Definition of Active/Participatory Citizenship

- Participation in civil society, community and/or political life, characterized by mutual respect and non-violence and in accordance with human rights and democracy.
- All actions must be underpinned by the values of human rights and democracy

- Active Citizenship is a form of literacy: coming to grips with what happens in public life, developing knowledge, understanding, critical thinking and independent judgment of local, national, global levels.

Characteristics of Active Citizenship

- Participation in the community (involvement in a voluntary activity or engaging with local government agencies)
- It implies action and empowerment, i.e. acquiring knowledge, skills and attitudes, being able and willing to use them, make decisions, take action individually and collectively.

Characteristics of Active Citizenship

- People are empowered to play a part in the decisions and processes that affect them, particularly public policy and services
- Knowledge and understanding of the political/social/economic context of their participation so that they can make informed decisions.

(Cont...)

- Able to challenge policies or actions and existing structures on the basis of principles such as equality, inclusiveness, diversity and social justice.

Why active citizenship now?

- ‘..the new challenge of how to prepare young people for democracy in contexts that are quite different from those that have been known in the past.’

MIND OF AN ENTREPRENEUR

All human beings are entrepreneurs.

When we were in the caves, we were all self-employed... finding our food, feeding ourselves. That's where human history began. As civilization came, we suppressed it. We became "labor" because they stamped us, "You are labor." We forgot that we are entrepreneurs
