> 785.6–785.9 Ensembles consisting of only one instrumental group

The inclusion of “only one kind” in the 785.6–785.9 headings limits the subdivisions to individual kind of instruments, not to family of instruments. For example, a string quartet, which usually consists of two violins, a viola, and a cello is classed in 785.7194 string quartets, not 785.72194 violin quartets

When adding from 786–788 to indicate the instrument, add only the notation for the instrument; do not follow the footnote leading to add instructions. After indicating the instrument, add as instructed under 785.2–785.9, where notation 19 is used to indicate size of ensemble. For example, 785.7194 means string quartets, not string instruments of Europe (the meaning that would result from following the footnote instruction). The correct number for string quartets of Europe is 785.7194094

Class comprehensive works in 785

.6 †Keyboard, mechanical, aeolian, electrophone, percussion ensembles

.62–.65 Keyboard ensembles

Add to base number 785.6 the numbers following 786 in 786.2–786.5 for the instrument only, e.g., music for piano ensembles 785.62; then add further as instructed under 785.2–785.9, e.g., music for three pianos 785.62193

Notation 19 from table under 785.2–785.9 for size of ensemble can mean either number of instruments or, when only one instrument is used, number of performers. For example, 785.62192 can mean either music for two pianos or music for piano (four hands)

.66 †Ensembles of mechanical and aeolian instruments

Subdivisions are added for ensembles of mechanical and aeolian instruments together, for ensembles of mechanical instruments alone

.664–.668 Ensembles with only one kind of mechanical instrument

Add to base number 785.66 the numbers following 786.6 in 786.64–786.68 for the instrument only, e.g., music for carillons 785.664

.669 †Aeolian ensembles

See also 786.7 for electronic music for one performer

.673–.676 Ensembles with only one type of electrophone instrument

Add to base number 785.67 the numbers following 786.7 in 786.73–786.76 for the instrument only, e.g., music for synthesizers 785.674; then add further as instructed under 785.2–785.9, e.g., sextets for synthesizers 785.674196

.8 †Woodwind ensembles.83–.88 Ensembles of only one kind of woodwind instrument

Add to base number 785.8 the numbers following 788 in 788.3–788.8 for the instrument only, e.g., music for saxophones 785.87; then add further as instructed under 785.2–785.9, e.g., quartet for saxophones 785.87194

.9 †Brass ensembles.92–.99 Ensembles of only one kind of brass instrument

Add to base number 785.9 the numbers following 788.9 in 788.92–788.99 for the instrument only, e.g., music for trombones 785.93; then add further as instructed under 785.2–785.9, e.g., quartet for trombones 785.93194

786–788 Specific instruments and their music

Class here music for solo instrument, music for solo instrument accompanied by one other instrument when the accompanying instrument clearly has a subsidiary role; acoustic form of instruments, electric form of instruments

Unless the forerunner of a modern instrument has its own notation, class it with the modern instrument. For example, the shawm, a forerunner of the oboe and an instrument without its own number, is classed with the oboe in 788.52; however, the vihuela, the forerunner of the guitar, is classed in 787.86 (its own number), not with the guitar in 787.87

(Option: Class translations into a language requiring local emphasis with the literature of that language)

Class here collections of texts from literatures of two languages; history, description, critical appraisal of literatures of two languages

Unless there is a specific provision for a dialect, literature in a dialect is classed with the literature of the basic language. Under each literature identified by *, add to designated base number notation 1–8 from Table 3A for works by or about individual authors, notation 01–09 or notation 1–8 from Table 3B for works by or about more than one author.
