrected your work yet? OR Did you correct your work yet? Americans normally use the past simple with ever and never, but the present perfect is possible. Did you ever play baseball? OR Have you ever played baseball?

OR Have you ever played baseball? The child never saw snow before. OR The child has never seen snow before.

Americans do not normally use shall for the future.

I will be here tomorrow. We will contact you. The British use shall to make an offer. Shall I make the coffee?

The British can use Shall we ...? for a suggestion. Shall we go for a walk?

D Got and gotten

Both have and have got are used in Britain and in the US. He has a lot of money./He's got a lot of money. (= He is rich.)

The British do not use gotten. He's made a lot of money from his business activities.

Your driving has got better.

Americans normally use should. Should I make the coffee?

Americans do not normally use shall in suggestions. How about a walk? Would you like to take a walk?

In the US, have gotten expresses an action. He's gotten/made a lot of money from his business activities.
Americans also use gotten meaning 'become'. Your driving has gotten better.

Americans normally use the auxiliary do.

I don't have enough time.

Does Carol have a computer?

E Negatives and questions with have (Unit 31)

In Britain there are two different structures. I haven't (got) enough time. OR I don't have enough time. Has Carol got a computer? OR Does Carol have a computer?

In the past tense, did is usual in both countries. We didn't have tickets.

F Emphatic do (Unit 33C)

The British can use do with an imperative for emphasis. Have a piece of cake. OR Do have a piece of cake. Do with an imperative is less common in the US.

Have a piece of cake.

G Do for an action

The British can use do to refer to an action already mentioned.

I don't practise as often as I should (do). You'd better take your pill. ~ I already have (done). Americans do not use do in this way.

I don't practice as often as I should. You'd better take your pill. ~ I already have. H Question tags (Unit 42)

Both the British and the Americans can use question tags when talking about facts.

Blackpool is in Lancashire, isn't it?

Las Vegas is in Nevada, isn't it?

I'll bring the baggage in, OK?

But in general Americans use tags much less often than the British. They do not use tags to persuade or to argue. A sentence like You aren't listening to me, are you? is British but not American. But Americans often use right? and OK? as tags.

I'll bring the luggage in, shall I?

I Can't and mustn't (Unit 46C)

The British use can't to say that something is impossible.

I rang, but there's no reply. They can't be at home.

J Needn't and don't need to (Unit 48)

The British can use either form. You needn't see the inspector. OR You don't need to see the inspector. Americans can also use mustn't to say that something is impossible. I called, but there's no reply. They can't be home./They mustn't be home.

Americans do not normally use needn't. You don't need to see the inspector.

K Group nouns (Unit 81B)

In Britain a group noun can usually take either a singular or a plural verb. The crowd was/were getting restless.

Sweden plays/play Germany tomorrow.

L The (Unit 86C and 87A)

The British use the with a musical instrument. / can play the piano.

The British say in hospital. My sister is still in hospital.

M Numbers

The British use and between hundred and the rest of the number. six hundred and twenty In the US a group noun takes a singular verb, The crowd was getting restless. Sweden plays Germany tomorrow.

Americans can leave out the. I can play piano/play the piano.

Americans say in the hospital. My sister is still in the hospital.

Americans can leave out and. six hundred twenty OR six hundred and twenty

N Dates

There are a number of different ways of writing and saying dates, but these are the most common.

BRITISH	AMERICAN
23 June	June 23
'the twenty-third of June'	'June twenty-third
'June the twenty-third'

The British write 23.6.98, and Americans write 6.23.98.

0 You and one (Unit 98C)

The British use you for people in general, including the speaker. In more formal English they can use one. You/One can't be too careful Americans use you for people in general. One is unusual,

You can't be too careful.

P Somewhere and someplace (Unit 103)

In informal American English, everyplace, someplace, anyplace and no place can be used as well as everywhere, somewhere, etc.

Let's find somewhere to eat.

Let's find somewhere/someplace to eat.

Q Adjectives and adverbs (Unit 108)

In informal speech we can sometimes use an adjective form instead of an adverb. Americans do this more than the British.

We had some really nice weather.

It certainly doesn't make things any easier.

We had some really nice/some real nice weather. It certainly/sure doesn't make things any easier.

R Prepositions (Units 118-126)

There are some differences in prepositions.

AMERICAN around the village toward the west looking out the window/out of the window outside the town/outside of the town

In American English there is a special use of through as a preposition of time.

He'll be on the road from Tuesday to/till	He'll be on the road (from) Tuesday through Friday.	Friday.
They will stay in Brighton until the end of	They will stay in Miami through April.
April.

Note the prepositions after different.

BRITISH

This cup is differentfrom/to the others.

Compare these expressions.

BRITISH

in Bond Street at the weekend, at weekends stay at home a player in the team ten minutes past four twenty to seven write to me talk to someone meet someone

S In case (Unit 148D)

In case can have different meanings.

BRITISH

Take an umbrella in case it rains. (= because it may rain)

T Go and...

Americans can leave out and from this structure.

I'll go and buy the tickets.

AMERICAN In case you're sick, you should call the office. (= if you're sick)

I'll go buy/I'll go and buy the tickets.

U The subjunctive

We can use expressions like I suggest that ... and It's important that ... to talk about what we want to happen. Look at these examples.

BRITISH

Tim's parents have suggested that he gets a job/that he should get a job. It's important that everything goes/everything should go according to plan.

The British normally use the present simple or should. (They use the subjunctive only in formal English.)

AMERICAN

Tim's parents have suggested that he get a job. It's important that everything go according to plan.

Americans normally use a form called the 'subjunctive', e.g. get, go.

AMERICAN

This cup is different from/than the others.

AMERICAN on Fifth Avenue on the weekend, on weekends stay home a player on the team ten minutes past/after four twenty to/of seven write me/write to me talk to/with someone meet with someone

V Irregular verbs

In the past tense some verbs can have either an irregular t ending or the regular ed ending. These verbs are burn, learn, smell, spell, spill and spoil.

The British prefer the t ending, although ed is also possible.	Americans normally use the ed ending,
They burnt/burned the old sofa.	They burned the old sofa.
You've spelt/spelled this word wrong.	You've spelled this word wrong.

But we say e.g. a slice of burnt toast in both British and American English.

In Britain the verbs dream, lean and leap can be regular, or they can have a t ending.

I dreamt/dreamed about you.

I dreamed about you.

These three forms ending in t have the vowel sound /e/. For example, dreamt is pronounced /dremt/, and dreamed is pronounced /dri:md/.

The verb dive is regular in Britain but can be irregular in the US.

Craig dived into the water.

Craig dived/dove into the water.

151 To, in order to, so that and for

We use to, in order to, so that and for to express purpose, to say why we do things. The purpose of stopping is to buy a newspaper.

В То

We can use the to-infinitive to express purpose. Melanie was hurrying to catch her bus. Most people work to earn money. I rang to find out the train times. We went to the library to get some books.

C In order to and so as to

In order to and so as to are more formal than to. The government took these measures in order to reduce crime. The staff are working at weekends so as to complete the project in time. We can use the negative in order not to or so as not to. Melanie was hurrying in order not to miss her bus. The staff are working at weekends so as not to delay the project any further. We cannot use not to on its own. She was hurrying to catch her bus. NOT She was hurrying not to miss her bus.

D So that

Look at this example.

I'll post the card today so that it gets there on Daniel's birthday. After so that we use a subject and verb, e.g. it gets. We often use will or can for a present purpose and would or could for a past purpose.

I'll give you a map so that you can find/you'll find the way all right. I gave Nick a map so that he could find/would be able to find the way all right.

E To or for?

We can use for with a noun to say why we do something. The whole family have gone out for a bike ride. Why don't you come over for coffee? To talk about the purpose of a thing, we use either a to-infinitive or for + an ing-form. This heater is to keep/for keeping the plants warm in winter. This machine is used to cut/for cutting plastic. But we do not use for + an ing-form to talk about a specific action.

I put the heater on to keep the plants warm, NOT I put the heater on for keeping the plants warm.

Rita: Why not have a change? After all, there are

Look at the words and phrases too, on the other hand, after all and for example. They all make a link with an earlier sentence. When Rita says There's musk, for example, she is giving an example of other things in life, which she has already mentioned.
